

Told in the Twilight

Many women are denied the happiness of children through derangement of the generative organs. Mrs. Beyer advises women to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I suffered with stomach complaint for years. I got so bad that I could not carry my children but five months, then would have a miscarriage. The last time I became pregnant, my husband got me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. After taking the first bottle I was relieved of the sickness of stomach, and began to feel better in every way. I continued its use and was enabled to carry my baby to maturity. I now have a nice baby girl, and can work better than I ever could before. I am like a new woman.

Upwards of 200 delegates were present, with 200 delegates from the other provinces present. The evening session was given by the local members on Thursday evening, at which about 1,800 members and citizens were present.

Little words are the sweetest; little charities fly farthest, and stay longer on the wing; little lakes are stillest, and little hearts the fullest, and little farms the best tilled. Little words are the most read, and little songs the most loved. And when Nature would make anything especially rare and beautiful, she makes it beautiful, she makes it little—little pearls, little diamonds, little dew.

The large "At Home" given yesterday by Mrs. Drury, in honor of Mrs. Peters, was a most enjoyable affair, and as the world and his kindred to its very utmost. Mrs. Peters received with her hostess in the drawing room, the tea-table being in the dining room. Miss Macdonald and Miss Mabel Gillies, who dispensed tea and coffee, were very busy supplying the demands upon them, and also in keeping up the conversation which is one of the difficulties of the busy presiding geniuses at afternoon tea-tables—the more popular the greater the difficulty, of course. Ice cream was served by Miss Anne Rutherford, and the three daughters of the house, Miss Edith, Miss Gladys and Miss Anna Drury, flitted about the room, with cakes and ices, and were assisted by Miss Haney, Miss Brownfield, Miss Lorraine Ballin and Miss Frances Sullivan. The tea-table was adorned with a most artistically arranged arrangement of floral decorations in a huge bowl in the middle.

LAKE ONTARIO PARK.

The Vaudeville Is of a Good Type.

Probably owing to the threatening weather and also the counter attractions of the city, the crowd at Lake Ontario Park was not nearly as large as it was on last week's opening night. The management have put on an entirely new programme this week, and it is one that should draw crowds of holiday-makers throughout the week.

The prime favorites last night were probably Hunter and Moorey, the novelty jugglers and dancers, who were recalled time and again by the delighted audience. Their hoop and dumb-bell work was simply marvellous, the best of the kind ever seen in Kingston. The individual dumb-bell and hoop work was fine and the team work beautiful and artistic. They are also a pair of very clever dancers.

Leonard and Fulton gave several good comedy sketches, interspersed with comic songs. The lady of the team possesses a very good voice, and the man a rich Irish brogue.

Charles Dickerson, gotten up like a Bob, has a very fine flow of language and appears to find no difficulty in talking entertainingly on any subject for any length of time. His parodies on popular songs were also well received. These artists will play all week at the park.

H. Binns, New York, was set upon by a crowd for abusing a young girl in a doorway, and narrowly escaped being lynched. The police rescued him, and placed him under arrest.

Two persons were killed and seven others injured, one fatally, at Kansas City, by the partial collapse of a four-story building.

HE IS OUT NOW.

HE IS ABLE TO REVEAL REAL SITUATION.

The Russians Have Plenty of Supplies, And The Fortress is in No Danger of Falling Just Now.

Indianapolis, June 11.—The News has received a special cablegram from Hector Fuller, its correspondent at Chofoo, giving the following account of his release from Port Arthur and the situation inside the besieged fortress:

Chofoo, June 20.—After spending five days in a Russian prison I was released and put on board a Chinese ship and sent to this place.

The stories of starvation in Port Arthur spread by the Japanese are untrue, as stores and supplies are constantly arriving at the besieged city from Chinese ports. The Japanese blockade is ineffective.

The garrison consists of between 50,000 and 60,000 troops and the health of both soldiers and civilians is good.

The damaged battleships have all been repaired and the harbor entrance cleared of obstructions. Immense new forts have been constructed and in my opinion the place is in no immediate danger of falling into the hands of the Japanese.

The Japanese attack by land and sea made on the 8th inst. was easily repulsed.

I was the first correspondent to enter Port Arthur since the blockade began.

No Further Advance.

St. Petersburg, June 2.—The reports of heavy firing at Haicheng are denied by the general staff. The Japanese are continuing to advance from Siven and there are continuous skirmishes between outposts, but no further advance of Gen. Oku's army has been reported.

Differences Very Great.

