Mrs. Deacon was the daughter, of Dr. Ferris, surgeon of the British army, and was born in the Isle of Man, sixty-four years ago. For some time she kept house for her father when he was quartered in India, and many years ago came to Canada to keep house for her brother, Charles Ferris, who had come to Canada to settle on Lemoine's Point, the pro-perty left him by his aunt, Mrs. Le-moine. Here she met her husband, who lived but six weeks after their marriage. Since that time Mrs, Deacon has lived principally in Kingston, where she endeared herself to young and old by her kindliness of disposition, her constant thoughtfulness for others, and her cheery ways. She was a member of St. George's cathedral, and a great church worker, and auxiliary momen. She was the possessor of a woman. She was the possessor of a rich contralto voice, which she was ever ready to use for the delight her friends, or for the benefit of charity. In his sermon at the cathedral yesterday, Dean Smith made a feeling reference to ther life's work, and at evensong, Chopin's funeral march was played as a voluntary.
