

Any good rubbers will keep a woman's feet dry

The "CANADIAN" RUBBERS,

will keep them dry—and shapely.

Bargains In Cutters!

Moving a few Cutters left, in order to clean out the stock, will sell at cost. If you are in need of a good cutter now is the time to buy and save money.

JAMES LATURNEY,
300 PRINCESS STREET.

TYPEWRITERS!

BOUGHT, SOLD, RENTED, REPAIRED.

All Makes, New and Second-hand

J. R. C. DOBBS & CO.,
171 Wellington St., Kingston

THE CHOICEST

And best assorted stock in the city. Everything in Wine and Ale.

Any brand of Scotch or Irish Whisky.

All the lines of Imported and Domestic Liquors.

JAS. McPARLAND
339 and 341 King St.
Phone 274.

A Pleasure to Show Our Stock of LUMBER, SHINGLES, FENCE POSTS

S. ANGLIN & CO.,
Foot of Wellington Street, Kingston.

INFORMATION WANTED.

REGARDING THE WHEREABOUTS of Mrs. Robt. Fawcett (nee Miss Johnson) of Georgetown, Ireland. Her husband, Robt. Fawcett, died at Portmouth, Kingston, Ontario, about 1854 or 1855. Name of present husband not known. Address, Mrs. John Cook, Gibraltar, Ont.

THOS. HILTON
304 Princess Street, Two Doors Below Laturney's Carriage Shop.

Trucks and Valises made and repaired. Broken Trucks re-wheeled. Locks and Keys fitted, etc.

GRAND UNION HOTEL
OPPOSITE GRAND CENTRAL STATION
GARRAGE TO AND FROM STATION, FREE.
ROOMS FROM 10c PER DAY UP.

Quality first means healthy food
Blue Ribbon Tea.

NEW YORK NEWS

HOMELESS GET SHELTER IN POST OFFICE.

Wave Of Crime Sweeping Over New York—Disinclination Of Republican Leaders To Investigate Gas Situation.

Special to the Whig.
New York, Feb. 13.—A stringent stock corporation law, based upon the English and the German acts, may be placed upon the statute books of the State of New York. A professor in the New York University, whose specialty is corporation law, is the author of the measure, and it has been approved by several civic organizations of Greater New York. It promises to be one of the most important bills to come before the legislature at this session. Publicity is the keynote of the bill, which would make a repetition of such corporate scandals as the shipbuilding trust impossible.

According to its terms, every newly organized corporation, combination or association of corporations that offers its shares for sale to the public shall issue a prospectus which shall show the names and addresses of the promoters, their compensation and the extent of the interest of the directors in the organization. The estimated amount of preliminary expenses, the consideration to be paid, and the date and names of any parties to any contract relating to a corporation must also be set forth. There is a provision which penalizes directors, promoters and incorporators for any misrepresentation, either directly in the prospectus or indirectly by the omission of information when such omission might tend to mislead the public. The bill is upon the lines of recommendations made by the United States Industrial Commission.

Advocates of a law that would prevent "wildcat" incorporation assert that New York and other states could not do better. They follow the English and German system. The English law requires that all the work of the promoter shall be done in the open, and that the intending purchaser of shares shall have full information as to the method by which the promoter has arrived at his conclusion regarding the value of the properties combined. It is required also that the properties by which the company shall be formed in the office of the public registrar of joint stock companies, where they can be examined by the public. Inaccuracy of statement is penalized.

The German law is so strict on the subject that the promoter, as he has been known in England, and as he is known at present in the United States, does not appear prominently in connection with the organization of industrial combinations. Under the German law all the profits of the promoter must be made a matter of public record. Stock watering is said to be practically unknown in Germany owing to the stringency of the law against over-capitalization.

In the present cold weather, a dozen or so of the homeless have been taking refuge every night in the post office, where the air is well warmed. Though showing the pinch of hunger and exposure, they seem generally to be of a better class than the hoboes who flock to the city lodging house. There is a sort of shabby dignity about their make-up. The wonder is when or where they sleep. They have to remain standing in the post office and dare not even doze on their feet for fear of the watermen. A few of the bolder ones make no bones about it that they are there for shelter. They look out of the windows and even gossip a little together. The greener and timider ones invent pathetic pretences for staying under cover. One man scans the lists of unclaimed letters for an hour at a time, though he cannot read them in the dim light unless he has the assistance of another has a soiled envelope in a crumpled sheet of paper and a pencil. He pretends all night to be writing a letter.

