DEATHS AT BLOOMFIELD.

A Young Man Fell Off Chute And Broke His Back.

Bloomfield, Nov. 8 .- On Sunday last Elmira Demill, relict of the late Peter bemill, of Northport, died at the some of Andrew Porland, at the adcanced age of eighty-four years. On hursday, Penjamin Storey, who has peen sick for many months, died at he age of seventy-seven years. De cased was a highly respected farmer and gentleman. His death is mourned by a widow, two sons and three laughters. The funeral was hald on riday from his late home to Glenwood cemetery, Picton.

The community was shocked on uesday evening, when it was learned hat Dennis Roundell, while assisting a building a hay chute on the outide of Marshall Burr's barn, fell a listance of thirty feet, breaking his back. Tender hands came to his assistance and bore him home, where verything was done to make his last noments comfortable and to fan the spark of life that yet existed, but it gradually ebbed away the following orenoon, when he was surrounded by is grief-stricken relatives. Aboutourteen months previous to this when his same barn was building, three carpenters fell from the roof and one. Walter Sharp, was killed while young coundell, who was one of them, escaped with a few injuries. The deensed young man, who was eighteen cars of age, was very popular with ill who knew him, and the whole ommunity extend their sincere symoathy to the sorrowing family. The uneral on Friday was largely attendd, and the tribute of flowers placed on his casket spoke the esteem in which he was held. The remains were nterred in 'the Friends' burying round. He is survived by a father, wo brothers and three sisters. On Friday night Mrs. Shove Barker, while not enjoying the best of health, cas taken with acute indigestion and efore a doctor could be summoned eath had claimed another victim. he deceased whose maiden name was ralick, was a highly respected lady and her presen e will be missed in the ommunity. the leaves a husband,
