"LOWE INLET" ALWAYS CANNED SALMON RELIABLE.

THE "CARRY OUT CRAFT."

How Restaurant Employees Load Themselves Up.

"I've seen some shoplifters who were good at stowing away things," began the private detective, "but for quantity and curious spoils, let me recommend the kitchen crew of an uptown restaurant which I had the pleasure of searching a few nights ago."

"For some years the proprietor had suspected that his kitchen employees were walking out at night with as much of his surplus stock as they could conceal about them. He found a hiding place for me, and I watched the going-home preparations with interest. There were seven in the crew, four men and three women, and they gathered up enough food to supply a regiment."

"The cook, a big burly woman, was the most scientific. She started in with two choice tenderloin steaks, for which she found room in the bosom of her dress. She risked parking two eggs in each stocking, and her partner held a can of condensed milk and a jar of butter."

"The two boys who washed dishes evidently had friends with a fondness for mutton chops, for they filled their pockets with them. One of the waitresses found room in the creases of her hat for five cream puffs. The second cook had the pockets of his coat lined with rubber, so that he could carry things which had a tendency to run. He confessed that he carried home a dinner for his wife and two children every night."

"As they were about to leave the kitchen the manager appeared, and requested them to step into his office. They protested that they had taken nothing, and were indignant until I appeared, and began to call out their hiding places. They were let go with a warning, but I doubt if the proprietor saves anything. The kitchen crew can destroy more stuff each day than they could ever carry away, and they will do it to get even for losing their 'carry-out craft.'"

HARD AT WAR

Japanese Forced Back By Big Numbers.

FIVE OFFICERS WERE AMONG SLAIN IN RECENT BATTLE.

Race Now on Between Armies As To Who Will Reach Gen. Stabelberg First—The Japanese Are Said To Be Favorably Established.

Special to the Whig.
London, June 23.—A despatch to the Daily Mail from Feng-Wang-Chang states that native reports say that a strong Russian force successfully attacked the Japanese on June 21st at Chita Cheng, twenty-two miles north-west of Feng-Wang-Cheng. Three hundred Chinese coolies were employed to remove the wounded. The correspondent of the Chronicle, at Feng-Wang-Cheng, says that a superior force of Russians with artillery attacked a small Japanese force at REAR ADMIRAL NISHIHIRA, who was among those saved when the Hataze was killed in the Italian navy. He fought in the Japan-China war, and was present at the battle of the Yalu.

Hoshitaken, fifteen miles north-east of Feng-Wang-Cheng. The Japanese defended their position vigorously, but after a gallant stand they were driven back by weight of numbers. Further fighting is expected.

A New Chwang, despatch, dated June 20th, says that fighting continues south of Kaichau and that it is apparently severe. In one encounter, on June 18th at Hualungkuo, 2,900 Russians were killed, and wounded, including five officers of high rank who were buried with military honors at the Kaichau railway station. Repeated reverses have checked the Russian movement north and caused a partial retirement to Kaichau, where there is now a great body of Russian troops of all arms. Forces detached from the main body are stated to be operating north of Vafangtun, watching for an opportunity to unite and attack the Japanese rear. According to a Chefoo despatch Gen. Stabelberg is maintaining his position on the railway about Kaining, where there is fighting daily. Trains are being sent to take guns and stores northward. Gen. Kondratich's Siberian reinforcements will cover the entrenchment of the main body and the Japanese to see who will reach Gen. Stabelberg first.

According to a despatch to the Daily Telegraph from Tokio, the destruction of two Russian torpedoes, and a merchant vessel, at Port Arthur is now reported official.

A Times despatch from Tokio, says that accounts from Chinese sources indicate that thus far success has not attended the Russian attempts to force the entrance to Port Arthur. The recent passage of the Russian cruiser Novik was accomplished only with the help of eggs. Torpedo boat destroyers are occupied in removing mines. This is now done, armed with guns from the warships, have been erected to strengthen the land defenses. There is nothing to indicate any intention on the part of the Russian squadron to make a sortie. Gen. Stoessel is apparently stalling everything on his inability to resist a Japanese assault, if he could he will blow up the remainder of the squadron. The Japanese are not apparently pushing their advance against the fortress so vigorously as they did at the beginning of the month. Chinese who have arrived at Chefoo state that the firing is less frequent.

