Miss Rose Hennessy, well known as a poetess and elocutionist, of Lexington, Ky., tells how she was cured of uterine inflammation and ovaritis by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—For years I enjoyed the best of health and thought that I would always do so. I attended parties and received kindly and would be suddenly chilled, but I did not think of the results. I caught a bad cold eighteen months ago while menstruating, and this caused inflammation of the womb and congested ovaries. I suffered excruciating pains and kept getting worse. My attention was called to your Vegetable Compound and the wonderful cures it had performed, and I made up my mind to try it for two months and see what would do for me. Within one month I felt much better, and at the close of the second I was entirely well.

"I have advised a number of my lady friends to use it, and all express themselves as well satisfied with the results as I was."—Miss Rose NORA HENNESSY, 410 S. Broadway, Lexington, Ky.—$5000 worth of original of whom letters are sent on request.

THE INCONSTANT DEEP.

Richly Described By An English Banker. However much one may love the glorious, ever-changing ocean, he may revel in the delights of a sail on her glittering, bosom surface, yet when she is in angry mood, when a wild hurricane is lashing her into a paroxysm of ungodly fury, and she threatens with destruction those who have the temerity to brave her wrath, then that sense of fearful enjoyment gives place for the time to a distinct preference for terra firma, and that innate love for her temporarily fades away into the oblivion of forgetfulness.

Some time ago the writer had an experience of this kind which he hopes never to repeat. It was in the Mediterranean off the coast of Crete. The copper-colored sun sinks down in the midst of a lurid conflagration of angry fires into a frowning bank of threatening cloud of a dark, sullen, sultry hue. Whirls of driven spouts descend rapidly, gathering volume as they course low down near the sea. The moderate breeze is giving place, though at first fitfully, to gusts and blasts ever more and more violent, and the light of day is quickly merged into the murky blackness of a wild turbulent night. And now the vials of the wrath of nature are poured out, the hurricane has struck the good ship full, and groaning and creaking she is climbing the mighty foam of crested waves which tower high above her as she labors in the frothy trough, or with bows pointed towards the depths, she plunges down, down the mountainous wall of waters, as though nothing could prevent her from continuing her downward course right on to the profound depth of the watery abyss.

And now with a great crash one of the boats is blown away, soon followed by a second. Hundreds of tons of water are dashing higher and thicker upon the deck; and the roaring of the hurricane, the breakage of crockery, the shrieks of some terrified ladies in an adjoining cabin, who apparently thought that their doom was sealed, together with the "racing" of the screws, and the hoarse stridor of the panting engines, produce a discordant uproar altogether indescribable.

But at length the long terrible night has passed, the gale has moderated, and a glorious morning has dawned, the sun rising above the horizon in a cloudless sky, transforming the spray from the still high rolling billows into sparkling showers of flashing, love-lighted sardonyx, gemming the heavy surfaces in a flood of rose-pink and carmine.

Aye, it is in times like those, when the spear of the angel of death may strike at any moment, and set free the spirit from its mortal bonds, that those who know that their names are inscribed on high as inheritors of the kingdom, have no fear. For, having accepted the Saviour of the world as their Redeemer, they know that He has borne the punishment for their sins, and that a Holy God will not punish twice for the same sins.

MEETINGS HELD IN THE VARIOUS CHURCHES.

Satisfactory Reports Brought In By Wardens—Canon Starr Gets Increase—Rev. C. G. Rollitt Wanted at St. Paul's.

The annual meeting of the vestry of St. George's cathedral was held in St. George's hall last evening at eight o'clock. The dean in the chair, R. E. Burns acted as vestry clerk, there were also present, Messrs. R. Waldron, F. Spangenberg (church wardens) Dr. Walkem, K.C., C. F. Gildersleeve, R. J. Carson, M. S. Sutherland, W. B. Dalton, Col. McGill, H. Tandy, J. B. White, J. E. Twigg, D. Hall, H. F. Price, N. Fraser, A. A. Sawyer, Alderman Carson, Alderman Kent, Canon Starr, H. Jennings, W. J. Fair and others.

After the reading and confirming of the minutes of the meeting of August, 1903, the churchwardens presented their report, which showed receipts for the year, $5,847.54. Expenditure, $5,771.97, leaving a balance of $75.57. In addition to these amounts which had passed through the churchwardens' books, $3,000 had been paid on the floating debt, and over $1,000 for missions. An increase of $200 was voted to Canon Starr's stipend.

Mr. Gildersleeve, Mr. Carson, Dr. Walkem, and the churchwardens, all spoke in warmest terms of pleasure of the congregation at Canon Starr's decision to remain at the cathedral, in spite of many tempting offers from various places, and of his entrenchment in the affections of the people among whom he has worked for six years.

