Used successfully in the treatment of sub-acute and chronic cases of Rheumatism, Rheumatic Gout, Urie Acid Diathesis, Renal Calculi composed of Uric Acid, Irritable Bladder from excess of acid in the urine, etc.

Tennant and Pearson, 1795, discovered that gouty concretions were principally composed of uric acid. Garrod supplemented this by the fact that an excess of uric acid existed in the blood of gouty patients and was a predisposing cause of gout. That rheumatism is due to the presence of an abnormal amount of lactic acid in the system, while gout is due to that of nrie acid, is universally agreed. We, therefore, are confronted in gout, rheumatism, and rheumatic gout with the fact that these conditions are directly due to abnormal acidity of the blood-in one, lactic acid; the other, uric acid. Hence, we must administer a remedy for the elimination of these acids to produce a normal alkalinity of the blood. Lithia is one of the foremost eliminants to-day, and is largely used for its alkalizing properties. As a solvent of uric acid it may be confidently

When the kidneys, which have been very aptly termed "the filter of the human economy," fail to eliminate properly, are sluggish in their action, with the result that the entire system becomes clogged up with effete matter, lithia is indicated. Therapeutists tell us that many of the organic diseases involving heart, lungs, liver, etc., are directly traceable to renal inertia, and the consequent retention of deleterious and harmful matter which the kidneys should eliminate. Lithia stimulates renal activity, and assists the impaired kidneys to perform their normal functions. Charcot was once asked what he considered the most important function of the intricate human mechanism, and he replied, "Elimination."

The best results in above diseases are obtained by taking one to three glasses of Kronthal daily, which is also unequalled for mixing with wines and spirits.

CELL FOR BIGAMIST. Man Who Posed As Preacher Pleads Guilty.

Sioux Falls, S.D., May 20 .- "Rev." Charles A. Lyons pleaded guilty to the charge of bigamy and was sentenced to four years in the pensentiary. Lyons first appeared in Sioux City a year ago, and professed to be a minister of the gospel, and, as he bore credentials which appeared genuine, he was taken into the confidence of many of the church people. Last summer he was married to Miss Emma Purvis. After a brief married life Lyons disappeared. His wife employed detectives, and Lyons was caught in St. Paul and returned here, where it was ascertained he had been married four or five times before coming to Sioux Falls.
