A FRENCH STEAMER.

From St. Pierre Miquelon, For Halifax, Overdue.

Halifax, March 7.—The French steamer Proprietary, which left St. Pierre, Miquelon, for Halifax, five days ago, has not been reported since. She should have made the run in two days and it is thought she has been caught in the ice. The steamer was badly jammed in the ice on her last trip, and went to sea on this occasion with only temporary repairs.

Dr. H. C. Cunningham, Carman, Man., who has been spending a few days with his father here, returned west to-day.

Charleston, S. C., March 7.—In May 1902, a member of a woman was discovered at Haywood, within a few miles of Charleston. The victim was the wife of a section man, a name unknown.

Three negroes were suspected of the crime. They were hunted by a posse of their neighbors banished to trees and their bodies riddled with bullets. The husband of the murdered woman died recently in Colleton county. The physician who attended him says that he died himself murdered his wife.

TORY TACTICS

ABUSE OF WHIG TO BE EXPECTED

But a Petty Thing To Charge Against The Member for Kingston—The Remark Not The Paper's, But That Of A Conservative.

A huge scheme to discredit the Whig and boost another paper which does not thrive on its merits was presented at the political meeting of Friday evening, and was sustained by free distribution of papers on Saturday morning. The only means by which it could claim force or credibility was the largest circulation. A grand stand play was made upon an item appearing in the Whig on February 12th, reflecting upon Mr. Whitney's leadership, and it was well within the range of criticism. It was no worse than utterances of conservative journals and speakers habitual in their denunciation and hatred of liberals, but it was not the clear truth for all that.

It was, in truth, a libel on Mr. Whitney's leadership, and was correctly reproduced, but neither the gossip nor the expression used was neutral to the Whig.

Mr. Downey laid the item to the personal charge of the member for Kingston in the usual wild manner and extravagance of his platform appearances. As a newspaper man he must have known that it was a local item, in the last edition, at the hurried period of the day, and could not receive editorial supervision, and he knew that Mr. Penry was not usually in Kingston on that day, but at the time of the meeting he had no personal knowledge of the party truth. This Kingston gentleman knew also, and share with him the great honor of a trumped up charge against a public man for political and sordid purposes. The member against whom nothing can be brought forward in a manufactured case has, however, some consolation in treatment which even in a contentious profession is looked upon with utter contempt.

There was added, however, the plain charge that the item was an invention of the Whig to discredit the Conservative. The name of Donald McIntyre, one of the speakers of the evening, and it is evident that the Macdonald Club will be slow to repudiate. We may also add that when Mr. Penry returned home and saw the paragraph, he condemned it to his staff, and stopped its appearance in other editions. No one, however in or out of Kingston complained of it to him or to his staff in the office, and it would have ordinarily passed notice, but for the necessities of editors and speakers.

INJUNCTION STANDS.

The Case Will Be Heard On March 28th.

Bellville, Ont., March 7.—The case of McMillan v. O.H.A. has come up this morning before Justice Patrick, junior county court judge. E. Gus Porter, M.P., appeared on behalf of the Bellville Club and W. B. Northup, M.P., on behalf of the O.H.A. Mr. Porter asked for an enlargement of the case, on the ground that some members of the executive had not been properly notified. Mr. Northup opposed the motion on the ground that the hockey season was too nearly over. The judge, after hearing that his duties compelled him to be away, adjourned the case till March 28th, the injunction being continued in the meantime.

WOMAN'S SUICIDE.

Jumped Overboard From Quebec Ferry Boat.

Quebec, March 7.—There was a suicide about 8:30 o'clock this morning, in the S.S. Pilot, a ferry boat, the woman was a passenger on the river and the captain of the vessel found that of three lady passengers who had been on board when he left, Lewis, there were only two left. Purser remembers to have noticed a woman crying on board, but nobody had seen her jumping overboard. Searches have been ordered by the authorities.

GILLAM IN CUSTODY.

Detroit Detectives Give Him To Windsor Authorities.

Windsor, Ont., March 7.—Detroit, on Saturday night, took into custody John Gillam, and turned him over to the Windsor authorities, who say he is wanted at Tilsonburg, for securing $800 from Agnes Arnott of that place, by misrepresentation. Gillam claims that he gave Mrs. Arnott a note for the money and that the paper has not yet fallen due. He says he intends to repay the money.

LARGE QUANTITIES.

Manitoba Wheat Not Being Shipped To Asia.

Winnipeg, March 7.—The report that large quantities of Manitoba flour have been shipped west to Asia, is groundless. Both big milling companies report increasing trade with the Orient, but shipments have not been extraordinarily heavy during the past two months. There is a slight increase demand from Japan since the war opened, but only for low grade flour.

Head Of Mexican Bandits.

Lancaster, Tex., March 7.—The outlaw who kidnapped Dan Cushing, the prominent railroad man, on January 22nd, to hold him for a ransom, releasing him when closely pursued by state rangers, is believed to have kidnapped Aaron Billings, a cattle man of this place. Billings mysteriously disappeared last night. The outlaws are known to have been in this neighborhood yesterday.

Young Cushing says that the bandits were led by an American, who was addressed by the other members of the gang as "Cap Bob."

Two Years And $10,000 Fine.

Washington, March 7.—Justice Prichard sentenced Samuel A. Gross, one of the recently convicted defendants in the official trial to two years in the Marionville penitentiary, and to pay a fine of $10,000 pending an appeal. At St. Thomas, Gross furnished bond for $20,000 pending the trial.
