

Grandma Here sits dear old Grandma in silk and old lace. We boast that no wrinkles disfigure her face: She's healthy and bright and I've oft heard her say: 'Tis because she has used Abbey's Salt every day.

No matter how hearty the old folk appear, their digestive organs are on the wane. The stomach and bowels are noticeably weaker. The liver often sluggish. Nature needs assistance.

ABBEY'S SALT is the tonic laxative to keep the old folk in healthful vigor. It is so mild—yet so effective—that it puts the stomach, bowels and liver in perfect order without the least discomfort.

Abbey's Effervescent Salt Renews Youth in Old Age

BROADBRIM'S

Letter From Greater New York.

ARE ONLY TWO.

GREAT FORMS OF GOVERNMENT SAFE.

Force And Reason—Question Of Wages Important One—Ideal Life, Divides Work And Play—Fair Recompense Wanted.

Special correspondence: Letter No. 1,419.

New York, July 29.—If the foundation of a great war between labor and capital is realized, it will cause more distress and suffering than any contest that has taken place between these two contending powers. There are only two great forms of government which men have elected for their safety, one is reason and the other is force. Force seems to be the final result of the arbitration of these great questions, for they appeal to everyone, rich or poor, high or low, educated or ignorant, and all these subjects appeal directly to every man's safety, for the comforts of his home and the well-being of his children. It is safe to say, that every man, no matter what his profession, wants his home sacredly guarded, and is willing to pledge his life for these blessings. For several months there has been a feeling of unrest among the laboring classes which bodes no good to capital. Honest labor desires the ordinary comforts of life, a picture on the wall, a carpet on the floor, decent dress, and education for its children, and these blessings capital may grant without serious danger to its own security. In the coming contest there is an enigma which no prophet seems able to solve. The question of wages is a very important one and another in the division of time. Long ago a few wise men saw that on that division of time depended the safety and comfort of labor. It is only reasonable to ask that a man shall have a portion of his time to spend with his family. An ideal life is made up of the division of recreation and labor. It is abhorrent to every thinking man that he should be chained to labor from the rising of the sun to the going down of the same. When arriving at his home worn down with toil he finds a watchful sentinel over their slumbers and their home. Here we may safely leave this subject for the present and we will turn to review the rights of capital as they exist to-day and this fact meets us which ever way we turn, that the great capitalists of the present day, almost without a single exception, have risen from the ranks of labor. The family of Rothschilds represent the highest degree of civilized capital, wherever civilization is known, and human government has behind it a power to enforce its recognized rights and yet this great combination based together by self-interest with "hooks of steel" stands uncovered before the names of Andrew Carnegie, John D. Rockefeller, John W. Mackay, whose great wealth has been accumulated in the hands of a human family, and the entire world is appalled when it realizes the power of the great financial trinity. Is not there some mysterious force in this trinitarian combination, the Eleusian mysteries the superlative point of human knowledge was only given to those who had passed the trials of the trinity and had crossed the mystic river which divides light and darkness. At the entrance to the temple of all human knowledge was a figure that extended three of the fingers of his right hand. Those trinitarian signs were air, water, and fire; the neophyte having passed safely the trial of air and water was then submitted to the trial of fire, which resolved him back into his original elements. You start with the number of the trinity, three; three times three are nine, and now no matter what combination you make the figures will represent nine, no more no less. If the combination which is now threatened can be realized in its fullness no man living can cast the horoscope of the future. It is no use at this point to moralize on the result; suffering gigantic in its consequences is inevitable. The equalization of the wealth of the world by force is terrible to contemplate and men must recognize this fact, that the quality of creation belongs to one class of men. They save the means they make and the development of all great things that man most desires depend upon capital's combination. One man comes penniless into a community, in a few years you find him at the head of a great combination employing thousands of men who are contented if they can only find sufficient work. A fair recompense for the labor of hand and brain is what every just man desires and those who succeed in establishing a just combination of capital and labor will have achieved the mightiest and most virtuous work that the Almighty has given to children of men. How many people realize that the amusements of the people cost more than any form of human government, and that those who cater to our highest form of pleasure receive far greater recompense than any other profession known to man. A popular singer or dancer will receive for a few hours pleasurable employment three times as much as a first class mechanic can earn in a year. A very indifferent vaudeville performer who gives you a comic song or a grotesque dance will receive more than a senator of the United States, or a general who fights the republic's battles on the land or an admiral who carries the "glorious Stars and Stripes" to victory on the sea. To come down to specific sums, Jean De Reszke demands one thousand dollars for his services that cover the period of an hour and as if this enormous sum were not sufficient for his transcendent ability, if the receipts of the house exceed ten thousand dollars, he divides the surplus with his managers. One more example and we can safely leave this for future reflection. Madame Patti demands five thousand dollars for her services for a single night, a reward for human effort without a parallel in the history of the world. The war between Russia and Japan reaches much further than the world at large supposed. A British ship has been seized by a Russian cruiser and was taken into port and condemned. That seizure roused the British Lion, and its roar was heard in the imperial palace of the czar; with several armies of Japanese chasing his straggled columns across the mountains of Manchuria he wants no more fighting on his hands; he has enough to give him an appetite, caviar, and for the present at least Britannia rules the waves; that is, as far as Russia is concerned; but the czar must remember that Brother Jonathan has interests there also and he always stands ready to protect his rights either on the sea or land.

