

LINOLEUMS*MAJORITY IS 20
MR. PENSE GAINED THREE
BY RECOUNT.

M. Nairn & Co. of Kirkcaldy, Scotland, make the highest quality of Linoleums and we are the sole agents here. In stock we keep all the qualities suitable for

The Bath-room,
The Kitchen,
The Dining-room,
The Hall,

In two and four yard widths.

R. McFaul
Engines Carpet Warehouse.

LET ME HAVE YOUR SALE
And I will guarantee you satisfactory results. We don't hang, but perform the work. Nothing mentioned, but your best interests at stake.

KIRKRAY, The Auctioneers.

GRAND UNION HOTEL
Opposite Grand Central Station
New York
Encourage To And From Station Free.
Rooms from $1 per Day Up.

THOS. HILTON
306 Princess Street, Two Stars Hotel
Attorney's Carriage Shop.
Trunks, Trunks and trunks repaired.
Lodging and Room-rented.

PRICES MODERATE.

Mid-winter Carpet Sale
Midwinter regular $60, sale price $40.
Midwinter regular $45, sale price $25.
Midwinter regular $35, sale price $20.
Midwinter regular $25, sale price $15.
Midwinter regular $20, sale price $12.
Midwinter regular $15, sale price $10.

Mid-winter Furniture Sale
Midwinter regular $60, sale price $40.
Midwinter regular $45, sale price $25.
Midwinter regular $35, sale price $20.
Midwinter regular $25, sale price $15.
Midwinter regular $20, sale price $12.
Midwinter regular $15, sale price $10.

Mid-winter Curtain Sale

Curtains
reduced 20 p.c.
Velvet Curtains, 20 p.c.
Silk Curtains, 20 p.c.
Chiffon Curtains reduced 20 p.c.
Terry Cloth Curtains reduced 20 p.c.

This sale starts February 20th. We could not afford to run it longer. Yours

T. F. HARRISON CO.
Phone 96.

The Early Enquirer

Secures the

BARGAINS

—IN—

REAL ESTATE

Don't wait until you want to occupy a house before buying. Remember, it is necessary to give three months' notice in most cases to vacate or obtain possession.

Consult us early if you want to buy or rent.

McCANN'S &
Real Estate Agency.
51 Brock St.

of three to the majority of the government candidates.

The wild charges, that there was a division of votes, those ballots for McNaughton being cast only six-one, were denied by actual count of 4,651 ballots. McNaughton argued out only six-one, but which others did not see and Mr. Nickle conceded was a good note and was stated in the correspondence as admissions to statements one had a small "o" in McNaughton's ballot which did not indicate he had four minute dots on line of cross and one bullet had had no covering officer's initials, as he gave out two bulletins.

A more anticlimatic moment could not be imagined. The judge was surprised at the smoothness, due, assuredly, to a remarkably clear and intelligent deposit of votes. The attempts to allege irregular methods failed ignobly.

The two lists, pencilled ballots at No. 1 can be explained, since first voters had to use their own pencil, none having been provided.

INCIDENTS OF THE DAY.

Newspaper Paragraphs Picked Up By Reporters On Their Rounds.

Now snow.

Get out your shovels and keep your coats clean.

This has been a long cold winter. How are our roofs?

"It's come very smooth," Gilson's Red Cross Cough Syrup, 25c.

William Green, piano tuner. Orders received at McNaughton's book store.

Edward C. Scott, of the Ottawa Free Press, speaks Sunday in the city.

The winter sun and light committee meets-to-morrow afternoon at four o'clock.

Henry Compton, piano tuner, Cheltenham. Orders received at McNaughton's book store, Princess street.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Wheeler, Edisto, N.Y., left on Friday for Tammerville, after visiting his brother, C. S. Wheeler, University avenue.

The recent news shows that the election of January 25th was perfectly clean, so far as the deputy returning officers and the ballots are concerned.

With greasy dishes, pots and pans were washed this morning.

The Frontenac group was the first to meet in the town hall, Saturday, February 17th. W. Shee, Kingston, entertainer, Dr. Herald, P.H.C.E., and G. N. Brown, high organizer, will take part.

