Japanese Traitor Reveals Plan of Campaign.

HONOR SULLIED

AND JAPS TRIED TO HIDE THE FACT.

News of Occupation of Wiju Confirmed—Cossacks Contemplating a Movement—20,000 Japanese On the North Bank of the Yalu.

London, April 6.—Beyond the confirmation of the report of the Japanese occupation of Wiju, there is hardly an item of authentic war news of consequence. The Tokio correspondent of the Chronicle sends a report that 20,000 Japanese have reached Chang Seung, on the left bank of the Yalu River, having met with scarcely any opposition from the Cossacks. Nothing can be said as to whether the Russian withdrawal from Korea is absolute or suggesting an explanation of their apparent abandonment of the Yalu River.

According to a Daily News despatch from St. Petersburg, General Mischchenko has telegraphed to General Kourpatkin that further information of himself and his Cossack brigade must not be expected at present. It is understood that he is contemplating a surprise march in a new direction.

The Daily Telegraph prints a Seoul despatch, saying that, notwithstanding the complete withdrawal of the Cossacks from north western Korea, the Manchurian bank of the Yalu River is fortified and is still occupied by the Russians.

The Chronicle's Shanghai correspondent quotes a Japanese correspondent to the effect that the whole Japanese plan of campaign has been changed, because it was revealed to the Russians by a Japanese officer who is now awaiting trial. The officer's treachery was discovered through the Japanese finding the place mined where they intended to make their first landing. This discovery caused them to change their plan, and the utmost efforts were made to hide the fact that the national honor had been tarnished. The Russians are credited with a readiness to pay large sums of money for information concerning the movements of the Japanese. It is stated that they paid $200,000 for a single Japanese map.

According to a Kobe despatch to the Daily Mail, the correspondents allotted to the first Japanese column left Kobe Monday, which was earlier than the time announced for their departure. The reports of the difficulties of the army's advance are abundantly confirmed. Owing to the thaw the mud is sometimes knee deep. Numbers of the men are suffering from frost-bitten feet.

GOOD ROADS.

A Big Convention at New Orleans On Wednesday.

W. H. MOORE.

New Orleans, La., April 6.—The most notable convention ever held in the south began a two-day session in Tulane Hall in this city to-day with a large number of good roads advocates and special delegations from all parts of Texas, Tennessee, Mississippi, Alabama and Louisiana. The convention is being held under the joint direction of the National Good Roads Association, and the New Orleans Progressive Union, and was called to order by W. H. Moore, president of the national organization. Cordial addresses of welcome were delivered by Governor Heard and Mayor Capdeville, who praised the object and work of the good roads movement.

During the two days' session the convention will be addressed by Marvin Dodge, director of the office of public road inquiry, at Washington. Other matters to receive attention and action are the necessity of state highway commissions to create system and economy in road affairs, the adoption of the "state aid" law, and the enforcement of vagrancy laws, whereby able-bodied convicts, tramps and vagrants shall be used in rearing material and in the construction of roads.

MUST BE COAXED.

Explorer Tyrrell Says Canada Must Offer Better Terms.

Toronto, April 5.—A large attendance at the Canadian Club filled McConek's banquet hall to hear J. W. Tyrrell speak on Labrador, Newfoundland and other sections of the northern regions in 1855, and his remarks were based on personal observations gleaned during this and subsequent journeys. The resources of the island, he said, were very great. He had been rather amused at the time he was referred to as the "man with regard to admitting Newfoundland to confederation, as though a favor were to be conferred upon the colony. "So far as he knew, a very different view would have been taken by the dominion. The colonists felt that that they were prospering in a degree quite as much as Canada, and he found the prevailing feeling to be that they were contented to remain as they are, unless Canada offered them much more favorable terms than she has done.

Confederation would have to come about through the efforts of Canadian rather than through the Newfoundlander. They could not be expected to be induced by an article in yesterday's World as fairly representing the case.

Newfoundland not only possesses its own territory, but a strip of coast line in Labrador nearly 1,000 miles in length, which cuts Canada off from the Atlantic just as the panhandle of Alaska cuts off the Pacific. One of the greatest benefits Canada would receive by confederation would be the ownership of this.

The district of Ungava, a vast and valuable territory, he said, was believed, would be another Yukon in regard to mining wealth. The scenery on the coast was superb, mountains rising 6,000 feet from the sea.

He felt very keenly on the subject of Hudson Bay navigation, and was impressed with the great value of the straits as a commercial highway. The natural outlet through the Hudson Bay and Straits. The distance from Port Churchill, the most southerly natural harbor, to Liverpool, was little more than from Montreal, and the saving in rail distance would be 500 miles from Regina.

Running The Blockade.

London, April 6.—A despatch to the Chronicle from Tokio says that the Japanese merchantmen that were sunk at Port Arthur are causing great trouble, and that the Russians are trying to blow them up with dynamite.

A despatch to the Daily Mail from Tokio says there has been a brick blockade running by junk since the opening of war, and that as a result large quantities of coal and provisions, mostly obtained at Kiao Chau, have been smuggled into Port Arthur.

A correspondent of the Times, calling yesterday afternoon, says that he has been cruising for fifty hours in the vicinity of Port Arthur, and sees no sign of the navy of either belligerent, not even scout boats, but that he has seen large flotillas of junk steering northwest, presumably going to Liao Tsin to land provisions for Port Arthur.

The blessing of the corner stone of the new University of Ottawa, will be performed on May 1st, by Archbishop Duhamel. Representatives of the Oblat Order from Canada and the United States will attend.

TEACHING TO TALK.

Lost Faculty of Speech By Blow On His Head.

New York, April 6.—Efforts are being made in a Newark, N.J., hospital to teach a man of thirty years to talk. The subject lost his faculty of speech through a blow on the head delivered by thugs. Words of one syllable are spoken to him, and he is made to repeat them until they come tripping off his tongue. He is being gradually led from speaking single words to putting them together into sentences, and it is expected that in a few months he will be able to talk as well as would be expected of a normal child of three or four years old. The man was assaulted two months ago. At the hospital a fracture of the skull made necessary the removal of two square inches of bone which pressed on the brain. The operation was entirely successful, but although the man evidently could think, he could not frame vocal expressions or write. After all efforts of the doctors had proved fruitless the nurses took up the method described and report rapid progress.

Improved Ross Rifle.

London, April 6.—The secretary of the National Rifle Association, referring to the improvement mentioned in the C.P.R. article, whereby the magazine can be handled with greater ease and an alteration in the bore render the bullet less susceptible to atmospheric influence, expressed the hope that the Ross authorities would see that the Canadian rifle, which is highly appreciated, was provided with a weapon possessing these improvements.

The vessels will be seventeen-knot armored cruisers with four guns each of latest pattern.

The occasion was unique, the ceremony taking place at the residence of Senator and Mrs. Beique, Sherbrooke street. The Telegraphers' Strike.

Toronto, April 6.—About forty operators in the local office of the Great Northwestern Telegraph company, quit work at one o'clock yesterday, because five of their fellow employees had been discharged for reasons which the company deems sufficient. Accept The Offer.

Ottawa, April 6.—The Bell Telephone company sent another proposal to the city council, accepting the city's offer, involving $20 phones conditionally. That is, the company will give $20 phones providing four subscribers take the one line, otherwise the original offer of $25 to be enforced.