—BROADBRIM.

SENT CONGRATULATIONS.

The Democratic Leader's Fiftieth Birthday.

Special to the Whig, July 30.—Some one about the capital to-day recalled the fact that this was the fiftieth birthday of Congressman John Sharp Williams, the minority leader in the house and temporary chairman of the recent democratic national convention. The word was passed along the line and the result was that several messages of congratulation were despatched to Mr. Williams from democratic leaders who for one reason or another have been kept in Washington during the dog days.

Mr. Williams is considerably younger than the majority of those of equal prominence in public life and his friends are confident that he is destined for higher honors than any yet bestowed upon him. His leadership of the democratic minority and the prominent part he took in the St. Louis convention have made Mr. Williams so well known from one end of the country to the other that it is difficult to realize that his public career began but little over a decade ago. Yet such is the fact, his election to congress in 1892 having been his first public office.

CHOLERA INFANTUM.

Child Not Expected To Live From One Hour To Another, But Cured by Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

Ruth, the little daughter of E. N. Devey, of Newville, Va., was seriously ill of cholera infantum last summer. "We gave her up and did not expect her to live from one hour to another," he says. "I happened to think of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and got a bottle of it from the store. In five hours I saw a change for the better. We kept on giving it and before she had taken the half of one small bottle she was well. This remedy is for sale by all druggists.

Now is the time to have your furnace or stoves overhauled before the busy time. Get Taylor & Hamilton. They will do it at reasonable prices. We have just the suit you want. One-fourth off the price now. Money & Co.

The assassin of Von Plehve, the Russian minister of finance, is said to be a Jew named Prossel. The crime is supposed to be one of a long series engineered by a famous revolutionary now in prison.

HER 101ST BIRTHDAY.

Mrs. H. H. Browne Is Gradually Failing.

Special to the Whig, July 30.—Mrs. Hannah H. Browne celebrated her hundred and first birthday a few days ago, surrounded by a small circle of friends. She is mentally still sound, but her strength is gradually failing. She was born in Smithtown, Long Island, in 1803. The town was named after her father. She was nine years old when the war of 1812 broke out, and she distinctly remembers the troops marching off to the front. At the age of eighteen she moved with her parents to a homestead on the present Grand street, Manhattan and she has often told her friends how she and her lover used to roam through the beautiful woods that covered the space now occupied by the city of Brooklyn.

Massachusetts Old Home Week.

