BORDEN AND THE "ROUTERS." The Montreal Herald gives currency to a most unusual experience. On Friday evening Mr. Borden spoke in anticipation of the meeting, and in recognition of the effect of cheers, an effort was made to secure a body of students who would act as "routers," that is enthusiasm pumps, by giving catching cries and startling waves of applause at all fitting moments.

THE DISCOVERY WAS MADE BY THOSE who were marshalling the forces for the football match on Saturday afternoon between McGill and Queen's clubs. One of the second year medical students, for Borden and the conservative cause, offered to furnish cabs for a procession around the city during the afternoon, their refreshments at the Place Victoria, and after attending the meeting in the Monument National in the evening and supplying applause at the proper times, an honorarium of $1.50 each. One hundred and fifty colleagues were called for in order that there would be no doubt as to the spontaneity and fervor of the chieftain's welcome.

THE HERALD SAYS THAT AT FIRST VOLUNTEERS offered readily enough, some for the wages offered but the majority for the fun the affair promised. But when the offer was considered the student body revolted at the idea.

AFTER HEWITT. MYSTERIOUS CASE DEVELOPED AT PEMBROKE

Inspector Murray Engaged in Studying the Disappearance of William Hewitt. Remfew, Oct. 17.—Inspector John Murray, of the attorney-general's department, has left for Pembroke to investigate the circumstances regarding the mysterious disappearance of William Hewitt during the latter days of August.

ON AUGUST 29th his upturned canoe was found floating in the river nearby and this led to the impression that the owner had been drowned. However, his father, who resides at Port Arthur, considered the circumstances suspicious and communicated with the authorities at Pembroke.

WHEN HE LEFT HOME HEWITT had on his person about $20, a gold watch and some jewelry. It is feared that he has met with foul play, and the neighborhood is greatly aroused over the disappearance.

The Source of Health.

Strength and Vitality is the Food System. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. Ensures Perfect Digestion and Assimilation.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

It matters little how much food you eat so long as the digestive system is not in condition to convert it into blood and nerve force.

When the nervous energy is consumed by disease or by excessive mental or physical exertion the nerves and muscles which control digestion are unable to do their work and the food is allowed to ferment and become a burden instead of a benefit to the system.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is the most rational treatment for Indigestion and Dyspepsia that was ever conceived.

By forming new blood and creating new nerve force it strengthens and invigorates the nerves and muscles which control the flow of gastric juices and the contracting motion of the stomach which is necessary to digestion.
