THE SOCIALISTS AT WORK, In Chicago the socialists are de ng the municipalization of all the public utilities, light, heat, power, etc., and they have petitioned the city council to give the subject its immediate consideration. Unfortunately a bad beginning has been made, and thousands of names upon the petitions are alleged to bave been fraudulently used. In other words many of the individuals named cannot be identified, and many repudiate the signatures which have been attached to the petition in their behalf.

Unfortunately, also, the merits of a good cause are damaged by unwise and ill-tempered discussion. The socialists of Chicago are a bad lot, and there is no public confidence in anything they advocate. Their record in the past has not been a good one,

Besides there are two sides to every question. The municipalities ought to be able to manage the public utilities and make money out of them, and in England there are places where the best public service is being rendered at the lowest possible cost. And du allowance has been made for deterioration and renewal. There are places, however, where -the public service is carried on at a loss, and the Chicago papers are giving their experience, and the experience of England generally in regard to municipal debt.

FUNCTIONS OF A TEACHER. It might appear as if Trustee Elliott magnified the duties, the responibilities, the position of a teacher, and so made his service difficult of attainment. FOUND IN POORHOUSE.

Young Man Locates Parent After 28 Years.

Port Huron, Mich., April 6 .- After a tireless search that bridged a separation of twenty-eight years, Arthur A. Berry, of Toronto, Ont., found his aged mother within the sheltering. walls of St. Clair County poorhouse on Saturday afternoon. ever contained the threads of a more interesting romance than the story told by Mr. Berry on Saturday, when with his aged mother under his sheltering arm, he returned to Toronto, where she will live the balance of her days in comfort, Mr. Berry is thirty years of age. When he was two years old his father died, and he was placed in an orphanage at Toronto. The fa mily was broken up and drifted apart Mother and children went separate ways. Young Berry worked out on, a farm a number of years, and when the gold craze in the Klondyke became known he went there, and became fairly prosperous. His mother's image was always before him, and the tindess search for her began when he was fifteen years of age. From the Klondike to Sco.land, from the Pacific to the Atlantic, through Canada and the United States, he travelled, still searching for some clue to her whereabouts. A few days ago he received word that a woman by the name of Berry was at the county house. On Saturday he came to Port Huron and looked over the poorhouse records. At the county house, in the aged womar s ward, he found his mother. They tilked over their separation, and clue after clue was unravelled, leaving no doubt as to her identity. The meeting was pathetic in the extreme, Bidding farewell to her more unfortunate companions, Mrs. Berry, with her son. came to Port Huron, where she was fitted out with new clothes; and in the afternoon left for Toronto, where she will live.