Special to the Whig, July 30.—In accordance with a law enacted by the state legislature several years ago and in pursuance of a custom that has become well established during the last decade, the week beginning to-morrow will be observed throughout Massachusetts as old home week. The week is set apart as a season during which cities and towns may conduct appropriate celebrations in honor of returning sons and daughters of the Commonwealth and other invited guests, and may hold exercises of historical interest. Last year some seventy-five towns and cities celebrated and this year the observance is expected to be even more general. The celebrations bring thousands of residents of Ohio, Illinois, Michigan, Iowa and other states of the middle and far west back to their old homes to visit relatives and renew acquaintance with childhood friends.

Special to the Whig, July 30.—Immediately after the Gen. Slocum disaster contributions for the survivors of the victims began to pour in and in a short time over $100,000 were in the fund. The manner in which the fund has been managed and the methods of distributing it have caused considerable satisfaction and it would not be surprising if the matter would develop into a first class scandal. It seems that the committee which had been appointed by Mayor McClellan to take charge of and distribute the funds, found the work too onerous and left the work of distribution to A. A. Hill, connected with the Charity Organization society of Manhattan. The methods of Mr. Hill are severely criticized. It is asserted that Mr. Hill, who lives out of town, took quarters at a hotel and surrounded himself with a staff of fourteen clerks and stenographers, paying not only their salaries, but also his hotel bills out of the relief funds. It is asserted that the total amount about $25,000 have been expended so far, but that sum only a little over $4,000 was used for relief purposes, while the rest went toward paying for salaries, office rent and hotel bills. The attention of the mayor has been called to the matter and it is expected that an investigation will be made to ascertain the actual facts in the case.

MAY BE A SCANDAL.

Over The Way a Fund Has Been Used.

Special to the Whig, July 30.—Some one about the capital to-day recalled the fact that this was the fiftieth birthday of Congressman John Sharp Williams, the minority leader in the house and temporary chairman of the recent democratic national convention. The word was passed along the line and the result was that several messages of congratulation were despatched to Mr. Williams from democratic leaders who for one reason or another have been kept in Washington during the dog days.

Mr. Williams is considerably younger than the majority of those of equal prominence in public life and his friends are confident that he is destined for higher honors than any yet bestowed upon him. His leadership of the democratic minority and the prominent part he took in the St. Louis convention have made Mr. Williams so well known from one end of the country to the other that it is difficult to realize that his public career began but little over a decade ago. Yet such is the fact, his election to congress in 1892 having been his first public office.

CHOLERA INFANTUM.

Child Not Expected To Live From One Hour To Another, But Cured by Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

Ruth, the little daughter of E. N. Devey, of Newville, Va., was seriously ill of cholera infantum last summer. "We gave her up and did not expect her to live from one hour to another," he says. "I happened to think of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and got a bottle of it from the store. In five hours I saw a change for the better. We kept on giving it and before she had taken the half of one small bottle she was well. This remedy is for sale by all druggists.

Now is the time to have your furnace or stoves overhauled before the busy time. Get Taylor & Hamilton. They will do it at reasonable prices. We have just the suit you want. One-fourth off the price now. Money & Co.

The assassin of Von Plehve, the Russian minister of finance, is said to be a Jew named Prossel. The crime is supposed to be one of a long series engineered by a famous revolutionary now in prison.

HER 101ST BIRTHDAY.

Mrs. H. H. Browne Is Gradually Failing.

Special to the Whig, July 30.—Mrs. Hannah H. Browne celebrated her hundred and first birthday a few days ago, surrounded by a small circle of friends. She is mentally still sound, but her strength is gradually failing. She was born in Smithtown, Long Island, in 1803. The town was named after her father. She was nine years old when the war of 1812 broke out, and she distinctly remembers the troops marching off to the front. At the age of eighteen she moved with her parents to a homestead on the present Grand street, Manhattan and she has often told her friends how she and her lover used to roam through the beautiful woods that covered the space now occupied by the city of Brooklyn.

Massachusetts Old Home Week.

