THE FIRST THAW.
MONTREAL HAS EVEN BEEN HAVING A MELT.

Deep, Soft Snow, Dangerous to Horses—Great Lakes And St.
 Lawrence Co. to do Business at Montreal.

Montreal, Feb. 22.—The first thaw, which has broken the severity of the winter, is making things unpleasant for pedestrians to-day. During the night, considerable rain fell, and the roads and sidewalks are in an exceedingly dangerous condition, and many people have sustained injuries by falls. The deep snow in side streets into which horses now sink to a considerable depth, renders driving dangerous.
 The Great Lakes and St. Lawrence Navigation Company, better known as the Welton Syndicate, announces its intention of doing business at the port of Montreal, the coming season, with the Efton steamer of its fleet.
 Heretofore, the company has done business exclusively between the Great Lakes and Quebec, as many of the steamers, as there is need for, will carry cargoes to this port.

A "SALTED" MINE.

The Claim Made By The English Purchasers.

Denver, Col., Feb. 22.—In the United States district court Judge Rimer has granted the motion of the defendants in the six million dollar suit of the Stratton Independence company, limited, of England, against the estate of the late Winfield Scott Stratton, to strike from the files of the court its replication to the answer of the defendants, and also to grant judgment on the pleadings for the trustees and executors of the estate. The English corporation sought to recover from the estate of the late mining millionaire, charging that, prior to the sale of the Independence mine at Cripple Creek to the English purchasers, the property was "salted." The case will be appealed to the United States court of appeals.

LAMP EXPLODED.

Lively Time in a Church Out West.

Stonewell, Minn., Feb. 22.—During services in the Presbyterian church, last night a lamp suspended over the pulpit and choir platform, exploded, setting fire to the furnishings of the church and the clothing of some of the choir members and considerable damage was done before the flames were put out. Rev. Mr. McLean, the pastor, was rather badly scorched about the face and on his neck. The congregation were intensely excited for a time.

A WHITE COON.

Section in British Columbia Produces White Animals.

Vancouver, Feb. 22.—An Indian brought in from Princess Royal Island, B.C., a white coon, touched with pink on the breast and sides. This is the first white coon heard of here. There is an Albino colony on the snow line on the island. Already from there have come three white bears, two black crows, a white mink, two white kingfishers and white mallard ducks.
 Rothchild's collector bought some of the specimens.

DROWNED NEAR ST. CLAIR.

Prominent Mason, of Courtwright, Goes Under Ice.

St. Clair, Mich., Feb. 22.—Joseph Webb, aged forty-five, a prominent Mason of Courtwright, Ont., was drowned here, on Saturday night.
 While returning to his home, he stepped into the channel made by a car ferry, and sank before his three companions could save him. A strong current caused the body to be carried under the ice.

Terribly Pathetic Death.

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 22.—After suffering awful fits of hydrophobia for a week, Little Nelson Miles, of No. 1121 East Montgomery avenue, died at his home in convulsions. The boy, while playing in the street near his home on January 23rd, was attacked by a strange buldog and severely bitten over the right eye. He was taken to St. Mary's hospital, where, after a week's treatment, he was discharged as cured. The wound had apparently entirely healed.

A week ago pronounced symptoms of hydrophobia appeared. Dr. Smith, of East Montgomery avenue, the family physician, was called in, and, with the aid of consulting physicians, did everything to save the lad, but their efforts were without avail.

Cold Finish of A Spree.

Norfolk, Neb., Feb. 22.—Walter King, a well-known young man of this city, disappeared two months ago. Yesterday his body was found in the re-frigerating room of a creamery near town.

After a drunken spree, it is said, he entered the room and was locked in by a spring lock. He was unable to escape and froze to death. The re-frigerating room of the creamery was not in use during the winter, and he was unable to attract attention. From clattered papers and wood near the door it is believed King attempted to set fire to the building, hoping to burn his way out.

He was last seen December 23rd, going towards the creamery. He was drinking heavily at this time.

A Vessel In Trouble.

 port, L.I. Her masts are working loose and she appears to be breaking up. The crew can be seen in the riggings. The life savers who have failed

HAS STRONG BACKING.

Agreements Endorsed If Legislature Varied Terms.

Toronto Star.
 Ben Folger, president of the Kingston Street railway company, is at the King Edward Hotel.

"Let it be attempted to obtain legislation from the Ontario house interfering with the rights of the parties in the contract regarding the street railway and I believe that the efforts will be futile," he said today. "No government, no legislature assembly in the British dominions, will ever attempt to vary or set aside the solemn agreement made between the parties perfectly aware of all the facts at the time the agreement was made.

