Told in the Twilight

The Grand Opera House, and just give a hint to the management that if they would be so awfully good as to unlock the big doors, so that opening them would be easy, they'd bring a great deal of comfort to those feminine patrons. "All through 'Wang,'" said one lady, "I sat making and unmaking my mind what I'd do in case of fire. 'I didn't,'" said another, "I just made up my mind I'd sit quiet, and be simply burned, rather than be trampled on too." A third woman said that while she didn't feel quite so nervous as all that about it, nevertheless she often felt uneasy when in the middle of a large audience, and would feel more comfortable if the wide doors were free to open.

A memorial window is to be erected at Trinity College School, Port Hope, to the memory of the pupils of the school who died in the South African war. Lieut. W. Osborne, and another, J. Kerr Osborne, who fell at Spion Kop, and Sergt. Ewart, who died of fever at Waterval Onder, Transvaal, are two well-known Toronto men, who attended Trinity College School.

Among those invited to dinner at "Government House," Ottawa, on Tuesday night were: The Right Hon. Sir Richard Cartwright and Lady Cartwright and Miss Cartwright. Lord Dundonald, while shooting in Ireland, was entertained at luncheon by Colonel Stewart Bruce, of "The Lodge," Toome Bridge.

HE LOVED THE THEATRE.

Farces And Clowns Were Joy Of George III.
London.—Few men of any rank or time have ever derived so much unadmitted pleasure from the theatre as George III. In fact, in the words of a contemporary, it was "good as a play to hear the royal laughter and note the genuine enjoyment of his majesty." "He is said," Thackeray wrote, "not to have cared for Shakespeare or tragedy much. Farces and pantomimes were his joy, and especially when the clown swallowed a carrot or a string of sausages he would laugh so outrageously that the lovely princess by his side would have to say, 'My gracious monarch, do compose yourself!' And he continued to laugh long as the very smallest farces as if they were his own private joke."

The Fee And The Bride.
Philadelphia Record.
A young couple who desired to surround their nuptials with additional glimmer were married in the mayor's office a few days ago. After the mayor had pronounced the benediction the happy groom passed over a brand new five-dollar note as a fee. His honor graciously transferred the note to the bride, with the suggestion that it be applied to the start in housekeeping. The couple departed in such a blissful mood that the mayor was all smiles as he resumed his duties. Yesterday the bride called wearing a gloomy air.
"What's the trouble?" asked the mayor, who remembered her.
"I wish you had taken that $5.00 my husband wanted it back. I wouldn't give it to him, and we fought over it until now we're separated. If anybody else comes along to be married, and offers you money, take it. Maybe it will save trouble afterward."

New Surveyor-General.
St. John, N.B., Feb. 2.—It is understood that Wendell P. Jones, M.P.P. for Carleton, has been appointed surveyor-general of the province. The office has been vacant for a year, since Mr. Dunn became collector of St. John. The legislature will meet March 2nd.

The Almonte Times says the report that one of the town's citizens had fallen heir to a quarter of a million dollars is all a hoax.
"City Treasurer Ireland is confined to his home as a result of a sprained ankle, which he sustained last night. If it wasn't for the young man just out of college the rest of us wouldn't realize how little we really know."

THE HEALTH OF ONTARIO HAS BEEN SATISFACTORY IN 1904

Time Tuberculosis Received Notification—Contagion Should Be Avoided—$12,000 Fire—Want Full Value Of Sheep Worried By Dogs.

Special to the Whig.
Toronto, Feb. 2.—In his annual address to the provincial board of health yesterday, Dr. E. Kitchen, of St. George, said that in no year had there been better results from a health point of view, so far as Ontario was concerned, than 1904. The mortality from scarlet fever, which reached 529 in 1903, was only 129 in the year just closed, and from small-pox there had been only four deaths. From diphtheria the deaths were 438, compared with 478. Typhoid fever had a mortality of 397, in contrast with 298 in 1903. The number of deaths from tuberculosis increased from 2,072 to 2,113. Dr. Kitchen expressed the opinion that the time has arrived when this disease should receive notification, so that information and other assistance might be given to the family in order to avoid contagion, etc.

At the meeting of the York county council, this morning, a resolution was adopted petitioning the legislature to amend the law as to sheep killed and worried by dogs, so that sheep-owners may recover full value for losses so sustained, instead of two-thirds as at present. It was held that introduction of such an amendment would encourage agricultural societies to recommend general sheepshearing.

Fire, this morning, at three o'clock, did about $12,000 damage to the premises of the East & Co. umbrella, bag, trunk and case manufacturers, at 390 Yonge street. The fire started in the workshop in the rear of the building, and for a time it was feared the retail stores of the company, on Yonge street, were in danger.

The Canadian Press Association annual meeting opened this morning at the Hotel Trade Building with about 100 pressmen. The election of officers resulted as follows: A. McLeod, Sec. Windsor Record, president; A. H. U. Colquhoun, Toronto, vice-president; J. R. Bennett, Toronto, secretary; A. E. Redwin, Byth, treasurer. The second vice-president and executive council are to be elected. There are several nominations for these offices, and it is believed necessary.