Special to the Whig, July 30.—In accordance with a law enacted by the state legislature several years ago and in pursuance of a custom that has become well established during the last decade, the week beginning to-morrow will be observed throughout Massachusetts as old home week. The week is set apart as a season during which cities and towns may conduct appropriate celebrations in honor of returning sons and daughters of the Commonwealth and other invited guests, and may hold exercises of historical interest. Last year some seventy-five towns and cities celebrated and this year the observance is expected to be even more general. The celebrations bring thousands of residents of Ohio, Illinois, Michigan, Iowa and other states of the middle and far west back to their old homes to visit relatives and renew acquaintance with childhood friends.

Special to the Whig, July 30.—Some one about the capital to-day recalled the fact that this was the fiftieth birthday of Congressman John Sharp Williams, the minority leader in the house and temporary chairman of the recent democratic national convention. The word was passed along the line and the result was that several messages of congratulation were despatched to Mr. Williams from democratic leaders who for one reason or another have been kept in Washington during the dog days.

Mr. Williams is considerably younger than the majority of those of equal prominence in public life and his friends are confident that he is destined for higher honors than any yet bestowed upon him. His leadership of the democratic minority and the prominent part he took in the St. Louis convention have made Mr. Williams so well known from one end of the country to the other that it is difficult to realize that his public career began but little over a decade ago. Yet such is the fact, his election to congress in 1892 having been his first public office.

CHOLERA INFANTUM.

Child Not Expected To Live From One Hour To Another, But Cured by Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

Ruth, the little daughter of E. N. Devey, of Newville, Va., was seriously ill of cholera infantum last summer. "We gave her up and did not expect her to live from one hour to another," he says. "I happened to think of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and got a bottle of it from the store. In five hours I saw a change for the better. We kept on giving it and before she had taken the half of one small bottle she was well. This remedy is for sale by all druggists.

Now is the time to have your furnace or stoves overhauled before the busy time. Get Taylor & Hamilton. They will do it at reasonable prices. We have just the suit you want. One-fourth off the price now. Money & Co.

The assassin of Von Plehve, the Russian minister of finance, is said to be a Jew named Prossel. The crime is supposed to be one of a long series engineered by a famous revolutionary now in prison.

HER 101ST BIRTHDAY.

Mrs. H. H. Browne Is Gradually Failing.

Special to the Whig, July 30.—Mrs. Hannah H. Browne celebrated her hundred and first birthday a few days ago, surrounded by a small circle of friends. She is mentally still sound, but her strength is gradually failing. She was born in Smithtown, Long Island, in 1803. The town was named after her father. She was nine years old when the war of 1812 broke out, and she distinctly remembers the troops marching off to the front. At the age of eighteen she moved with her parents to a homestead on the present Grand street, Manhattan and she has often told her friends how she and her lover used to roam through the beautiful woods that covered the space now occupied by the city of Brooklyn.

Massachusetts Old Home Week.

Special to the Whig, July 30.—In accordance with a law enacted by the state legislature several years ago and in pursuance of a custom that has become well established during the last decade, the week beginning to-morrow will be observed throughout Massachusetts as old home week. The week is set apart as a season during which cities and towns may conduct appropriate celebrations in honor of returning sons and daughters of the Commonwealth and other invited guests, and may hold exercises of historical interest. Last year some seventy-five towns and cities celebrated and this year the observance is expected to be even more general. The celebrations bring thousands of residents of Ohio, Illinois, Michigan, Iowa and other states of the middle and far west back to their old homes to visit relatives and renew acquaintance with childhood friends.

Special to the Whig, July 30.—Some one about the capital to-day recalled the fact that this was the fiftieth birthday of Congressman John Sharp Williams, the minority leader in the house and temporary chairman of the recent democratic national convention. The word was passed along the line and the result was that several messages of congratulation were despatched to Mr. Williams from democratic leaders who for one reason or another have been kept in Washington during the dog days.

Mr. Williams is considerably younger than the majority of those of equal prominence in public life and his friends are confident that he is destined for higher honors than any yet bestowed upon him. His leadership of the democratic minority and the prominent part he took in the St. Louis convention have made Mr. Williams so well known from one end of the country to the other that it is difficult to realize that his public career began but little over a decade ago. Yet such is the fact, his election to congress in 1892 having been his first public office.