The wave of crime that is sweeping over New York general civic demoralization, police corruption and the falling off of attendance at the churches have convinced prominent clergy-men that the metropolis is in need of a religious awakening, and they have planned a series of revival meetings to be held during Lent in Madison Square Garden and the Carnegie Lyceum, on a scale which has never before been attempted in this country. Among the New York clergymen active in the movement are Doctor MacArthur, the Rev. Dr. Holloway, the Rev. Dr. Geo. Prentiss, and the Rev. James Hughes. It is announced that the services of every noted evangelist worker in the country is to be secured. From England and Scotland, too, Presbyterian and Baptist workers are coming to help reclaim New York from the slough in which the preachers say it has fallen.

A story explanatory of the evident disinclination of the republican leaders to order a legislative investigation of the gas situation in this city is going the rounds in political circles. Years ago, it is said, Governor Odell made a deal with Richard Croker by which the party of the first part promised that there should be no more state investigations of New York City, and there has been none since the Maset fiasco. It is said that after the election of Odell as governor, Richard Croker wanted to have an understanding over some machine nominations for legislative committee-men, and made known his wishes. They were legitimate and were granted. During the negotiations Mr. Croker called attention to the fact that he had not permitted any vilification of Odell during the campaign. The governor acknowledged the fact, and expressed his wish to reciprocate in kind. Mr. Croker said he wanted the Albany government to keep its hands off New York city. Mr. Odell consented, and is keeping his promise to this day.

Into the office of a big stock exchange firm, where even the boys at the quotation board dress in the latest fashion, walked a man the other day who would have been looked upon with suspicion in a Bowery lodging house. The office manager, however, with never-failing politeness, inquired what he could do for the visitor. The man reached into the pockets of his patched trousers and produced a roll of bills of such size as fairly to overcome every one in the room. He wanted to buy something or other, to which no one paid any attention. When asked, he had been executed by the left. He has not come back, but his purchase shows a profit of thousands of dollars.

Another effort is to be made to prevent wealthy New Yorkers from evading payment of a personal tax by taking up a legal residence outside the city. A bill has been introduced in the legislature which compels all personal property in this state to be taxed in the district where it is located. At present non-residents cannot be taxed on personal property. The courts have held that while the state has jurisdiction over their property, and the bill is drawn on those lines, it will reach wealthy citizens of New York, who claim a residence in Connecticut, Rhode Island, New Jersey and other states for the purpose of evading taxation.

NEW YORK NEWS

HOMELESS GET SHELTER IN POST OFFICE.

Wave Of Crime Sweeping Over New York—Disinclination Of Republican Leaders To Investigate Gas Situation.

Special to the Whig.
New York, Feb. 13.—A stringent stock corporation law, based upon the English and the German acts, may be placed upon the statute books of the State of New York. A professor in the New York University, whose specialty is corporation law, is the author of the measure, and it has been approved by several civic organizations of Greater New York. It promises to be one of the most important bills to come before the legislature at this session. Publicity is the keynote of the bill, which would make a repetition of such corporate scandals as the shipbuilding trust impossible.

According to its terms, every newly organized corporation, combination or association of corporations that offers its shares for sale to the public shall issue a prospectus which shall show the names and addresses of the promoters, their compensation and the extent of the interest of the directors in the organization. The estimated amount of preliminary expenses, the consideration to be paid, and the date and names of any parties to any contract relating to a corporation must also be set forth. There is a provision which penalizes directors, promoters and incorporators for any misrepresentation, either directly in the prospectus or indirectly by the omission of information when such omission might tend to mislead the public. The bill is upon the lines of recommendations made by the United States Industrial Commission.