Great sale at Prentiss' Book St.

regular $15 and $20 savings, made-to-order, for $15 during this month. Please fit it and $13 trimmings. See his window.

The protest against Hon. Mr. Hart's decision to sit in court in the case of the "old boys" will go up the ghost of a workman's endeavour to prove his innocence. The same result is likely to come again in this trial.

A nice gift to mail to a relative or friend, the latest souvenir book, "Views of Kingston," containing nearly 100 views. Only 25c, at Ward's Drug Store.

G. H. Brown, Brockville, has secured a lucrative position with the Frontenac group, Kingston, and will travel throughout the whole of the north-eastern states of the union. He will commence his new duties about a month hence.

The Canadian, the monthly periodical which represents the sons of the dominion in New York, most creditably, gives attention to several Kingstonians.

Mr. Pense, lost, as rejected ballots, at poll and before the judge, seven ballots, and McNaughton lost two. On stroke of 12 o'clock on eve of election Pense and McNaughton had a set back of 100 votes each, and the former who polled, made 27 of a head.

Judge Madden discharged the charges of returning officers being partial by deciding they had erred on the side of caution. This is proven by an addi-

MAJORITY IS 20
MR. PENSE GAINED THREE
BY RECOUNT.

The Way Some Of The Ballots Were Marked—Over Zealous Electors Lost Their Votes By Making Identification Marks.

The amount in Kingston election time was reduced on Saturday afternoon at poll 22. Frontenac ward, Two rejected ballots for Pense, one marked in "T" compartments, and one showing a "set of" pencil marks were conceded to him, making him 20.

In poll 24, no change, no reported.

In poll 25 were four rejected ballots, one marked in "T" allowed for McNaughton, one with a stroke only in his compartment disallowed, and one with name "W. Watson" written upon it, which did not indicate he had four minute dots on line of cross and one bullet had had no covering officer's initials, as he gave out two bulletins.

A more anticlimatic moment could not be imagined. The judge was surprised at the smoothness, due, assuredly, to a remarkably clear and intelligent deposit of votes. The attempts to allege irregular methods failed ignobly.

The two lists, pencilled ballots at No. 1 can be explained, since first voters had to use their own pencil, none having been provided.

A NOBLER LIFE*SERMON PREACHED IN CONVENTION HALL.

By Rev. J. A. Macdonald, Toronto—Work of Man In Spirit Of His Master—Evangelist Sermon At Chalmers.

An old Convention Hall, Sunday afternoon, Rev. J. A. Macdonald, of Toronto, presided to a large congregation. His subject was "The Master's Call to The Slave Life," the text being in the Book of Mark from the words of Jesus to the Galileans.

"Come ye after Me and I will give you rest," said the Master.

In his opening sermon Mr. Macdonald said that he spoke of a man whose work was among the more arduous and tumults of the world. He explained the story of his trials and described the scene as simple yet strenuous with interest for all. What would it mean to him, he asked, if Jesus called us to follow Him? The audience was apparently the cause of all the trouble.

He said that the Master's life was a remarkable one, and that he spoke of a man whose work was among the more arduous and tumults of the world. He explained the story of his trials and described the scene as simple yet strenuous with interest for all. What would it mean to him, he asked, if Jesus called us to follow Him? The audience was apparently the cause of all the trouble.

He said that the Master's life was a remarkable one, and that he spoke of a man whose work was among the more arduous and tumults of the world. He explained the story of his trials and described the scene as simple yet strenuous with interest for all. What would it mean to him, he asked, if Jesus called us to follow Him? The audience was apparently the cause of all the trouble.

He said that the Master's life was a remarkable one, and that he spoke of a man whose work was among the more arduous and tumults of the world. He explained the story of his trials and described the scene as simple yet strenuous with interest for all. What would it mean to him, he asked, if Jesus called us to follow Him? The audience was apparently the cause of all the trouble.