A Battle Imminent.
St. Petersburg, June 23.—The imminence of a battle in the north-east of the Liao Tung peninsula is admitted succinctly in despatches from correspondents at Liao Yang, Kai-feng and other points on the railway. The week of skirmishing around Shiyen returned Gen. Kuraki's operations, permitting Gen. Stabelberg to reach Kaining, the rear guard slowly falling back on Senchen before the Japanese advance. Meanwhile, large forces are hurrying south from Liao Yang, to check both Gen. Oku and Gen. Kuraki. It is believed here that Gen. Kouropatkin's object is to prevent a junction of the Japanese armies. On the other hand the main body of the Japanese apparently is to drive the Russians out of Liao Tung peninsula preparatory to a march on Liao Yang. The approach of the rainy season will more than likely precipitate matters.

Are Well Established.
Liao Yang, June 23.—The Japanese with their base at Shiyen, have evidently a strongly established line between Kaichau and Aiental, and are protected on the east by the Saimachi line of positions. It is evident that the rumors of a battle north-east of Kaichau are incorrect. Japanese were seen during the past week sixteen miles from Kouonshan, but they retired obviously for the purpose of awaiting developments arising from the situation created by the battle of Vafangtun. Unofficial reports state that the two armies lost touch after this battle, but it is supposed that Gen. Oku has advanced northward by way of Fuchau and the coast road so as to enable the Japanese fleet to provision his army. Heavy rains have been falling since June 10th, and have hampered operations.

WILL BE LOOKED INTO.

The new hydraulic lift lock on the Trent canal at Peterboro is to be formally opened on July 10th, and upon invitation of the minister of railways and canals a parliamentary party will visit the locality for the occasion. Mr. Tarte's friends of the Senate and House of Commons, in the legislature, and members of the bench and bar. The chief mourners were Hon. J. I. Tarte, three sons and six daughters. Joseph Robillard, ex-M.P., nephew of Joseph Tarte, the funeral service was held at the Church of St. Louis de France where the mass was celebrated by Rev. Canon Chapet, of Chateauguay, cousin of the deceased.

A GREAT STRIKE.
Biggest Gas Well Found In Ten Years.

Special to the Whig.
Detroit, Mich., June 23.—J. C. Hickey, of the Leanington Oil Company, who has just returned to Detroit, says: "We have just brought in the biggest gas well struck in Canada in ten years. We struck the flow of gas yesterday in well No. 7, at a depth of 1,015 feet. Representatives of the Standard Oil company, who were on the ground, estimated the capacity of the well at three to five million feet per day. We have just closed a franchise to supply the village of Leanington with gas."

ACCEPT TERMS.
An Agreement To Cover All Differences.

Special to the Whig.
Toronto, June 23.—The employees of the street railway met in mass meeting early this morning, and after a long discussion decided to accept the agreement made by the condition committee had arrived at with the company. The agreement, which is for three years and will go into effect at once, covers all matters of difference between the men and the company. One of the provisions is that the company shall not discriminate against any employee who may belong to any organization.

MAY NOT GIVE BATTLE.
But Trying To Check Japanese Advance.

Special to the Whig.
St. Petersburg, June 23.—In the opinion of many conservative military men, Gen. Kouropatkin's massing of troops at Kai Chou does not necessarily indicate his intention to give battle, but merely to check the Japanese advance, and defer the occupation of New Chwang, the possession of which would be of great advantage to the Japanese during the rainy season, affording the enemy housing accommodations, and enabling them to land supplies.

Praise For Japs.
St. Petersburg, June 23.—Dantshenko, the Russian war correspondent, telegraphing from Liao Yang under date of last Friday, and describing the battle of Telien, says that the last attack proved once more that the Japanese are adepts at turning a position and concentrating their strength where the enemy least expects to encounter it. He says: "Our artillery was in the centre of their position. One battery did terrible execution, mowing down whole files of Japs. The enemy for a while concentrated their whole fire on that battery. The battery became invisible through the enormous rain of bursting shrapnel. Every officer in it was wounded and twenty men and twenty-eight horses were killed. Throughout the battle the Chinese signalled information to the Japs by means of mirrors fixed on long poles. We believed to the end of the day that we had won the battle."

Dantshenko concludes by vehemently accusing the Japs of massacring the wounded that had not been removed by the Russian ambulances.
