'PHILADELPHIA, CORRUPT AND CONTENTED.'

Vice Ring Is On The Run—Mayor Weaver Cuts Loose From Gangsters And Opens War On Graft And Crime.

Philadelphia, Feb. 15.—Mayor John Weaver has decided that 'Philadelphia, Corrupt and Contented,' as Lincoln Steffens termed it in his eye-opening book, shall be reorganized. Yesterday he slashed mercilessly at the 'ring' that for generations has retained protection for vice and crime.

THINK IT OVER.

Something You Can See In Any Restaurant Or Cafe.

A physician puts the query: Have you ever noticed in any large restaurant at lunch or dinner time the large number of heavy, vigorous old men at the tables, men whose ages run from 60 to 90 years; many of them bald and all perhaps gray, but none of them feeble or senile?

Perhaps the spectacle is so common as to have escaped your observation or comment, but nevertheless it is an object lesson which means something.

If you will notice what these heavy old fellows are eating you will observe that they are not munching brain crackers nor gingerly picking their way through a menu card of new fangled health foods, on the contrary they seem to prefer a juicy roast of beef, a properly turned loin of mutton, and even the deadly broiled lobster is not altogether ignored.

The point of all this is that a vigorous old age depends on good digestion and plenty of wholesome food, and not upon dieting and an endeavor to live upon bran crackers.

There is a certain class of food cranks who seem to believe that meat, coffee, and many other good things are rank poisons, but these cadaverous, sickly-looking individuals are a walking condemnation of their own theories.

The matter is a nutshell is that if the stomach secretes the natural digestive juices in sufficient quantities any wholesome food will be promptly digested; if the stomach does not do so, and certain foods cause distress, one or two of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after each meal will remove all difficulty, because they supply just what every weak stomach lacks, pepsin, hydro-chloric acid, diastase, and mucus.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets do not act upon the bowels, and in fact are not strictly a medicine as they act almost entirely upon the food eaten, digesting it thoroughly, and thus giving a much-needed rest and giving an appetite for the next meal.

Of people who have tried out ten or twelve of Stuart's Tablets, knowing them to be perfectly safe to use at any time and also having found out by experience that they are a safeguard against indigestion, flatulence, and eating, as they have to, at all hours and all kinds of food, the travelling public for years have pinned their faith to Stuart's Tablets.

All druggists sell Stuart's Tablets in full-sized packages, and any druggist from Maine to California, if his opinion were asked will say that Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is the most powerful and successful remedy for any stomach trouble.

IN MIDST OF THUNDER.

Described By An English Banker.

When, in the midst of a violent thunderstorm, the sky upwards and watch those fiery tongues of flame darting hither and thither, and hear those detonating peals of crashing thunder, the thought perhaps crosses the mind that, in the distance, some Nature has ordained that those heavy rain-charged thunder clouds, notwithstanding the ponderous and tremendous load of water held in suspension by their electric and magnetic force, are still expending their energy in all that sound and fury. The mountaineer, however, occasionally experiences all the discomforts and even terrors of being immersed in those reservoirs of the skies, and of being surrounded by those booming thunders and flashing discharges of electricity.

Alpenstock in hand, and thrilled by the indescribable electricity and buoyant elation induced by the free and invigorating mountain air, and by the sublimity and the grandeur of the surroundings, we are ascending one of the mighty, towering giants of the Alps. Scarcely a man's hand, the horizon not larger than a man's hand, the deep and brilliant azure of the firmament is unbroken by vestige of cloud or vapour; and as we continue to ascend, the air grows cooler, and we find behind us those flower-bedecked slopes, gay with alpine roses, rock gentians and other floral gems, and approach the line where all is entombed beneath a pat of perpetual snow.

That insignificant cloud is rapidly expanding and that we shall probably soon be in the midst of a storm. Majestically the shadow of that threatening cloud sweeps over the valleys far beneath, and we are soon immersed in the darkness. Now, in the distance the thunder is booming, rolling ever nearer and nearer, ever louder and louder. Now it is on us, crashing and deafening roar at our very side, volley after volley of the artillery of the skies, sending the air as though the very foundations of the earth must tremble with it, and it will turn into confusion, a chaos of disorder and deafening uproar. And now to add to the bewilderment, the thunderer is perhaps crowned with a brilliant aureole—though the elements did not favour the writer with this saintly nimbus—caused by the diffused electricity of the cloud; a distinction which must give him the appearance of a messenger from some superior sphere.