Advocates of a law that would prevent "wildcat" incorporation assert that New York and other states could not do better. They follow the English and German system. The English law requires that all the work of the promoter shall be done in the open, and that the intending purchaser of shares shall have full information as to the method by which the promoter has arrived at his conclusion regarding the value of the properties combined. It is required also that the properties by which the company shall be formed in the office of the public registrar of joint stock companies, where they can be examined by the public. Inaccuracy of statement is penalized.

The German law is so strict on the subject that the promoter, as he has been known in England, and as he is known at present in the United States, does not appear prominently in connection with the organization of industrial combinations. Under the German law all the profits of the promoter must be made a matter of public record. Stock watering is said to be practically unknown in Germany owing to the stringency of the law against over-capitalization.

In the present cold weather, a dozen or so of the homeless have been taking refuge every night in the post office, where the air is well warmed. Though showing the pinch of hunger and exposure, they seem generally to be of a better class than the hoboes who flock to the city lodging house. There is a sort of shabby dignity about their make-up. The wonder is when or where they sleep. They have to remain standing in the post office and dare not even doze on their feet for fear of the watermen. A few of the bolder ones make no bones about it that they are there for shelter. They look out of the windows and even gossip a little together. The greener and timider ones invent pathetic pretences for staying under cover. One man scans the lists of unclaimed letters for an hour at a time, though he cannot read them in the dim light unless he has the assistance of another has a soiled envelope in a crumpled sheet of paper and a pencil. He pretends all night to be writing a letter.

The wave of crime that is sweeping over New York general civic demoralization, police corruption and the falling off of attendance at the churches have convinced prominent clergy-men that the metropolis is in need of a religious awakening, and they have planned a series of revival meetings to be held during Lent in Madison Square Garden and the Carnegie Lyceum, on a scale which has never before been attempted in this country. Among the New York clergymen active in the movement are Doctor MacArthur, the Rev. Dr. Holloway, the Rev. Dr. Geo. Prentiss, and the Rev. James Hughes. It is announced that the services of every noted evangelist worker in the country is to be secured. From England and Scotland, too, Presbyterian and Baptist workers are coming to help reclaim New York from the slough in which the preachers say it has fallen.

A story explanatory of the evident disinclination of the republican leaders to order a legislative investigation of the gas situation in this city is going the rounds in political circles. Years ago, it is said, Governor Odell made a deal with Richard Croker by which the party of the first part promised that there should be no more state investigations of New York City, and there has been none since the Maset fiasco. It is said that after the election of Odell as governor, Richard Croker wanted to have an understanding over some machine nominations for legislative committee-men, and made known his wishes. They were legitimate and were granted. During the negotiations Mr. Croker called attention to the fact that he had not permitted any vilification of Odell during the campaign. The governor acknowledged the fact, and expressed his wish to reciprocate in kind. Mr. Croker said he wanted the Albany government to keep its hands off New York city. Mr. Odell consented, and is keeping his promise to this day.

Into the office of a big stock exchange firm, where even the boys at the quotation board dress in the latest fashion, walked a man the other day who would have been looked upon with suspicion in a Bowery lodging house. The office manager, however, with never-failing politeness, inquired what he could do for the visitor. The man reached into the pockets of his patched trousers and produced a roll of bills of such size as fairly to overcome every one in the room. He wanted to buy something or other, to which no one paid any attention. When asked, he had been executed by the left. He has not come back, but his purchase shows a profit of thousands of dollars.

Another effort is to be made to prevent wealthy New Yorkers from evading payment of a personal tax by taking up a legal residence outside the city. A bill has been introduced in the legislature which compels all personal property in this state to be taxed in the district where it is located. At present non-residents cannot be taxed on personal property. The courts have held that while the state has jurisdiction over their property, and the bill is drawn on those lines, it will reach wealthy citizens of New York, who claim a residence in Connecticut, Rhode Island, New Jersey and other states for the purpose of evading taxation.

You Write a Post Card

The Post brings you a Free Sample of

GIN PILLS

Simplest thing in the world. Use a postal, tell us you want a free sample of GIN PILLS, the great cure for kidney troubles, and sign your name and address. On receipt of this card, we will mail you the promised sample, free of any cost to you.