CHOLERA INFANTUM.

Child Not Expected To Live From One Hour To Another, But Cured by Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

Ruth, the little daughter of E. N. Devey, of Newville, Va., was seriously ill of cholera infantum last summer. "We gave her up and did not expect her to live from one hour to another," he says. "I happened to think of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and got a bottle of it from the store. In five hours I saw a change for the better. We kept on giving it and before she had taken the half of one small bottle she was well. This remedy is for sale by all druggists.

Now is the time to have your furnace or stoves overhauled before the busy time. Get Taylor & Hamilton. They will do it at reasonable prices. We have just the suit you want. One-fourth off the price now. Money & Co.

The assassin of Von Plehve, the Russian minister of finance, is said to be a Jew named Prossel. The crime is supposed to be one of a long series engineered by a famous revolutionary now in prison.

HER 101ST BIRTHDAY.

Mrs. H. H. Browne Is Gradually Failing.

Special to the Whig, July 30.—Mrs. Hannah H. Browne celebrated her hundred and first birthday a few days ago, surrounded by a small circle of friends. She is mentally still sound, but her strength is gradually failing. She was born in Smithtown, Long Island, in 1803. The town was named after her father. She was nine years old when the war of 1812 broke out, and she distinctly remembers the troops marching off to the front. At the age of eighteen she moved with her parents to a homestead on the present Grand street, Manhattan and she has often told her friends how she and her lover used to roam through the beautiful woods that covered the space now occupied by the city of Brooklyn.

Massachusetts Old Home Week.

Special to the Whig, July 30.—In accordance with a law enacted by the state legislature several years ago and in pursuance of a custom that has become well established during the last decade, the week beginning to-morrow will be observed throughout Massachusetts as old home week. The week is set apart as a season during which cities and towns may conduct appropriate celebrations in honor of returning sons and daughters of the Commonwealth and other invited guests, and may hold exercises of historical interest. Last year some seventy-five towns and cities celebrated and this year the observance is expected to be even more general. The celebrations bring thousands of residents of Ohio, Illinois, Michigan, Iowa and other states of the middle and far west back to their old homes to visit relatives and renew acquaintance with childhood friends.

Special to the Whig, July 30.—Some one about the capital to-day recalled the fact that this was the fiftieth birthday of Congressman John Sharp Williams, the minority leader in the house and temporary chairman of the recent democratic national convention. The word was passed along the line and the result was that several messages of congratulation were despatched to Mr. Williams from democratic leaders who for one reason or another have been kept in Washington during the dog days.

Mr. Williams is considerably younger than the majority of those of equal prominence in public life and his friends are confident that he is destined for higher honors than any yet bestowed upon him. His leadership of the democratic minority and the prominent part he took in the St. Louis convention have made Mr. Williams so well known from one end of the country to the other that it is difficult to realize that his public career began but little over a decade ago. Yet such is the fact, his election to congress in 1892 having been his first public office.

CHOLERA INFANTUM.

Child Not Expected To Live From One Hour To Another, But Cured by Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

Ruth, the little daughter of E. N. Devey, of Newville, Va., was seriously ill of cholera infantum last summer. "We gave her up and did not expect her to live from one hour to another," he says. "I happened to think of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and got a bottle of it from the store. In five hours I saw a change for the better. We kept on giving it and before she had taken the half of one small bottle she was well. This remedy is for sale by all druggists.

Now is the time to have your furnace or stoves overhauled before the busy time. Get Taylor & Hamilton. They will do it at reasonable prices. We have just the suit you want. One-fourth off the price now. Money & Co.

The assassin of Von Plehve, the Russian minister of finance, is said to be a Jew named Prossel. The crime is supposed to be one of a long series engineered by a famous revolutionary now in prison.

HER 101ST BIRTHDAY.

Mrs. H. H. Browne Is Gradually Failing.

