He had hardly relieved himself of this deliverance than the Quebec government asked for and secured a dissolution of the local legislature. At once the conservative leaders got together and Hon. Mr. Flynn was authorized to protest against the proeeding, the gross attempt to identify the local administration with the cause of Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

"Before this audacious attempt to solidify the politics of Ottawa," said Mr. Flynn, "with those of Quebec, to transform the legislature of Quebec, nto a mere adjunct of the parliament of Ottawa," the opposition stands appalled. It has decided that "it cannot lend itself to the Parent government's scheme, neither can it render tself an accomplice in consenting to be the victim of this attempt by participating in the contest."

What of the extension of the plant It cannot be done without an appeal to the electors for funds. Some of the people, and especially those up town, desire gas, some of them desire ele tric light, and they cannot get either until the mains and feed wires have been taken over new territory. Th gas is preferred as prices now go, bu the consumption may be evenly vided between it and electricity when the selling rates of the latter have been reduced, and the committee pects to make a recommendation along this line early in the new year. The information to hand in regar to the new utilities which the council has undertaken to operate in behalf of the people, is limited, and necessari so, because the time during which the council has owned and controlled the plants, is limited. It is enough, how ever, to satisfy the ratepayers that they have made an investment which ses well, which will give to a better and a cheaper and more

Married At Sydenham. A very quiet wedding took place of Wednesday afternoon, October 26th, at the bride's home, at Sydenham, when Miss Rossie G., only daughter of the late Lyman Pixley, was married to James Cecil Scott, Milburn. Miss Eva the day after Togo started operations. Pearl Scott, sister of the groom; and Bert Vankolkenburg, cousin of the ride, assisted. The bride was dressed in cream crepe de chine with chiffor rimming, and a pretty picture hat of white chiffon, with an ostrich feather, completed a most becoming costume. Her travelling suit was of blue ladies' cloth. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Brown, of Sydenham, a supper was given at the bride's home Kingston, and the next evening returned to Mr. and Mrs. Henry Scott's, with in Canada are trying to look up parents of the groom, where a reception was held, the young couple were remembered by many handsome and costly presents.
