A SAVING TO THE CITY. The sidewalk difficulty is not to b disposed of with a triffing consideration. It began some years ago, with the construction of some walks on the local improvement plan. Just how much money has been put out on the sharing principle it would be hard or ten thousand dollars, and to re- Laurier. move this (in the event of a change of policy), so that an injustice will not be suffered by any one, and that al the electors will be similarly served will require the raising of a very large sum by direct taxation. The arall public works should be met out of the general taxation, but to do that the rate would have to go up five, perhaps ten, mills on the dollar, and is doubtful if any man could face that alternative and be a candidate for election to the council. It has been said that by economy and retrenchment in expenses the necessary funds can be had for public walks, Economy and retrenchment in what? The council has control of considerably less nually raised from taxation, and the municipal reformer has not so far him, but he does not admit that the been found who can suggest where effected. He can be converted to a new way of thinking, and it will be ficer. to the effect that walks on the local improvement plan do not add to the annual expenditure. The portion paid by the city is the portion that would fall to its lot under any circumstance es, and in permanent walks there is a very decided saving-to the city.

AN ATTEMPT AT COERCION. The Montreal Gazette comments upon the misfortune of Quebec in being so influenced by racial considerations that it elects, practically, a unanimous party to support the government in the commons. And it utters a threat which is expected to be effective. "It would be a much safer poliey for Quebec," says our contempory "to close its ears to the bogey race cry and vote as the other provinces do. Otherwise one of these days government will be elected despite the this kind interests, them just fact that Quebec throws its solid vote the other way, and then the patronage will naturally not go Quebec's way. On the other hand if Quebec could show a fair representation the house the province would be ways sure of liberal treatment. There is no race cry in pointing this out." Of course not. This species of in- he may be, in Canada, than he would timidation is to be regarded as a bit have to criticize the secretary of pleasantry which the French-Canadians should enjoy. The precise object of it is not apparent. Quebec is liberal, politically, because the conser-SEALED TENDERS (IN DUPLI- vative party has forfeited the confidence of the electors. It is liberal because the government of the day commands their support. The conservatives have been at some pains show that Sir Wilfrid Laurier has special hold upon the people. He has had a large following from Quebec, but that is the result of other men's in bringing about a change in the sit uation. Mr. Tarte threw himsel vigorously into the campaign and un dertook to demonstrate his power. But he failed, signally, completely, and left the field, for the time being, a disappointed man. Still the party is angling for the French-conservative vote. Mr. Borden has indertaken to show how tenderly Canadians by addressing them sionally in French. Mr. Monk, has resumed his prophecies of success in the next election. Lately Col. Sam Hughes has been taken to Montreal to imitate his leader in his attempts to talk in French and to tell the folks what the conservative party has done for this alien race. Lest the pleading must side with the conservative party succeed to power without them, the Bordens, Monks and Hughes will deprive them of the government tronage, and punish them with stu-
