evening, gave the large crowd of spectators as good an exhibition of hockey as is shown in many sche-duled games. The seniors were all without Pennock, in goal, Clarke at cover-point and Mahood and Templeton. The teams lined up against each other, the senior forward line playing against the senior defence. Walsh and Richardson are, if possible, faster than ever, while Williams and Bruce Sutherland look good enough to make the fastest quartette that ever work the fastest quartette that ever wore the colors of old Queen's. On the de-fence Eric Sutherland is displaying ex-cellent form, and never fails to break up a concerted rush, leaving the puck to the tender mercy of his side part-ner, Jim Macdonnell, who is without playing the game. minion government was granting pardons to a number of life prisoners in various Canadian penitentiaries, it would have released a man named John Esterbee, who has served twenty-six years in penitentiary here for the murder of his brother. Esterbee was convicted at St. Catharines in 1878 upon circumstantial evidence, but there seems to be no doubt that he committed the crime. He was then only twenty years of age, and was so excited over religion that he became a fanatic. While in a religious frenzy it was concluded that he committed the awful deed, which, for more than quarter of a century, has kept him within prison walls. To few would the memory of crime now be retained However, some friends have not forgotten him, and several times have his petitioned the minister of justice for candidates on polling day.
