ON KUROKI!

His Forward Movement Has Begun.

IS THREATENING

THE WHOLE OF THE RUSSIAN FRONT.

A Gloomy Message From Alexieff Caused Depression In St. Petersburg—Port Arthur Can Hold Out For Several Months At Least.

Special to the Whig.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Standard says that Great Britain has protested against the Russian declaration that food-stuffs, including rice, are contraband of war.

The Central News has a despatch from Liao Yang, of yesterday's date, stating that Russian scouts were attacked by a Japanese infantry division with two batteries and five squadrons of cavalry near Suyan.

Several sotnias of Cossacks (a sotnia consists of 100 men) occupied a strong position in a mountain pass and held the Japanese for two hours. The fighting was severe and the Japanese lost heavily, but they finally carried the Russian position. The Russians lost one killed and twenty-two wounded.

The Japanese still prevent any news of what is proceeding at Port Arthur from reaching the outer world, but telegrams from both sides point to the fact that the forward movement of Gen. Kuroki's army has commenced in substantial force. Gen. Kuroki practically threatens the whole Russian front from Mukden to Kaiping.

This is sufficient, apart from the question of military science, to make a move for the relief of Port Arthur by Gen. Kouropatkin impracticable.

Gen. Kuroki reports that a detachment was despatched towards Tung Yuan, and captured sixty or seventy of the enemy's infantry at Linchaitan on Monday. On Tuesday they encountered six companies of Russian infantry and 300 cavalry at Chang Kashi. After two hours' fighting the Japanese drove the Russians towards Tung Yuan. The Russian casualties were sixty or seventy. The Japanese lost four killed and sixteen wounded.

Gen. Kuroki also reports that a detachment of Japanese troops occupied Saimchih on June 7th. Their casualties were three killed and twenty-four men wounded, while the enemy left on the battlefield twenty-three killed besides two officers and five men, who were made prisoners. Gen. Kuroki's army co-operating with the Russian army towards Tung Yuan, occupied Suiyuan on June 4th, driving the enemy towards Touping and Kaiping. The enemy consisted of four thousand cavalry and six guns. Our casualties were three men killed, one lieutenant, one sub-lieutenant and twenty-eight men slightly wounded.

The Daily Mail on the authority of a Russian correspondent, says that on the night of June 7th two infernal machines were found concealed in tobacco boxes in the car near Tsarskoe Selo, where the czar now is. The mechanism of both was working.

Can Hold Out. Paris, June 11.—A despatch to the Echo de Paris, from St. Petersburg, says that the pessimism in certain circles, yesterday, was due to a telegram from Gen. Alexieff, drawing a gloomy picture of Port Arthur, and again urging the czar to order Gen. Kouropatkin to march to the rescue of the fortress. Gen. Kouropatkin refused to do this, intimating that Port Arthur could hold out for two months at least. He said he was constantly receiving troops and would be able to act energetically by June 15th.

It is rumored that Admiral Kryldoff is endeavoring to distract the attention of the Japanese fleet before Port Arthur, having sailed from Vladivostok, hoping thereby to enable the Russian warships at Port Arthur to make a sortie and join his squadron.

TALKED FOR HIMSELF.

The Criticism Of Lord DUNDONALD.

Montreal, June 10.—The Gazette refers thus editorially to the Dundonald-Fisher incident:

"Garbled reports of Lord Dundonald's remarks, emanating from Ottawa, and evidently founded upon hearsay, have found their way into the press, and seeing that they do a certain injustice to the commander-in-chief, it will be well to give the speech exactly as delivered. Lord Dundonald said:

"When a nation is at war, and when national danger stares that nation in the face, it entrusts the promotion and the selection for the advancement to the general whom it trusts to lead it. Political intrigues, intrigue for personal advancement other than that deserved by military efficiency, is dormant in times of national terror. (Hear, hear.) But when peace comes and all is quiet, and the vigilance of a nation for its political interests is at rest, political wiles and political schemes then begin to weave their nets, the nation no longer, at that time, being watchful. But I care not, gentlemen, who the man is, if he advances one step or initiates another, on account of the political color of his party, I say that man, whoever that man may be, is not a friend of his country. (Applause.)

"Recently, gentlemen, a gross invasion of political interference has occurred. I sent the list of officers of the 13th Light Dragoons to the Gazette—the 13th, commanded by an efficient gentleman, whom I see here now. I sent a list of these officers to the Gazette. I was astonished to receive the list back, with the name of one officer scratched out, and initialed by the minister of agriculture, Mr. Sydney Fisher. That gentleman was a man I considered well equipped to serve the king in the 13th Scottish regiment—(applause)—Dr. Pickell, mayor of Sweetburg, chosen of the people, one of the champions of the cause, a better man to serve the king? (Hear, hear.) I feel certain that had Mr. Fisher's life led him to soldierly instead of to agriculture, he would feel annoyed, perhaps on personal grounds, on the extraction of his name from the list of gentlemen put forward by a man whose business it is to find efficient officers for the militia. (Applause.) But on personal grounds, gentlemen, I don't in the least mind. Lack of etiquette affects me little. I have been two years in Ottawa, gentlemen. (Laughter.) It is not on personal grounds that I inform you of this, but it is on national grounds. (Hear, hear.) I feel, gentlemen, anxious, profoundly anxious, that the militia of Canada may be kept from party politics. (Hear, hear, and loud applause.)

