Mr. Cross, the Toronto accountant (whose figures were quoted by Whig in the article "Bollars pointed out that the plants began to pay from 1897, that steadily and graduelly the revenues increased, and that there was a surplus in 1900 over $7,900 after all expenses been paid. Mr. McIntyre read from the evidence the statement of Mr. Folger before the arbitrators. The street tinue the rental it had been payingequivalent to five per cent. on the stock of the united gas and electric companies, aggregating over $212,000, but it was willing to renew the lease for a period of ten years, keep, the plants in repair, and pay a rental of

The argument of Mr. McIntyre ndeed the argument of most of speakers of the evening, including them as municipal enterprises.

WHO PAYS THE SHOT. The point is not a hard one derstand, and yet some people may ssume any financial risk in purchasing the electric light and gas plants. The city issues the debentures because it guarantees them, though it does not by this act add to its burdens and responsibilities.

The property which will pass from the company to the city is a paving one. The Whig has shown that in the four years which were covered by the special accountant at the time of the arbitration there was clear gain, and over and above all expenses, and exclusive of had debts, 822,830.64. The Whig has shown, also, that taking the last of the four years as a guide the revenue from gas and electricity was $58,070.06, the working expenses $26,461.42, and the business charges, $12,349.60. All these added make a total of $38,811.11, and these balance of $19,258.95.

There has been a great increase in the consumption of gas and electricity ince then, and a consequent increase in the annual revenue. Under municipal management there would have to be a yearly charge on account of the chase money and interest. This figured at $10,520, and amount inserted in by-law. Allowing for it there must be a surplus of $8,000 or $10,000 for ex-

It was a strictly confidential occasion, therefore, very full accounts appear in the evening papers. These journals with the manner in which Toronto's proposal for absolute abolition of the bars, with tolerance of sale in shops, and that the number of members who voted determinedly against it a score at least, and that other proposals were made for earnest consideration, and decision in caucus on some other fine day, such as compulsory vote on municipal election day, (when women have the franchise) ance and penalties as well as of course, all these will not be adopted indeed, it may be that the putting greater "ginger" into the present law will be the total result. The local option vote in January would mean this: Every village, township, town and city would vote for license or nlicense for hotels or taverns, and the majority would rule till the legislature by special acts relieved each municipality tired of the new life separately, Towns could have taverns and shops, or one set only, or none. But the $2,000,000 was the last straw, was unattrinable, and was badly needed, to pay off floating debts and leave $1,000,000 for working capital. In giving it, therefore, the government is doing good to all Canada, in restoring a great, almost unparelled, industry, as well as national credit and national regard for capital, to its own special land, New Ontario, by reviving its hopes and its best feeder: to the Canadian creditors by se euring prompt payment of hundreds of thousands and avoiding widely extended li iration.