Special to the Whig, July 30.—Mrs. Hannah H. Browne celebrated her hundred and first birthday a few days ago, surrounded by a small circle of friends. She is mentally still sound, but her strength is gradually failing. She was born in Smithtown, Long Island, in 1803. The town was named after her father. She was nine years old when the war of 1812 broke out, and she distinctly remembers the troops marching off to the front. At the age of eighteen she moved with her parents to a homestead on the present Grand street, Manhattan and she has often told her friends how she and her lover used to roam through the beautiful woods that covered the space now occupied by the city of Brooklyn.

Massachusetts Old Home Week.

Special to the Whig, July 30.—In accordance with a law enacted by the state legislature several years ago and in pursuance of a custom that has become well established during the last decade, the week beginning to-morrow will be observed throughout Massachusetts as old home week. The week is set apart as a season during which cities and towns may conduct appropriate celebrations in honor of returning sons and daughters of the Commonwealth and other invited guests, and may hold exercises of historical interest. Last year some seventy-five towns and cities celebrated and this year the observance is expected to be even more general. The celebrations bring thousands of residents of Ohio, Illinois, Michigan, Iowa and other states of the middle and far west back to their old homes to visit relatives and renew acquaintance with childhood friends.

Special to the Whig, July 30.—Some one about the capital to-day recalled the fact that this was the fiftieth birthday of Congressman John Sharp Williams, the minority leader in the house and temporary chairman of the recent democratic national convention. The word was passed along the line and the result was that several messages of congratulation were despatched to Mr. Williams from democratic leaders who for one reason or another have been kept in Washington during the dog days.

Mr. Williams is considerably younger than the majority of those of equal prominence in public life and his friends are confident that he is destined for higher honors than any yet bestowed upon him. His leadership of the democratic minority and the prominent part he took in the St. Louis convention have made Mr. Williams so well known from one end of the country to the other that it is difficult to realize that his public career began but little over a decade ago. Yet such is the fact, his election to congress in 1892 having been his first public office.

CHOLERA INFANTUM.

Child Not Expected To Live From One Hour To Another, But Cured by Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

Ruth, the little daughter of E. N. Devey, of Newville, Va., was seriously ill of cholera infantum last summer. "We gave her up and did not expect her to live from one hour to another," he says. "I happened to think of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and got a bottle of it from the store. In five hours I saw a change for the better. We kept on giving it and before she had taken the half of one small bottle she was well. This remedy is for sale by all druggists.

Now is the time to have your furnace or stoves overhauled before the busy time. Get Taylor & Hamilton. They will do it at reasonable prices. We have just the suit you want. One-fourth off the price now. Money & Co.

The assassin of Von Plehve, the Russian minister of finance, is said to be a Jew named Prossel. The crime is supposed to be one of a long series engineered by a famous revolutionary now in prison.

HER 101ST BIRTHDAY.

Mrs. H. H. Browne Is Gradually Failing.

Special to the Whig, July 30.—Mrs. Hannah H. Browne celebrated her hundred and first birthday a few days ago, surrounded by a small circle of friends. She is mentally still sound, but her strength is gradually failing. She was born in Smithtown, Long Island, in 1803. The town was named after her father. She was nine years old when the war of 1812 broke out, and she distinctly remembers the troops marching off to the front. At the age of eighteen she moved with her parents to a homestead on the present Grand street, Manhattan and she has often told her friends how she and her lover used to roam through the beautiful woods that covered the space now occupied by the city of Brooklyn.

Massachusetts Old Home Week.

Special to the Whig, July 30.—In accordance with a law enacted by the state legislature several years ago and in pursuance of a custom that has become well established during the last decade, the week beginning to-morrow will be observed throughout Massachusetts as old home week. The week is set apart as a season during which cities and towns may conduct appropriate celebrations in honor of returning sons and daughters of the Commonwealth and other invited guests, and may hold exercises of historical interest. Last year some seventy-five towns and cities celebrated and this year the observance is expected to be even more general. The celebrations bring thousands of residents of Ohio, Illinois, Michigan, Iowa and other states of the middle and far west back to their old homes to visit relatives and renew acquaintance with childhood friends.

