Save for a few days this year has been very cool, and even now light overcoats are worn in the evening When a change in temperature takes place here it is very sudden. Last Saturday at 11 p.m. it was 76 degrees and at 2 a.m., Sunday, it was 32 de grees, a change of 44 degrees in three hours. This is due to the east winds, which make Boston so hard to keep in touch with the weather, as these changes come without warning.

Charles L. Tucker was indicted by the Middlesex grand jury this morning, at East Cambridge, on charge of murder in the first degree, of Miss Mabel Page, of Weston. It is altogether likely he will be arraigned early next week, when a date will be fixed, probably in early September, for his trial. The news will be communic ated to him when his brother and counsel visit him in his cell. The terms of the indictment have not been made public and will not until the arraignment. His immediate relatives believe that a trial before the jury will clear him. His mother, when interviewed, said she was now fully convinced of her son's innocence, and while realizing the punishment of confinement in jail, yet she thinks he will be fully vindicated at the next trial. While trying to reach her berth in a dense fog early. this morning Governor Dingley, of the Eastern Steamship company, crashed into a freight shed near India wharf, endangering the lives of several firemen from the fire boat, who were asleep and passed within a few feet of a compartment where Captain Ritchie and eleven firemen of Company 3, were asleep. The steamer was worlded in the amidst shattered timbers and ruined freight, amounting to several hundred dollars. At dawn the ill-fated steamer was pulled away by a tue and when she was withdrawn a portion of the end of the shed fell into the water entailing a further loss of property. The damage to wharf will be about $1,000, and to the steamer $500, At the time the captain was trying to effect a landing a gust of wind, swung the bow of the boat around, which placed him in a very dangerous position, and he had only two chances to save himself, one was to crash into a Metropolitan line steamer, which would probably have resulted in loss of life and the freight shed; he
