HOW JAPS WON

Terrific Artillery Duel—Russian Guns Cleverly Masked By Lofly Chinese Corn Proved a Mystery To The Mikado's Men.

Mukden, July 30.—Having ridden over a hundred miles on horseback to Mukden, to bring the account, a correspondent of The Associated Press, who witnessed the battle of Tat-che-kiao, July 23rd to July 25th, telegraphs a personal description of the battle.

The correspondent was awakened at five o'clock in the morning of July 23rd by the booming of guns. He had slept in the village of Tientsin, four miles south of Tat-che-kiao, where the regiment to which he was attached was stationed. He hurriedly rode to the Russian outposts and found them engaged in a hot artillery duel, which continued for two hours.

At two in the afternoon the bombardment recommenced and lasted until five o'clock. The Japanese had several guns of large calibre and all their batteries were sending out streams of shrapnel on the Russian positions, but not causing much harm. In fact, the losses at first were insignificant.

The night was perfectly quiet. The correspondent spent the night of the 24th in the village of Sinitin, directly behind the Russian positions. Opening Of The Battle. The real battle opened the next morning. The first gun was fired at seven o'clock, and thereafter the roar of artillery did not cease for an instant till 12:30 in the evening.

The site of the battle was about three miles south of Tat-che-kiao and two miles east of railroad. The sea was plainly discernible from the heights overlooking the battlefield. But nothing occurred in that direction. The Russian positions fronted south, with a slight inclination eastward. About two artillery corps were engaged.

The correspondent was able to follow only the experience of Gen. Zaroubieff's corps, and so confines himself to recording the incidents of this portion of the Russian troops. Zaroubieff's corps occupied a position on two hills, of which the larger was crowned by the summit. The commander and his staff stationed themselves on the highest point, the centre one, whence they had an uninterrupted view of the surrounding country.

It was essentially an artillery battle, but it was remarkable and even unaccountable that during the thirteen hours it lasted the Russians could not make out a single Japanese soldier, even with the most powerful glasses. From the position occupied by Gen. Zaroubieff's troops not a single rifle shot was fired, but the gunners on both sides worked like madmen. The air was split and torn by the deafening reports of the guns, the dull booming of the distant shots furrowing a background of deep hiss for the vicious, hissing, driving messengers of death—exploding about the Russians. White puffs of smoke from the exploding shrapnel shells formed clouds overhead, into which were thrown fountains of dust and sand when the shells burst, the ground upon impact, showering bullets and splinters around.

Hill Literally Aflame. The Japanese fire was at first concentrated upon the eastward hill, held by a small force of Russians, and by eleven o'clock this part of the position was literally aflame, enough to try the courage of the bravest soldier. The men threw themselves down, with their faces to the ground, so soon as they heard the hiss of the approaching shells, which, on striking, dug deep into the earth, whence the miniature spotting fire looked like miniature volcanoes. When this spectacle of savage splendor had lasted four or five hours one after another of the Russian positions became untenable.

In the meantime the gunners serving the Russian batteries behind the hills redoubled their energies and the Japanese were evidently nonplussed by the fierceness of the fire from the unlooked-for batteries. They directed their attention to the Russian right, showing projectiles on a small hill which was quite unoccupied. Then the Japanese shifted their fire to the Russian centre, but not a single man was withdrawn therefrom.

PLAYED BALL

The Black Watch Made a Really Good Score—Mr. Feuchen Is Not Selling or Buying Yachts.

In an interesting game of ball played at the cricket field Saturday afternoon the Black Watch team defeated the Artillery by a score of 5 to 1. The Artillery failed to score before the ninth, when, with two men out and two strikes on the batter, the latter made a safe hit. In the slump which followed the Artillery got three men on bases and it looked for a time as if they might win out. Alfie Pierce, however, saved the day for his team by making a beautiful running catch of a right-field drive.