The officers, this morning, were elected by acclamation. A committee was appointed to consider the proposed application for a Dominion charter.
A small strike of brick moulders took place in the works of Warden, King & Son, this morning, arising out of refusal of the union men to work on a skilled labourer. The union men had their pay deducted, it is stated, and refused to accept the cut. The union discussed the matter, last night, and hundreds of men were replaced the whole number, involving twenty-five men, walked out.

"RESCUED."
Florence (Germany).—Alb, how I once loved the ways of this world.
"I thought you to me as a girl.
On the ocean of sin I tossed and
Carried little where I should drift.
I was not alone, but with a crew,
I danced all the steps that ever we
Oh! They made it pleasant for me.
On the ship "Hedless" we sailed on
"Till I was the great ocean's breath,
I had not thought of the distance we'd come
"Till nearing the harbor of death.
At last I began to pine and regret,
That I ever had left the shore.
My faith with tears of repentance was wet,
I felt I was lost forever.
I begged of the captain to take me back,
Then he sneered and said, "You must think me slack."
You're here where you want you to be."
I found 'twas Satan who thus spoke to me.
In his eye was a lurid light,
How I trembled, prayed from his face to flee.
But his chains seemed to bind me tight.
Just then in the distance I saw a speck,
And closer and closer it came,
'Twas a ship with a beautiful crew on deck,
And "Salvation" was that ship's name.
I beckoned and shouted with one accord,
And called to its captain, "Save me!"
He gave me his hand, then pulled me on board,
And the role of the righteous gave free.
Then he turned to those who were left behind,
"O, come unto Me," he did plead,
But the coils still closer round them were
They heard him but never paid heed.
The Lord Jesus Christ was this captain brave,
And his face shone bright as the sun.
I thanked him for I was no more a slave,
In the coils of the evil one.
By the captain's aid I will bend to the
For I wish to leave him never.
He told me that I had been where,
Where I'll dwell with Him forever.

USEFUL CHURCH GUILD.
Work Of Ladies Of Fashionable Congregation.
Every Saturday morning a score of young women from St. Thomas' Church, N.Y., of which Rev. Dr. Ernest M. Stires is rector, go to the parish house, and spend the morning in the instruction of children of the neighborhood, nearly all of them German, with a sprinkling of Bohemians and other nationalities. The young women are devoted to their proteges, and attend with as much regularity as paid workers.
At one end of the long room are the beginners, just out of the day nursery. From there the little classes are grouped according to proficiency, until those in embroidery are reached at the farther end of the room. The children are eager to learn, but not easy to teach. For the most part they have had no home instruction. Moreover, it is Saturday, and they are often restless and uneasy. They want to learn to sew, too, in a lesson or two. But the young women are patient. They explain the same thing over and over. From time to time they encourage the tots with infinite tact and good humor to try, try again. In the early stages there is more ripping than sewing, but unmistakable progress is made. From time to time they show proficiency, the children are promoted, and when they have gone through all the classes they receive diplomas, and the ones who have shown special excellence get prizes. To complete the course the average child takes three years, but some are able to get through in two years.
The materials are supplied to the children, each pupil having a large envelope containing work and utensils and marked with her name. Some of the fine graduates of the school are now teachers.

Most of the 200 pupils are girls, but there is a class of small boys not at all ashamed to be doing "girls' work." All of the pupils are members of the big Sunday school, and on the parish house on Sunday mornings, with about 1,300 pupils. The women of St. Thomas' church not only support the sewing school, but carry on a very busy day nursery, kindergarden and a half dozen other relief enterprises. The cost of running the parish house is about $27,000 annually, all of which is given or pledged at a single collection.

Red Hot Pincers.
People who suffer from scintation, neuralgia, and all ailments of a rheumatic nature, say that if their muscles were being pulled to pieces, with red hot pincers, the suffering could be no greater. The nerves affected are in a state of acute inflammation, due to the presence of irritant poisons in the blood. Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure relieves these affections promptly and cures them permanently because it neutralizes and expels the poison from the system. It is a certain cure and relief is usually given by the first few doses. This is the preparation that cured William Tait, Brook street, and hundreds of others. In bottles, 50c., at Wada's Drug Store.

Daily In Chinese.
Toronto, Feb. 2.—Rev. Dr. Bond, editor of the Christian Guardian, has received a copy of the first issue of the Chentu Daily Paper, a newspaper which recently commenced operations in the city of Chentu. It is believed to be the only daily published in China west of Shanghai, and is published entirely in Chinese. Chentu is the capital city of the province of Szechwan, where the Canadian Methodist church has their missionary centre in China. The newspaper has, however, nothing to do with any Christian movement.

Afraid Of Strong Medicines.
Many people suffer for years from rheumatic pains, and prefer to do so rather than take the strong medicines usually given for rheumatism, not knowing that quick relief from pain may be had simply by applying Chamberlain's Pain Balm and without taking any medicine internally.
