ANTIDOTE TO CARBOLIC.

Turpentine is Said to Be The Remedy.

London, April 26.—The recent discovery by Mr. Allen, a Dublin veterinary surgeon, that ordinary turpentine is an antidote to carbolic acid has aroused great interest.

Recently a well-known chemical expert in Dublin tested the efficacy of the antidote on a dog. A dose of carbolic acid was first administered, and when all the ordinary symptoms of carbolic poisoning had been developed, oil of turpentine was applied and the dog recovered within a short time.

A curious story about the discovery is that it was due more or less to an accident. Mr. Allen had some horses in his establishment which were suffering from carbolic poisoning, and he asked for oil to be applied as an antidote.

It was only when the effects were found to be so unexpectedly successful that it was discovered that it was turpentine that had been administered.

A few days after a blacksmith who was unconscious from the effects of carbolic poisoning, was treated similarly, with satisfactory results.

The New Dr. Jameson.

London, April 25.—The personality of Dr. Jameson is analyzed in the current issue of the Review of Reviews by W. P. Stead, who has just had a long chat with the Cape's prime minister at Grootte Schuur. Mr. Stead's interview is very fair, even though the whole is a grudging one throughout.

He bears tribute to Dr. Jameson's inexhaustible charm of manner, his kindness of heart and his indomitable, persistent courage, and the plausibility of his professions.

Dr. Jameson has proved to be a political leader of altogether unexpected ability, and an excellent extempore speaker.

Of course, Mr. Stead does not see politically eye to eye with Dr. Jameson, "about whom, however," he admits, "there must be some sterling metal."

HARD BATTLE.

FIERCE STRUGGLE ON ROOF OF HOSPITAL.

Fireman And Man Insane From Pain Grapple In Desperate Struggle On a Twelve-Inch Ledge.

New York, April 26.—Capt. Clark of the New York fire department and two firemen engaged in a desperate struggle with a maniac, on Sunday, on a twelve-inch ledge which forms the base of the mansard roof of the Manhattan Eye and Ear hospital, in this city. The ledge is eighty feet above the ground and the man they risked their lives to subdue and rescue from his perilous position was powerful and fought valiantly, but he was finally forced through a window into the hospital, where several policemen took up the struggle and bound him.

The man whom the firemen were called upon to rescue was Robert Hyndham, who had been admitted to the hospital a week ago to be prepared for an operation for a swelling in the ear. He showed no sign of mental disturbance until Saturday night. His condition then grew rapidly worse, and not long after midnight he escaped from his room to the narrow ledge, carrying with him a heavy pitcher, with which he threatened the nurses and policemen who appeared at the window to induce him to return. As it was impossible to get the desperate man inside the hospital, the department was at last appealed to. A seventy-six-foot extension ladder was raised and Hyndham's attention was not attracted by it. Capt. Clark refused to assign any of his men to so dangerous and difficult a task and went up himself, followed by Fireman Scanlon and Henry W. Kinley. Hyndham had just thrown the pitcher through the window where the policemen were holding his attention, when Clark crept up behind, seized the man by the throat and choked him, while his companions grasped his legs. Hyndham was slightly cut by broken glass when his captors finally dragged him to the window and thrust him through. He was taken in a straight jacket to Bellevue hospital and the operation on his ear will be performed as soon as possible in the hope that it may cause him to recover his reason.

CHARGE OF GRAFT.

Members Of Police Force Held Up For Money.

New York, April 25.—A remarkable charge of covering a graft by a prominent republican district leader, the purpose of which, it is alleged, was to procure money from applicants for positions on the police force, was made in the West Side court by William Duke. At the same time he stated that the district attorney is in full possession of the facts in the case.

Duke's appearance in court and his story of alleged juggling in police appointments was brought about by a summons issued at a preliminary hearing by James E. Fitzpatrick, who claims that he paid $600 last August to get a position as patrolman. The expected appointment was not made, he said, and all attempts to get his money back failed. When the case came up in court to-day Duke started the magistrate with his story. He said that more than $200,000 was involved in the scheme, and that he had personal knowledge of an instance where a roundman paid $5,000 to secure a sergeant's rank. He followed his story with the statement that all the facts were in the possession of the district attorney. Magistrate O'Brien had a long conversation over the telephone with the district attorney's office. He then announced that at the request of Assistant District Attorney Kressel the case would be adjourned. Mr. Kressel, he said, would then appear in court to assist in the examination.

Caused A Sensation.

Montreal, April 25.—Mayor Rosevear, of St. Lambert, created a sensation in the St. Lambert Methodist church last night. No Dardanelles For Russia.

It is again reported that Russia desires the Porte's authorization for the warships to pass through the Dardanelles. The Russian ambassador at Constantinople has, however, not deemed it advisable to press the point, as he regards it as useless to make the request. There will be no Dardanelles for Russia, because Canada wants all the Dardanelles cigarettes that are manufactured. Dardanelles are fine Turkish cigarettes, and can be had at all dealers, with cork, silver or plain tips.

COL. SMITH ABSENT.

And The Yellow Mace Was Forgotten.

The Toronto Telegram publishes this from Ottawa: "Lieut. Col. Henry Smith, sergeant-at-arms, was not there. The business of Col. Smith's official life is to be there, not to stay or even main unruly members, and obtrusive strangers with his trusty blade, but to move the mace, carry it in before the speaker, and to lift it from the table and back again to the same. The shiny emblem leaves the table when the house goes into committee of the whole. When the house is no more in committee, the mace returns to the green plush pillow at the end of the long green table. On April 21st the house conceived the idea of going into committee on the G.T.R. resolutions, in accordance with the wish conveyed in the division sheets of Q. A. M. Nobody saw that Col. Henry Smith was missing. The house went into committee, or thought it did. It began to deliberate, certainly it began to talk. Minutes went by. Then a man of unshuffled attention advanced towards the centre of the chamber and saw the trouble. He leaned over, being in a position of elevation, and communicated the primary facts of his discovery to Haughton Lennox, member for South Simcoe, who told a page, who told a man in attendance, who became suddenly galvanized and removed the mace. When it was all over and the constitution had recovered somewhat from the blow, there entered Lieut. Col. Henry Smith, sergeant-at-arms."

Doan's Kidney Pills FINALLY MADE A COMPLETE CURE.

Mr. Jacob Jamieson, Jamieson Bros., the well-known Contractors and Builders, Welland, Ont., tells of how he was cured: "For fourteen years I was afflicted with kidney trouble which increased in severity the last five years. My most serious attack was four years ago, when I was completely incapacitated. I had terrible pains across my back, blood specks before my eyes and was in almost constant torment. I could not sit or stand with ease and was a wreck in health, having no appetite and lost greatly in flesh. I had taken medicine from five different doctors and also numerous other preparations to no purpose. I finally began to take Doan's Kidney Pills and before I had taken five boxes the trouble left me and I now feel better than I have for twenty years. Those who know me know how I was afflicted and say it is almost impossible to believe that I have been cured, yet they know it is so. I have passed the meridian of life but I feel that I have taken on the rosy hue of boyhood."