He said that the Master's life was a remarkable one, and that he spoke of a man whose work was among the more arduous and tumults of the world. He explained the story of his trials and described the scene as simple yet strenuous with interest for all. What would it mean to him, he asked, if Jesus called us to follow Him? The audience was apparently the cause of all the trouble.

He said that the Master's life was a remarkable one, and that he spoke of a man whose work was among the more arduous and tumults of the world. He explained the story of his trials and described the scene as simple yet strenuous with interest for all. What would it mean to him, he asked, if Jesus called us to follow Him? The audience was apparently the cause of all the trouble.

He said that the Master's life was a remarkable one, and that he spoke of a man whose work was among the more arduous and tumults of the world. He explained the story of his trials and described the scene as simple yet strenuous with interest for all. What would it mean to him, he asked, if Jesus called us to follow Him? The audience was apparently the cause of all the trouble.

He said that the Master's life was a remarkable one, and that he spoke of a man whose work was among the more arduous and tumults of the world. He explained the story of his trials and described the scene as simple yet strenuous with interest for all. What would it mean to him, he asked, if Jesus called us to follow Him? The audience was apparently the cause of all the trouble.

He said that the Master's life was a remarkable one, and that he spoke of a man whose work was among the more arduous and tumults of the world. He explained the story of his trials and described the scene as simple yet strenuous with interest for all. What would it mean to him, he asked, if Jesus called us to follow Him? The audience was apparently the cause of all the trouble.

He said that the Master's life was a remarkable one, and that he spoke of a man whose work was among the more arduous and tumults of the world. He explained the story of his trials and described the scene as simple yet strenuous with interest for all. What would it mean to him, he asked, if Jesus called us to follow Him? The audience was apparently the cause of all the trouble.

He said that the Master's life was a remarkable one, and that he spoke of a man whose work was among the more arduous and tumults of the world. He explained the story of his trials and described the scene as simple yet strenuous with interest for all. What would it mean to him, he asked, if Jesus called us to follow Him? The audience was apparently the cause of all the trouble.

He said that the Master's life was a remarkable one, and that he spoke of a man whose work was among the more arduous and tumults of the world. He explained the story of his trials and described the scene as simple yet strenuous with interest for all. What would it mean to him, he asked, if Jesus called us to follow Him? The audience was apparently the cause of all the trouble.

He said that the Master's life was a remarkable one, and that he spoke of a man whose work was among the more arduous and tumults of the world. He explained the story of his trials and described the scene as simple yet strenuous with interest for all. What would it mean to him, he asked, if Jesus called us to follow Him? The audience was apparently the cause of all the trouble.

He said that the Master's life was a remarkable one, and that he spoke of a man whose work was among the more arduous and tumults of the world. He explained the story of his trials and described the scene as simple yet strenuous with interest for all. What would it mean to him, he asked, if Jesus called us to follow Him? The audience was apparently the cause of all the trouble.

He said that the Master's life was a remarkable one, and that he spoke of a man whose work was among the more arduous and tumults of the world. He explained the story of his trials and described the scene as simple yet strenuous with interest for all. What would it mean to him, he asked, if Jesus called us to follow Him? The audience was apparently the cause of all the trouble.

He said that the Master's life was a remarkable one, and that he spoke of a man whose work was among the more arduous and tumults of the world. He explained the story of his trials and described the scene as simple yet strenuous with interest for all. What would it mean to him, he asked, if Jesus called us to follow Him? The audience was apparently the cause of all the trouble.

He said that the Master's life was a remarkable one, and that he spoke of a man whose work was among the more arduous and tumults of the world. He explained the story of his trials and described the scene as simple yet strenuous with interest for all. What would it mean to him, he asked, if Jesus called us to follow Him? The audience was apparently the cause of all the trouble.

He said that the Master's life was a remarkable one, and that he spoke of a man whose work was among the more arduous and tumults of the world. He explained the story of his trials and described the scene as simple yet strenuous with interest for all. What would it mean to him, he asked, if Jesus called us to follow Him? The audience was apparently the cause of all the trouble.