Special to the Whig, July 30.—Some one about the capital to-day recalled the fact that this was the fiftieth birthday of Congressman John Sharp Williams, the minority leader in the house and temporary chairman of the recent democratic national convention. The word was passed along the line and the result was that several messages of congratulation were despatched to Mr. Williams from democratic leaders who for one reason or another have been kept in Washington during the dog days.

Mr. Williams is considerably younger than the majority of those of equal prominence in public life and his friends are confident that he is destined for higher honors than any yet bestowed upon him. His leadership of the democratic minority and the prominent part he took in the St. Louis convention have made Mr. Williams so well known from one end of the country to the other that it is difficult to realize that his public career began but little over a decade ago. Yet such is the fact, his election to congress in 1892 having been his first public office.

CHOLERA INFANTUM.

Free for a Post Card. It costs just one cent for you to get relief from Kidney and Bladder Troubles. A simple request on a post card brings a free sample box of Gin Pills. We don't ask you to buy. Simply try Gin Pills at our expense, and let them prove themselves all that we claim for them. And we know the samples will do you so much good that you will voluntarily buy Gin Pills until a complete cure is effected. We intend to give away 100,000 Boxes Free of Charge. In order to show our confidence in this remedy. We know what Gin Pills will do. We have implicit confidence in their power to relieve and cure all Kidney and Bladder Troubles. We know that you have only to try them to believe in them. Gin Pills Never Fail to Cure. All over Canada, Gin Pills are known as a certain and speedy cure for Inflammation of the Kidneys; Gout and Rheumatism, caused by uric acid in the blood; Catarrh of the Bladder; Painful and Suppressed Urination; "Burning" Urine; Gravel or Stone in the Bladder; Bed Wetting; Pains in the Back, and all other Kidney and Bladder Troubles. Each Gin Pill contains all the medicinal properties of one and a half ounces of best Holland gin, without the alcohol, and combined with other curative agents of recognized value. Don't Delay—Write To-day. Don't put this off. If you have any of these troubles, don't run the risk of Bright's Disease or Chronic Cystitis. Write for a free sample of Gin Pills, and start yourself along the road to a certain cure. Use a post card, ask for a free sample of Gin Pills, say in what paper you saw this advertisement, and sign your name and address. Write to-day—now—to BOLE DRUG CO., Dept. J, Winnipeg, Man.

MAY BE A SCANDAL. Over The Way a Fund Has Been Used. Special to the Whig, July 30.—Immediately after the Gen. Slocum disaster contributions for the survivors of the victims began to pour in and in a short time over $100,000 were in the fund. The manner in which the fund has been managed and the methods of distributing it have caused considerable satisfaction and it would not be surprising if the matter would develop into a first class scandal. It seems that the committee which had been appointed by Mayor McClellan to take charge of and distribute the funds, found the work too onerous and left the work of distribution to A. A. Hill, connected with the Charity Organization society of Manhattan. The methods of Mr. Hill are severely criticized. It is asserted that Mr. Hill, who lives out of town, took quarters at a hotel and surrounded himself with a staff of fourteen clerks and stenographers, paying not only their salaries, but also his hotel bills out of the relief funds. It is asserted that the total amount about $25,000 have been expended so far, but that sum only a little over $4,000 was used for relief purposes, while the rest went toward paying for salaries, office rent and hotel bills. The attention of the mayor has been called to the matter and it is expected that an investigation will be made to ascertain the actual facts in the case.

MOSQUITO FLAQUE. It Is Now Making Life Unendurable. Special to the Whig, July 30.—The mosquito in Brooklyn has begun somewhat earlier than in former years and life out of doors in that borough is a burden at present, particularly at night. Brooklyn abounds in choice breeding places for these winged pests, but no determined effort has been made up to the present to remedy the evil. It is stated now, however, that soon a beginning is to be made. The authorities have come to the conclusion that the pond in Prospect Park is one of the largest and most prolific breeding places for mosquitoes in New York and needs attention. The pond has no outlet, and the stagnant water has never been let out since park has been in existence. The water is extremely filthy, filled with a luxuriant growth of water plants and in many places covered with a thick green scum, which is fairly alive with larvae of mosquitoes. According to the plans of the park authorities the water is to be drawn off, and the pond thoroughly cleaned, before it is refilled with clear water.

