SERVES SIX YEARS.

First To Serve That Length Of Paris, July 8 .- Passing of his sixth anniversary as minister of foreign of fairs by M. Delcasse to-day, was a notable event, inasmuch as he is the first French foreign minister to attain that length of service. The anniversary would have passed unnoticed had not Ambassador Porter called it to M. Delcasse's attention casse and himself to combat adverse French statiment, growing out of the Spanish-American war. M. Deleasse's lengthy service is significant of the growing stability of French ministries, Heretofore the constant changes were recognized as serious defects in the French system, as they prevented continuity of governmental policy. From 1879 until M.

Waldeck-Rousseau formed a cabinet, there were twenty-eight French cabi De. Freycinet, had continuous service through four years, covering five ministries. H. Cochery still holds the record for service, namely, seven years as minister of posts and telegraphs, but M. Delcasse is the first foreign minister having a lengthy to France in this matter is taking pat tern from the stability of Russin's foreign system, in which there were only three foreign ministers between 1813 and 1895, namely, Nesselrode Gortchakoff and De Giers. M. D casse's service has established a con tinuity of French foreign policy and has been marked by many notable successes.