He said that the Master's life was a remarkable one, and that he spoke of a man whose work was among the more arduous and tumults of the world. He explained the story of his trials and described the scene as simple yet strenuous with interest for all. What would it mean to him, he asked, if Jesus called us to follow Him? The audience was apparently the cause of all the trouble.

He said that the Master's life was a remarkable one, and that he spoke of a man whose work was among the more arduous and tumults of the world. He explained the story of his trials and described the scene as simple yet strenuous with interest for all. What would it mean to him, he asked, if Jesus called us to follow Him? The audience was apparently the cause of all the trouble.

He said that the Master's life was a remarkable one, and that he spoke of a man whose work was among the more arduous and tumults of the world. He explained the story of his trials and described the scene as simple yet strenuous with interest for all. What would it mean to him, he asked, if Jesus called us to follow Him? The audience was apparently the cause of all the trouble.

He said that the Master's life was a remarkable one, and that he spoke of a man whose work was among the more arduous and tumults of the world. He explained the story of his trials and described the scene as simple yet strenuous with interest for all. What would it mean to him, he asked, if Jesus called us to follow Him? The audience was apparently the cause of all the trouble.

He said that the Master's life was a remarkable one, and that he spoke of a man whose work was among the more arduous and tumults of the world. He explained the story of his trials and described the scene as simple yet strenuous with interest for all. What would it mean to him, he asked, if Jesus called us to follow Him? The audience was apparently the cause of all the trouble.

He said that the Master's life was a remarkable one, and that he spoke of a man whose work was among the more arduous and tumults of the world. He explained the story of his trials and described the scene as simple yet strenuous with interest for all. What would it mean to him, he asked, if Jesus called us to follow Him? The audience was apparently the cause of all the trouble.

He said that the Master's life was a remarkable one, and that he spoke of a man whose work was among the more arduous and tumults of the world. He explained the story of his trials and described the scene as simple yet strenuous with interest for all. What would it mean to him, he asked, if Jesus called us to follow Him? The audience was apparently the cause of all the trouble.

He said that the Master's life was a remarkable one, and that he spoke of a man whose work was among the more arduous and tumults of the world. He explained the story of his trials and described the scene as simple yet strenuous with interest for all. What would it mean to him, he asked, if Jesus called us to follow Him? The audience was apparently the cause of all the trouble.

He said that the Master's life was a remarkable one, and that he spoke of a man whose work was among the more arduous and tumults of the world. He explained the story of his trials and described the scene as simple yet strenuous with interest for all. What would it mean to him, he asked, if Jesus called us to follow Him? The audience was apparently the cause of all the trouble.

He said that the Master's life was a remarkable one, and that he spoke of a man whose work was among the more arduous and tumults of the world. He explained the story of his trials and described the scene as simple yet strenuous with interest for all. What would it mean to him, he asked, if Jesus called us to follow Him? The audience was apparently the cause of all the trouble.

He said that the Master's life was a remarkable one, and that he spoke of a man whose work was among the more arduous and tumults of the world. He explained the story of his trials and described the scene as simple yet strenuous with interest for all. What would it mean to him, he asked, if Jesus called us to follow Him? The audience was apparently the cause of all the trouble.

He said that the Master's life was a remarkable one, and that he spoke of a man whose work was among the more arduous and tumults of the world. He explained the story of his trials and described the scene as simple yet strenuous with interest for all. What would it mean to him, he asked, if Jesus called us to follow Him? The audience was apparently the cause of all the trouble.

He said that the Master's life was a remarkable one, and that he spoke of a man whose work was among the more arduous and tumults of the world. He explained the story of his trials and described the scene as simple yet strenuous with interest for all. What would it mean to him, he asked, if Jesus called us to follow Him? The audience was apparently the cause of all the trouble.

He said that the Master's life was a remarkable one, and that he spoke of a man whose work was among the more arduous and tumults of the world. He explained the story of his trials and described the scene as simple yet strenuous with interest for all. What would it mean to him, he asked, if Jesus called us to follow Him? The audience was apparently the cause of all the trouble.

He said that the Master's life was a remarkable one, and that he spoke of a man whose work was among the more ardu