Lying To No Purpose. The villification of Mr. Ross during the present campaign has rarely been equalled in intensity of bitterness and maliciousness. If he is such a man as he is represented in the oppos tion press, he is not only unfit to be at the head of the government, but is not fit to be anywhere outside of prison. Everybody, even his detractors, know that the bulk of what is charged and insinuated against him is untrue. - Hamilton Herald.

* s nothing new. There always have been men anxious to keep a party in power, and others equally anxious to put a party in power, for their own personal gain; they will spend own money to "do it, because they hope to gain something; they will sin for it because they hope to profit it. And there are just as many these men working for one party for the other.

But the government has never er lorsed these men. It has never passed laws for their punishment; it has facilitated the work of the courts for their trial and sentence. The liberal government and the liberal party alike have condemned political wrong-doing, whether among its supporters or its opponents.