But with a cry, "Excelsior," we hasten upwards and onwards, and soon emerge from this dismal storm-cloud, leaving it beneath us, though now, instead of a black, lurid gloom it is a dazzling ocean of rolling billows of the purest white, stretching out and out to the dim far-off remoteness of the circle of the earth.

And in like manner, too, we immerse in the sunless gloom of doubt and unbelief, when once by the aid of the Holy Spirit, we realize that the Son of God, as our Substitute, bore the retribution due to us, and is inviting us to come to Him for pardon and for life, emerge from the shadows of that darkness into the glorious light ever enjoyed by His children.

"Can you not stop?" for fear your glasses will fall off? Let us fit you with a pair that will be perfectly secure and comfortable. Chown's A special man's size of heaven is a pair where he won't be compelled to dig up the price of an Easter bonnet.

A Despondent Woman.

Life's Pleasures Not For Her Because of Illness And Secret Weakness.

It is hard to conceive of a sadder outlook than that of the pale, sickly woman. She is fed with ambition for work and pleasure, but through the depressing influence of some secret illness she is prevented from making her proper place in the ordinary affairs of life.

But the downcast woman need suffer no longer. There is a remedy—one that lifts the awful burden of suffering days and sleepless nights. This remedy is Ferrozone, which feeds the blood with the elements it has lost through insufficient nutrition. Ferrozone stimulates the nerves, and whether improved by overwork, disease or mental strain, the nervous system is quickly nourished back to a state of vigorous health. Ferrozone is, therefore, the ideal remedy for all kinds of female weakness and permanently cures those ill peculiar to womanhood.

The quickening uplifting influence of Ferrozone is unsurpassed. Mrs. Mary E. Cowan, the wife of a noted citizen of Hillsborough, says:

"If half the ailing women in the world would only use Ferrozone regularly they would be saved a great deal of sickness. Before using Ferrozone I was fatigued and tired out with the least exertion. I spent half my time in bed and was forever bothered with some trouble or another. After using a few boxes of Ferrozone I became more robust, my strength increased and the irregularities I formerly had have disappeared. Ferrozone is a grand medicine for women."

You really ought to use Ferrozone—it will do you so much good. Don't listen to the druggist who urges something just as good. No substitute compares with Ferrozone, which does not claim to be claimed for it. Price 20c. per box, or six for $2.50, at all dealers in medicine.

Social Tragedy

Women Who Brave Death for Social Honors.

In the midst of one of the most brilliant social functions of the season, a noted society woman started suddenly from her chair with a scream of agony and fell insensible to the floor.

A few hours later the distinguished physician told her anxious husband that she was suffering from an acute case of nervous prostration brought on by female trouble, and hinted at an operation. Fortunately a friend advised her to try

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

The result was that she escaped the surgeon's knife and to-day is a well woman.

The derangement of the delicate female organism sets every nerve in the body quivering with pain. Headaches, backaches, torturing bearing down pains and dragging sensations make women nervous and hysterical.

Mrs. T. E. Gillis, of Windsor, N. S., writes: DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—When I commenced to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was suffering with weakness and womb trouble, headaches, backaches, and that worn-out, tired feeling. I have only taken the Vegetable Compound a few short weeks, and it has made me well, strong and robust. I believe that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is without equal for female troubles.

Mrs. Laura Emmons, President Loyal Home Workers, Walkerville, Ont., writes: DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I am enjoying such good health that I feel it a duty to write and thank you for what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I suffered for more than five years with ovarian troubles, causing an unpleasant discharge and weakness which no amount of medicine, diet or exercise seemed to correct. Your Vegetable Compound however, reached the root of my trouble, cured me and made me strong, healthy and well. I want to say to every suffering woman, don't dally with medicines you know nothing about, but take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Mrs. Pinkham's advice is free to all. Her address is Lynn, Mass. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Cures Where Others Fail
