FROZEN TO DEATH.

Very Pathetic Story Comes From North.

A pathetic story comes from Low township of the accidental death of a well-to-do farmer, James McCarthy. Mr. McCarthy, last Thursday, accom-panied by his fourteen-year-old son, miles distant to cut wood for next winter. While engaged in this occupation a large tree in falling became lodged in the branches of another. Mr. McCarthy endeavored unsuccessfully to fell this tree and finally had recourse to cutting the tree in which the fallen one had lodged. While engaged in this and without warning, the tree slipped and felt. He attempted to run clear of the branches, but was struck and pinned to the ground. His left arm and three ribs were broken, and he was rendered unconscious. His son, who slick new away 100 to $1,000 the richer." chopping the branches off the faller trees, ran to his father's assistance. but found that two large branches were across his body and that it would mean if one were cut the whole cil meeting does not convey to the weight of the tree would settle upon public, nor did it to aldermen, the him. He endeavored for some time to secure the tree so that it would not roll over while he cut off the branches, but without avail. He then hurried for assistance, but the nearest houses was over three wiles distance and the secure three wiles distance will be described as subterfuge. The report over three miles distant. Procuring the assistance of Arthur Fowler and his hired man, he hurried back to his father. But over two hours had been consumed in endeavoring to release the injured man and going for assist-