HER 101ST BIRTHDAY. Mrs. H. H. Browne Is Gradually Failing. Special to the Whig, July 30.—Mrs. Hannah H. Browne celebrated her hundred and first birthday a few days ago, surrounded by a small circle of friends. She is mentally still sound, but her strength is gradually failing. She was born in Smithtown, Long Island, in 1803. The town was named after her father. She was nine years old when the war of 1812 broke out, and she distinctly remembers the troops marching off to the front. At the age of eighteen she moved with her parents to a homestead on the present Grand street, Manhattan and she has often told her friends how she and her lover used to roam through the beautiful woods that covered the space now occupied by the city of Brooklyn.

Massachusetts Old Home Week. Special to the Whig, July 30.—In accordance with a law enacted by the state legislature several years ago and in pursuance of a custom that has become well established during the last decade, the week beginning to-morrow will be observed throughout Massachusetts as old home week. The week is set apart as a season during which cities and towns may conduct appropriate celebrations in honor of returning sons and daughters of the Commonwealth and other invited guests, and may hold exercises of historical interest. Last year some seventy-five towns and cities celebrated and this year the observance is expected to be even more general. The celebrations bring thousands of residents of Ohio, Illinois, Michigan, Iowa and other states of the middle and far west back to their old homes to visit relatives and renew acquaintance with childhood friends.

NEW THINGS ARE COMING ALL OUR BRITISH AND CONTINENTAL GOODS WILL BE IN NEXT MONTH. We're paving the way for their reception-making room-by a clearance of everything summery at prices which bear no resemblance whatever to original worth. In some cases Straw Hat prices have been cut in four-pretty Ladies' and Children's Hats whose only fault is that they are here at a time when the space they occupy MUST be had for New Fall Goods. Showerproof Coats for Evening Wear Half length Coats, regular $5, for.....$3.50 Full length Silk Coats, regular $15, for....$7.50. These Coats are equally as comfortable and serviceable on a dry day when the dust is flying or the coolness of the atmosphere renders an outer garment necessary. It's a Coat that does not depend on a season for its vogue; therefore an extra-value item is timely at all times. Busy Days on the Second Floor. Hot days are making the Waists and Separate Skirts go. If you require a Waist or Skirt this is the store and this is the time to buy it. Spence & Co., The Leading Millinery and Mantle Store.

The Standard Route ...TO... St. Louis Exposition The best of everything—double track—absolute safety—superb equipment—every convenience. 8 Through Trains Daily 8 No road, East or West, is so thoroughly "standard" and up to date in every detail as the Lake Shore For book of particulars, address, J. W. DALY, G. E. A., Buffalo, N. Y.

ISN'T IT FUN? YOU can't bring up your family properly with poor plumbing in the house. Granted that you have no leaks, with their noisome effects, still you are missing a great big good thing if you have not a Fine Bath-Tub, especially in summer. At Bath-Tubs and every other thing connected with plumbing. Ask for estimates. McKELVEY & BIRCH, 69 and 71 Brock Street.

Better Than BREAKFAST FOOD FADS IS Coye's Matchless Bread

Great Reduction Sale On all goods for a couple of weeks. A special line of office or working Pants $3.75 at During sale time. White Vestings at COST. Everything must be turned into money for fall purchases. Reductions for Cash Only, as it's the Cash We Want. NOTICE. We will close our store every Wednesday Afternoon at 1 o'clock sharp during July and August to give our employees recreation. CARROLL & CO. Tailors, 230 Princess St.

Wilson's Fly Pads. Peculiar wearing qualities. Perfectly straight selvage. Will not scold, a sponge or brush makes it clean again, and no damage done.

Wilson's Fly Pads. Flies Everywhere in your food—in your bedroom—making life miserable. Will clear your home of flies in a few hours.