The last four innings of the postponed game between the boat and shoe men and the Portsmouth Pirates was played Monday afternoon at the cricket field. The Portsmouth men proved too strong for their opponents on this occasion also, and defeated them by the score 5 to 3. The teams were practically the same as at the last game, although the locals were without a couple of their regular men.

Denies The Report. Toronto News. Somebody has been buying the Ironquoit, for A. G. Feuchen, who only got back to the city yesterday, was annoyed to find how enterprising he himself had been on his behalf, as he himself had no intention of buying the one yacht or selling the other. "I don't know anything at all about it," he told a News reporter this morning. "The report is false indeed, utterly absurd," Mr. Feuchen has been with the yachtmen down at Kingston. "We had a great time," he says.

Sporting Notes. Detroit has secured Third Baseman Coughlin from Washington. Left-hand pitchers have been most effective against Montreal this season. Vinaceous, a pitcher, is a good hitter and base runner, but he is weak in throwing. Outfielder Jimmy Hannivan, formerly with Toronto, has been purchased by Toledo from the Salt Lake City club. Jersey City has secured a good infielder in Stankard, of Holy Cross College, Stankard was with Pittsburgh, and is probably farmed.

Catcher Beville, of the New York Americans, who was farmed to Providence until President Powers intervened, has been signed by Detroit. Hickman, the Providence second baseman, is the smallest player in the eastern. He is even smaller than Miller, who was formerly with Toronto. Beville, too, has some ball playing ability. The Philadelphia correspondent of Sporting Life says of Louis Bruce: "Bruce is available as a pinch hitter and all round substitute, but apparently not quite the real thing either as an outfielder or a pitcher."

"Bobby" Walthour, of Atlanta, defeated Jimmy Moran, of Chelsea, Mass., in a twenty-mile straightaway race at Birmingham, Ala., Times, 28-32. Walthour, it is understood, will leave next Monday for Europe. The Vancouver Lacrosse club have decided to have a try for the Minto cup. A challenge will be forwarded as soon as last year's British Columbia championship has been decided, and the Vancouver twelve will come east in the autumn. T. F. Martin, who won the lawn tennis championship of Manitoba, comes from Ireland. Under the auspices of the Chiswick association Mr. Martin has played with his brother at Wimbledon for the championship of England, meeting such men as the Doherty brothers.

James J. Corbett, a former heavy-weight pugilist champion, has decided to re-enter the ring. "Pompadour" Jim's opponent will be "Philadelphick" O'Brien. They met at the Criticism hotel recently, and discussed details for a six round bout to take place in Philadelphia in September. Articles of agreement will be signed next week. Corbett has been quietly training at Bayshore, L.I., for several months, having in view a match with Nelson, who was defeated by O'Brien. He was informed of the proposed match between Corbett and O'Brien he said he would challenge the winner. In one of the fiercest battles ever witnessed in San Francisco, "Batting" Nelson, of Chicago, defeated Eddie Hanlon, of San Francisco, the end coming in the nineteenth round. From the time of the ringing of the signal for the commencement of the fight, the youngsters began mixing matters in the liveliest manner. Hanlon fought in his usual fashion, but the Chicago lad early penetrated the guard of the Californian, who bore several facial marks before the tenth round, testifying to the accuracy and force of his opponent's blows. It was almost an even thing until the fourteenth round, when the boys fighting fiercely. In the nineteenth Hanlon was at the mercy of his opponent and the fight was stopped and the decision awarded to Nelson.

Dyspepsia in its worst forms will yield to use of Carter's Little Liver Pills. They not only relieve present distress but strengthen the stomach and digestive apparatus. The privy council has decided the appeal of members of the old Free church who disapproved of union with the United Presbyterian church of Scotland in favor of the former.

Mabel Rice A Bride. Special to the Whig. Aug. 2.—At the Church of St. Thomas the Apostle, to-day, Miss Mabel Rice, a well-known actress, became the bride of Michael P. White, of this city. The bride is the daughter of the late "Dan" Rice, who was a famous old-time circus clown. The past season she was a member of "The Yankee Consul" company.