"Supposing, for instance, that what I believe to be impossible to happen, and that the Ontario legislature varies the terms of agreement or the act of the legislature under which the Kingston Street railway company is running, what will be the result? It shows the way for every company and every man who is dealing with each other to clamor at the doors of the legislature every time either of the parties is dissatisfied with any of the terms in their original bargain. Why it attacks not only the stability of not only corporate companies, but also the rights that may be conserved to a municipality. The validity, the worth of an agreement between a private company and a municipality political influence in a legislature. The effect of the proposed attack on our agreement, which was endorsed by legislation, if successful, simply renders uncertain all contracts between private and public bodies. The Ontario legislature would not have anything else to do for years, if the proposed action be successful, but very contracts and agreements entered into between companies and municipalities."

INDICTMENTS
IN THE IROQUOIS THEATRE TRAGEDY

Have Been Found Against Five of Those Associated With the Building And Management—Grand Jury's Finding.

Chicago, Feb. 22.—The special grand jury summoned to investigate the Iroquois theatre fire and the charges made against persons directly connected with the tragedy of December 30th, has completed its labor by voting indictments against five men and no bills against four others. The formal report of the jury will not be made public until next Tuesday.

Those who were indicted are: Will J. Davis, part owner of the Iroquois theatre; Thomas Nodman, business manager of the theatre, and James E.
 Cummings, stage carpenter, all of whom are charged with manslaughter, George Williams, city building commissioner, and Edward Laughlin, city building inspector, charged with culpable omission of official duty in office.

"No bills" were voted against Mayor Harrison, Fire Marshal Mushman, Fireman William H. Sellers and William McMullen, operator of the flood light which set fire to the asbestos curtain.
 Although the indictments were voted, they will not be formally drawn and submitted to Judge Chytrus until Tuesday afternoon, when the report of the jury will be formulated.

The Price Of Tarte.

Toronto News.

It seems that in the bye-election contested in Quebec, the name "Protective" was substituted for "Conservative," as the designation of the Oppositionists. This is not to the mind of Mr. Monk. He thinks the party will gain nothing by cutting loose from an historic title and its traditions. But he forgets. There is Mr. Tarte to gain. While the name Conservative, those of its associations and traditions will be blotted out. Mr. Tarte will appear as the leader, organizer and orator of the new party of protectiveists. In Quebec the pictures of Cartier and White and Masson will come down from the walls, in Ontario those of Sir John Macdonald and Cameron and Meredith, in Nova Scotia those of Tupper and Thompson, while that of Borden will have lower, but all the void will be filled by the luminous presence of Mr. Tarte, life-size and rampant. It is, perhaps, a high price to pay for Mr. Tarte, but a way must be found for his reunion with the conservatives, and his elevation to a position of leadership, and there seems to be no other solution of the problem than to declare the conservative party extinct, and to establish Mr. Tarte and his "protective-ists" in its ruins.

Would Boom Kingston.

The Toronto-Kingston electric railway should give this city quite a boom, as the frequent and quick service proposed by the company will bring to the city large numbers of people from the surrounding districts who cannot or do not come now, owing to the lack of local transportation facilities. The coming of these people will materially increase the business of the merchants who will, besides increasing their business, be able to ship goods to their customers much more frequently and cheaply than they can now do. In the summer time large numbers of people will come by the electric cars to Kingston and take the boats for a sail in the bay. The road will also be a boon to the farmers, who can bring in their produce by the electric much cheaper and more expeditiously than they now can. Everyone should unite in giving the road their hearty support, and if they cannot take a block of the stock let them take a few shares, which will show their faith in the enterprise to the outside public.

The Doctors Favored.

Toronto World.

The legislative assessment committee surely did well in letting the doctors off at twenty-five per cent. It would not have been doing anybody a good injustice if they had been excepted for no other being of them do so much for nothing. They respond to calls at all times without question as to fee, and they attend the hospitals without making any charge whatever in the case of public patients. No other profession is so philanthropic, except perhaps the clergy, who get off anyhow, and unlike the doctors, rarely hesitate to take advantage of any exemption, reduction or privilege they think their cloth will bring them.

Sad And Sudden Death.

On Saturday, Mrs. Shaw, of the village of Sultan, had just received a visit from her son, Dr. Shaw, of Lansdowne, who was pleased to find her in good health and spirits. He had driven off to return home when she died without a warning while sitting in her chair.</
