The following is the story of Captain Henry Somerset:

"On October 21st, the first division of the Horn's fleet fishing grounds, on the west coast of Newfoundland, in the forenoon five large Russian ships passed in the evening nine more. North of us was a large torpedo boat and a half an hour later a Russian submarine. Towards 9:30 the freighter approached us, drawing the fire upon itself. In the light of the reflector we observed shells striking close to this steamer. We then observed another reflector southward, and shells bursting near the ship, which was firing on us. We remained unhurt. After 11 o'clock there were no further shells."

EAST HASTINGS' NOMINATION

Derecho, Liberal, And Northrup, Conservative.

Special to the Whig.

Nominations for member for the House of Commons for the riding of East Hastings, was held at Tweed on Thursday, the 27th.

George E. Brevin, barrister, Deseronto, was nominated as the liberal candidate, and F. B. Northrup, barrister, Belleville, as the conservative candidate. A joint meeting was held in the opera house beginning at 8:30 p.m. Mr. Northrup spoke first, and received a good hearing. He dwelt principally upon the broken promises of the liberal candidate, and made a strong appeal to stir up the rate payers by stating that the electors of Quebec under the new franchise law could vote eight or ten times while the Ontario elector had only one vote.

Mr. Derecho, in his reply, fully answered all his arguments and explained the franchise law. He said the government had kept the franchise law of each province, and showed that a liberal in Quebec had no advantage over a conservative there any more than he had in Ontario, and accused Mr. Northrup of attempting to divide the rate payers by unfairly stating the facts.

Mr. Derecho was given a good reception and was followed by Mr. Northrup, who got so tangled up in his argument about the preference that Mr. Northrup had to tell him to get out of the hall. The Grand Jury, which he had repeatedly for word about the transcontinental road, Mr. Russell, M.P.P. for East Hastings, wound up the meeting in an able speech of fifteen minutes, this being the time allowed him. Mr. Derecho is gaining ground every day, and even the Tories now concede that he may be elected.

Female Employment In Mills.

J. W. Hocking, assistant sanitary inspector of Toronto, in a paper on "The Physical Feterioration of Women," with many causes of physical defects and infirmities, speaking plainly about female employment in mills. He adds the following significant sentence: "In Burnley, I think we have a fair sample of men who don't, or won't work so long as they can get a woman to keep them, and I venture to say that marriage is out of the question in many cases. But women in many other respects, are far worse than the men for being dirty, gossiping, careless, and slothful in the slum districts and, in my opinion, causing the men to frequent the public houses through the home influence, and also causing a large amount of poverty, sickness and death as a result."

A FALSE ALARM.

The Police Would Like To Catch Offenders.

Some persons or persons with a very questionable sense of humor pulled the alarm at box No. 26, the corner of William and Bagot streets, about half past twelve this morning. The brigade responded in good time, only to find their services not required. This is the third time within the past month or so that the same box has been tampered with, and the police authorities swear vengeance. If the guilty party falls within the clutches of the law, he will probably find that his sentence savors more of justice than mercy.