The differences between the civic fire and light committee and the representatives of the Kingston Light, Heat and Power company, it is understood were so great that a settlement was impossible. The company wants a very great deal more than the city could think of giving.

TORONTO ANGLICAN SYNOD.

Interesting Discussions on Public Questions.

The resolution of Rev. Dr. Langtry was unanimously adopted: "That this Synod offers hearty congratulations to Presbyterians, Methodists and Congregationalists, and the assured prospect of the speedy attainment of the corporate union of these three communions in one body. It feels that such a consummation will be a proclamation to the world of the evil of that spirit of division which has shattered the Christian host, has alienated brethren, and is a direct contradiction of the Will of our Blessed Lord."

Dr. Langtry recalled that the first motion made on Canada, in behalf of union, was made by himself in Montreal, in 1882. At a conference with the Presbyterians all points were settled except one and then a lively conference, but this had not been done.

Abolish The Bar.

The report of the committee on temperance reform was adopted, deprecating the treating habit and the promiscuous use of intoxicants in households, advocated the abolition of the bar, and the suppression of private by public control. A measure of total prohibition was against the best interests of the province; it would create a new criminal class. On the other hand they held "local option," especially in villages contiguous to towns or cities to be effective and practicable. This committee was re-appointed, Rev. Charles L. Inglis being chairman.

Following the re-appointing of the committee to confer with other religious bodies to secure religious instruction in public schools, came a lively discussion upon the advisability of compulsory use of the Bible as a textbook. Rev. J. Pitt Lewis and S. H. Blake delivered forceful addresses, in which they deprecated the lack of manners in the average school child and attributed it to the lack of religious instruction. A motion that the Bible be adopted in the public schools was unanimously adopted.

A Warm Sunday Breeze.

Sunday military parades were discussed with vigor, and as a result the Bishop of Toronto and a committee will wait upon the Hon. Col. Otter, and other military authorities, asking that the manner of holding church military service be changed.

Rev. J. P. Lewis said parades utterly demoralized the Sunday schools. It was a shame the members of the Synod had taken part in Sunday golf, and were thus setting a bad example. In relation to Sunday concerts, if the Anglican Church set a high standard the other churches would be influenced to do better.

Rev. A. H. Baldwin did not think much harm was done. If the military parades were to be discontinued, then the Salvation Army might be included; the Methodist concerts on Sunday, such as held in Sherbourne street church, were a thousand times more destructive in their influence. He was a Sabbatarian, never used Sunday cars, and did not read novels or newspapers. But he was not a prosecuting Sabbatarian, and did not belong to the Lord's Day Alliance. He objected strongly to Sunday dinner parties, to one of the curses of the city, and to Sunday golf playing. He thought these should be mentioned in the report if the others were.

Canon Welch gave an immense advantage in the gathering of 2,000 men for religious service. The evils had been absurdly exaggerated. The military service was an acknowledgment of the government of God. He deplored the growing practice of Sunday tea given by the leaders of society, who had ample opportunity to entertain on other days. He protested against the appointment of the first Sunday after Easter as "Lord's Day Alliance." He declined to observe it, as he preferred to obey the prayer book rather than the Synod.

Rev. G. A. M. Kurling pointed out that parades were not a war matter. The preparations began early in the morning. Households were disturbed, and also churches and communions. He asked the people to go to church in the evening, various parties also gave the opportunity to entertain at Sunday teas, which were a disgrace. No one wanted the parade discontinued if it could be held quietly. The shortest road to Massey hall was not all the way around the city.

Rev. Mr. Baldwin thought St. Andrew's, St. George's, and other societies should also be prevented from holding parties. It was not fair to sit upon one boy and let the others go.

Hon. S. H. Blake deplored the use of automobiles, bicycles and other things which took the people away from the city. The military parade was a show. For a week in advance the people knew of it, and 70,000 thronged the streets. It was an insult to Christian people to elect this very time chosen to instruct the children in the truths of Christianity. He was grieved that any minister of the Church should sanction it by his presence, a Sunday of turmoil and unrest. There was altogether too much militarism, and it was a shame to encourage it on the day set apart for the worship of the Prince of Peace.

Lever's Y-Z (Wise Head) Disinfectant Soap Powder dusted in the bath, softens the water and disinfects. There are more women than men in the churches, because religion is their inspiration and cheer, their solace in home-life, their hope for the little ones. They will not easily forsake loved ones or a cherished cause. The New Testament frequently testifies to her faithfulness and at the greatest tragedy of the centuries when disciples forsook the Master and fled, she stood faithful and undaunted.
