Sacredness Of The Ballot. The Kingston correspondent of the NEVER NEGLECT Presbyterian says very truly: campaign of education on the sacred ness of the ballot is very much need neard his astory, took his name and sons for their course,—Montreal Herden argues a high degree of intelligence and self-respect-higher, without loubt, than generally prevails. "the people is king," it must be instructed, high-minded people if kingship is to be exercised nobly kept incorruptible. Our franchise too wide, and clearly and far in vance of the views and responsibiliti of citizenship which prevail in many quarters. Some education in firection might very properly be dertaken at reasonable intervals the churches. Probably the corrup purchasable crowd do not much about the inside of church Bible, and are beyond the reach the pulpit, but many of those respon-sible for the way in which all politi cal campaigns are managed are church people, and an appeal for clean work ought not to be wholly lost on them. Where 'the people is king' the traffic in buying and selling votes is too alous, too infamous for and yet at every street corner practice is freely talked about jest and levity, and no one politica party has a monopoly of the shame.

Despite the fact that a registration have dissolution and a general election for the province, it will be necessary for a fresh registration to be taken.

EVERY-DAY ILLS.

A ould is one of the everyday ills of life. People of all ages, in summer and in winter, are liable to catch cold, and a cold is always are liable to catch cold, and a cold is always dangerous, because a cold is but the beginning of catarrh of some internal organ—head, lungs, stomach or pelvic organs. Any remedy that will cure a cold should cure the many effects of a cold. That's why Smith's Triple Cure is so popular, why people are so enthusiastic after experiencing its wonderful curative power. Smith's Triple Cure promptly cures colds and catarrh wherever located, because it acts directly on the depressed nerve centres, giving strength and vigor to tired nerves, removing the congestion of the circulation and imparting renewed vitality to the mucous membranes.

Picture to yourself the horsest of branchies Picture to yourself the horrors of bronchial catarrh—the terrible cough, disgusting expectoration, wheezy breath and loss of strength, or the tortures of female catarrh—the swollen bowels, shooting pains, offensive discharges, displacements and burning distress, and then realize, if you can, how thankful these sufferers are for Smith's Triple Cure which has delivered them out of their troubles. Is it any ers are for Smith's Triple Cure which has delivered them out of their troubles. Is it any wonder that Smith's Triple Cure is rapidly displacing all other catarrh treatments in hospitals and sanitariums and is prescribed by the medical profession generally? It meets a want felt for centuries, yet felt now in this strenuous life of ours as never before. Smith's Triple Cure cures catarrh sufferers of all ages, makes the sick well and the weak strong; it builds up bealthy digestion, makes strong perves and healthy digestion, makes strong nerves and enriches the blood. That's why all the world is praising it, why its magical curative power is talked about in the homes and on the streets.

Smith's Triple Cure consists of four separate preparations, three remedies taken internally acting on the mucous membranes, stomach, liver and directive overses the state of the streets.
