Pandora Range

Managed Like an Engine. One-third of a housekeeper's life is spent in her kitchen. One-half the labor of housekeeping is at the cook stove. Your range can double or halve the cooking slavery of housekeeping. A poor range adds worry as well as work, and worry multiplies the housekeeper's care. Get a range that reduces the work and eliminates the worry. The Pandora Range is as easily and accurately managed as an engine—it responds to the touch as quickly and certainly as the huge engine obeys the hand of the engineer. The Pandora Range saves worry, and because worry kills, it prolongs life. Sold by enterprising dealers everywhere. Write for booklet.

A GREAT BATTLE

RUSSIANS UTTERLY ROUTED AT LIAO YANG.

Japs Drove Them Across The Tai-tse River—Twirl Fo Spring Before Kourapatkin Can Re-Organize—One Of The Great Battles Of Modern Times.

London, Sept. 5.—The great battle of Liao Yang, which lasted for over a week, ended Saturday night, and the Japanese are victorious all along the line. Gen. Kourapatkin on Saturday morning abandoned Liao Yang, burned the stores and blew up the magazines on which his men depended for supplies. He then crossed the Tai-tse river and gathered the remains of his army at the Yentai collieries, ten miles north of Liao Yang, and connected with the Manchurian railway by a branch line. Here he was rejoined by Gen. Stakelberg, who, with 25,000 men, had been holding back Oku on the southwest front, and was believed to have been cut off.

The retreat was almost a rout. On Friday Gen. Orlolf's corps of European troops had been thrown out to the east, north of the Tai-tse river, to hold back Kuroki and prevent the cutting of the railway. The Japanese crept forward under cover of the long corn, and opened fire at almost point-blank range. The Russians fled panic-stricken and suffered fearful losses, one regiment alone losing 1,500 killed and wounded. As the regimental strength is 4,000, and there must have been serious losses before the casualties can not have been less than fifty per cent. The despatches of Oyama, admit "very heavy losses." Kourapatkin thinks the Japanese have lost more men than he has, but that he can have no proof for the Japanese hold all the ground fought over. A moderate estimate of the number who have fallen in the week's carnage would be from 30,000 to 35,000 on each side, of whom one in five, or over 12,000 would be killed outright. Liao Yang is the greatest battle of the war, modern times, alike in the number engaged and in the losses suffered. The Japanese bayonet charges against entrenched positions must have been among the costliest things in modern war.

Sunday's despatches indicated that the Japanese had contented themselves with sniping the Russian rear-guard. Kourapatkin may be able to withdraw his army to Mukden without another great disaster. He was only eighteen miles from Mukden last night. It is doubtful whether he will make a stand there, but he can have very little ammunition and still less food for his men. There are no mountains on which to take up a position, and above all there is no heart in his men, who have, since the crossing of the Yalou, been engaged in a long and fruitless struggle. Kourapatkin has telegraphed for another army corps. He will need at least six months in which to reorganize at Harbin for another forward movement. It will therefore be April of next year before the Russians are again in a position to challenge Oyama's hold of Manchuria.

Want The Limit.

Tokio, Sept. 4.—The reports received indicate that the soldiers of both armies went to the limit of human endurance in the fighting. They suffered terribly, as it was impossible to supply them constantly with food and water.

The most unpleasant reminiscence of the fighting is the sound of the enemy's machine gun. No wonder Russia makes a military secret of its working. Its effectiveness is beyond imagination. It is marvellously accurate in aim, and astonishingly great in range, besides having a firing capacity of 400 shots a minute. It requires courage to face this gun. It sends forth a succession of peculiar clanging sounds which produce the most unpleasant effect on the mind.

Squadron Shells Japs.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 5.—Advice from Port Arthur, announce that Admiral Oukhtomsky's squadron went out August 29th, and shelled the Japanese positions, including the battleships Perovskiy and Retvizan, cruisers Beyan and Pallada. The vessels returned safely. The Japanese are bombarding the fortress daily and nightly, but are not causing serious damage, the inhabitants seeking refuge in the bomb-proof.

Surprised The Russians.

Chfoo, Sept. 5.—On the night of August 29th, the Japanese surprised the worn-out Russians near Palichwang and inflicted severe losses; the Japanese occupied their position. The next morning the Japanese moving from their new vantage ground in heavy force, desperately assaulted Palichwang, and an adjoining fort repeatedly until 2 p.m., when they retired, losing over 1,000 men. Finding those forts impregnable, the next morning the Japanese hurled themselves against another fort near Palichwang. By hand-to-hand fighting they succeeded in driving out the Russians and occupying their positions. Artillery was brought up and desperate efforts made to make the position secure, but after enduring for seven hours artillery fire from other forts, the Japanese retired. They rendered the position useless to the Russians, and it is now unoccupied.

Canteen Was Helpful.

Washington, Sept. 5.—Brigadier General Lee, commanding the department of Texas, in his annual report, says: "While almost everything possible has been done for the comfort of the soldier, the improvement of the rations, establishment of laboriously equipped exchanges, gymnasiums, amusement rooms, etc., the desertions continue without material abatement. The effect of the abolition of the canteen, and the promotion of laborious and orderly, all tending directly to induce desertions."

MR GLIDDEN'S TOUR

Will Auto At 30 Miles An Hour Over C.P.R.

Montreal, Sept. 6.—With special wheels fitted to his machine, Charles J. Glidden, of Boston, will speed his automobile over the Canadian railway track from Port Arthur, North Dakota, to Vancouver. He will probably be at Port Arthur on September 6th, and from there on a Canadian Pacific railway conductor will take him in charge, and his automobile will be given a train number, and handled by the train despatcher, just as if it were a special.

Before Mr. Glidden received permission from the Canadian Pacific railway to use the company's track he had to agree that he would place himself in charge of one of the Canadian Pacific railway conductors, and obey his orders, both as to speed and right of way. Mrs. Glidden will accompany her husband, and they will have a chauffeur. All runs are to be made by daylight, and it is expected that at least a speed of thirty miles an hour will be maintained from Port Arthur through to Vancouver.

Shot Dead By His Sweetheart's Body.

Rotterdam, Sept. 3.—A sensation has been created in the town of Gouda, says the "Weekblad voor Nederland," by the remarkable death of two lovers.

The girl thereupon refused to marry Visser, and openly declared her intention to commit suicide. Her parents did not take her threats seriously, but four days ago they discovered her lying senseless on the floor of her bedroom with an empty bottle of chloroform by her side.

Drinker's Will Set Aside.

London, Sept. 5.—A remarkable will case at Edinburgh Saturday, resulted in a husband being deprived of a fortune of £30,000, left by his wife. During her two years' marriage, Mrs. McLean was alleged to have drunk 1,140 bottles of liquor—champagne, brandy, whiskey and wine. The will was set aside on the petition of her brother, who said that when his sister married Mr. McLean, who had no means, she was not addicted to drink. Her husband, however, gave her every facility for satisfying the craving that he might secure her money. Mrs. McLean's death in 1902 at the age of seventy-nine was caused by over-indulgence, into which she was alleged to be at the time and it was alleged that she was of unsound mind. The jury found that the will was procured by Mr. McLean from his wife by circumvention, and set it aside.

New York, Sept. 5.—Mrs. Jennie Walk, wife of a restaurant keeper of Harlem, has received news that she is heir to twenty millions of dollars through the death of a brother, a South African "diamond king." The information came in a letter from Durban, Natal.

Bayonet Fighting Is Now Regular Exercise In The Army.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure the local trouble, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only reliable cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and cures all catarrhs of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio.