F. W. Spangenberg and R. Waldron were re-appointed churchwardens, and W. B. Dalton and N. Fraser, auditors. The following were elected sidesmen: M. S. Sutherland, J. E. Twigg, N. Fraser, Capt. Cochrane, J. Taylor, D. Hall, H. F. Price, Capt. White, H. Swaine, A. C. Dunbar, and E. Dobbs. Members of the finance committee, the dean, Canon Starr, the churchwardens, C. F. Gildersleeve, M. S. Sutherland, W. B. Dalton, Col. McGill, Col. H. R. Smith, H. Tandy, R. C. Carter, R. Easton Burns and J. Corbett.

St. Paul's Church. The annual vestry meeting in connection with St. Paul's church was held at eight o'clock on Monday night, with an exceptionally good attendance, including several ladies.

The audited statement of the wardens, witnessing to a notable increase in the extraordinary revenue and special collections as compared with the records for at least fifteen years past, was duly received and adopted. The condition indicated was due at once to the practical response of the congregation to an urgent appeal toward religious life, and to the essential repairs to the church structure, to the appreciable assistance afforded by the ladies and individual subscribers to particular objects, and to the general advance perceptible in the conduct of the mission fund.

St. Luke's Church. The church was well filled last night with the members of the congregation, a large number of young men being present, as well as the older heads.

St. James'. The usual Easter Monday vestry meeting was not held at St. James' last night.

Plenty Of Room Here. London, April 5.—G. E. Drummond was asked his opinion of the intention of the Toronto Trades and Labor Council to send delegates to England to oppose the emigration of skilled labor to Canada, replied that it was a crime against Canada's progress to say that hundreds of workmen trusting to the promise of Canadian manufacturers, arrived in a destitute condition. Both skilled and unskilled labor was wanted in almost every line of industry. For emigrants willing for work there was a much brighter future than in the Motherland.

Gives Himself Up. New York, April 5.—A man who gave the name of Walter W. Wilson walked into police headquarters and announced that on August 1st, 1903, he and a partner, who were drivers for the United States Express company in Pittsburgh, stole a package containing $1,180 from that company. The partner, he said, is serving a year's sentence.

Transportation Question. H. W. Richardson's Letter to Winnipeg Telegram. The following letter from H. W. Richardson, of Kingston, appears in the Winnipeg Telegram:

At the present time you are no doubt aware that there is considerable agitation regarding transportation and that the government has appointed a commission to look into it to find the best and cheapest route for grain in the west to come to the ocean.

When the transportation committee was here some time ago the writer had the privilege of laying these figures before them. They seemed to be much impressed with the large saving that could be effected by deepening the canal and are now looking into this matter thoroughly.

Now I will tabulate the rates, showing the saving between shipping via the port of Montreal, or via the Welland canal, and deep-sea to twenty-one feet, to the port of Montreal, taking a steamer of one quarter million bushel capacity, which is the coming steamer.

As my figures are altogether comparative, I do not matter what we lease the Buffalo rate at, but I will take 12c. to Buffalo from Port Arthur.

READY SHIRT WRITER.

New Dean Swift Helped the Business of His Barber.

One of the institutions of all civilized countries is the barber. Formerly, when wigs were worn and beards were not, the barber had his hands full. Dean Swift was every day shaved by a barber with whom he was on excellent terms.

"If it please you," said the barber, "some of our customers have heard much about your reverence's poetry; so that if you would but condescend to give me a smart little touch in that way to clap under my sign, it might be the making of me and mine forever."

"But what do you intend for your sign?" inquired the cleric. "The 'Jolly Barber,' if it please your reverence, 'with a razor in one hand and a full pot in the other.'"

Leadership and Nerve Fewer. The tragedy is great. Hysteria, formerly the curse of the female sex, has been the cause of the downfall of two distinguished men.

At the present time you are no doubt aware that there is considerable agitation regarding transportation and that the government has appointed a commission to look into it to find the best and cheapest route for grain in the west to come to the ocean.

Last season a deputation of the Canadian Marine requested the government to take off the tolls of the Welland canal, which request was complied with, and in consequence a much larger proportion of western grain went to Montreal in the Great Lakes than usual, and less quantity to Buffalo.

It is now proposed to deepen the Welland canal, to twenty-one feet draught, which will allow the largest steamer to come through to the St. Lawrence and discharge at Kingston. If this was done a saving of not less than two and one-half cents per bushel would be effected.

When the transportation committee was here some time ago the writer had the privilege of laying these figures before them. They seemed to be much impressed with the large saving that could be effected by deepening the canal and are now looking into this matter thoroughly.

Now I will tabulate the rates, showing the saving between shipping via the port of Montreal, or via the Welland canal, and deep-sea to twenty-one feet, to the port of Montreal, taking a steamer of one quarter million bushel capacity, which is the coming steamer.