Debate In The House. Ottawa, June 11.—The debate on Lord Dundonald's speech, at Montreal, occupied the whole day in the Commons yesterday. The official record shows that the two lords accepted responsibility for the published speech and Col. Sam Hughes, to whom his case was entrusted, attempted to justify it. Mr. Fisher made a spirited reply and several members of the opposition took part in the discussion. No decision was reached.

Hon. Sidney Fisher made his statement in regard to the Dundonald charge, that for political purposes he had stricken from the list of officers of the 13th Light Dragoons the name of Dr. Pickell. After the publication of the report of Lord Dundonald's speech Sir Fred Borden wrote to him, asking if the report of his words was correct. Lord Dundonald practically confirmed the report of his words, adding that Mr. Fisher had also interfered with the organization corps.

Mr. Fisher, after reading these letters, proceeded to say that he took exception to Lord Dundonald's practical confirmation of the report of his words, adding that there was a responsible government in this country.

The commanding officer of the Canadian militia is appointed by the British government. As it would be impossible to retain an officer in the position who was not in agreement with the government of the Dominion, nothing remains for Lord Dundonald to do but to resign or his appointment will be canceled.

Will Not Resign. Ottawa, June 11.—Lord Dundonald, speaking to-day, said he had not resigned nor had any intention of doing so.

Schooler Wilson, formerly a well-to-do farmer on Kingston road in Pickering township, died at the Whitby House of Refuge on Friday, from the effects of a kick by a horse.

CURES BRIGHT'S DISEASE. Prof. Ayres Believes He Has Made Discovery.

New York, June 11.—Believing that he has discovered a method for the cure of Bright's disease, Prof. Winfield Ayres made a report to the convention of the American Medical Association in Atlantic City, which startled his hearers by its importance.

Prof. Ayres said he had made experiments, which led him to believe that Bright's disease was curable in its earlier stages, and that it is possible further investigation and experiment may end in a practically complete victory over it.

He based his conclusions on ninety-three cases, forty-three of which he tabulated, and of these he cured entirely nine patients. Twenty-five cases showed marked improvement, and only one failed to respond to treatment.

Through the use of instruments his injects medicines directly into the kidneys, in such strength as would be poisonous and cause certain death if taken into the stomach. He has found his patients safe from harm, and also that action is immediate and permanent.

CRISIS REACHED.

Praying For Success Of Russian Arms.

Special to the Whig. St. Petersburg, June 11.—There is a feeling in all circles that a crisis in the affairs of Port Arthur is rapidly approaching. In several quarters the most optimistic feeling as to the outcome is expressed. Many persons spent the night in the churches on their knees, praying for the success of Russian arms.

To Join Japanese Forces. New York, June 11.—From a reliable source, according to the Press, it was learned, yesterday, that a battalion of Rough Riders, made up of cowboys and broncho busters is being organized and is now partly on its way to the far east to join the Japanese forces as irregular cavalry.

Japan's Fine Medical Service. London, June 11.—A despatch from Mukden states that the Russian soldiers habitually speak with contempt of the quality of the Japanese troops. The Japs, they say, are good coolies, but only in that respect are they excellent; but all the evidence that has reached the Russian headquarters as to the Japanese hospitals and their medical and surgical arrangements generally is unanimous as to the excellence of that part of the enemy's equipment.

Two wounded men of the 11th Russian Regiment, which suffered so severely at Kinliencheng, managed to escape through the enemy's lines, and have reached Mukden. These men speak in enthusiastic terms of the manner in which the Japanese treat the Russian wounded. The Japanese army doctors, they say, are splendid, and they personally saw to the comfort of all the Russian wounded. Each Russian officer prisoner is supplied with a separate tent, and is allowed to superintend the preparation of the food for the Russian wounded.

Temporary assistance is given to the Japanese wounded in splendidly arranged field hospitals. About 450 Russian wounded were carefully attended to in the Japanese camp, and the relations between them and the enemy's troops were excellent, based, says the correspondent, upon the true comradeship and friendship of mutually respecting soldiers. The Japanese doctors removed the wounded from the field of battle without regard to nationality.

As it was practically impossible to remove all the wounded from the ground to the field hospital without delay, those whom surgical aid would most likely cure were taken first, and the more serious cases were given first aid in the field. Whenever a wounded man was discovered, whether Russian or Japanese, he was placed on his feet, and if able to stand unsupported for a few seconds he was taken on a litter to the hospital.

Cruelties were undoubtedly perpetrated on the Russian wounded, but the mercenaries were invariably Chinese, who are bitterly anti-Russian. It is said to be a common remark among the Chinese, "If the Japanese win in this war we will send basketfuls of Russian cars to Peking."