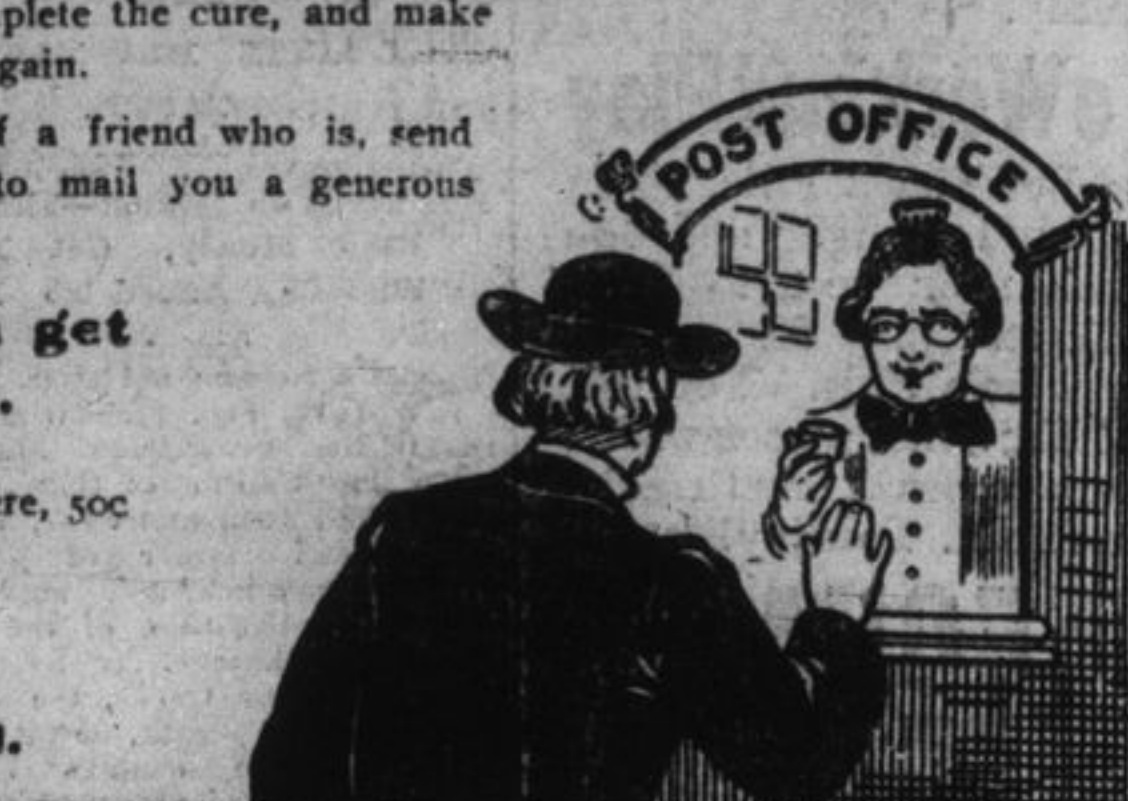

We are giving away 100,000 boxes of GIN PILLS to those who have never tried this wonderful remedy. We know positively, that if you have any Kidney Disease, the sample which we send you free, will do you so much good that you will gladly buy enough to complete the cure, and make you a well, happy man or woman again.

If you are suffering, or know of a friend who is, send your name and we will be pleased to mail you a generous sample of GIN PILLS.

Gin Pills Cure or you get your Money Back.

Sold by leading dealers everywhere, 50c a box, or 6 for $2.50.

BOLE DRUG CO.,
Dept. J, Winnipeg, Man.

Bargains In Cutters!

Moving a few Cutters left, in order to clean out the stock, will sell at cost. If you are in need of a good cutter now is the time to buy and save money.

JAMES LATURNEY,
300 PRINCESS STREET.

TYPEWRITERS!

BOUGHT, SOLD, RENTED, REPAIRED.

All Makes, New and Second-hand

J. R. C. DOBBS & CO.,
171 Wellington St., Kingston

THE CHOICEST

And best assorted stock in the city. Everything in Wine and Ale.

Any brand of Scotch or Irish Whisky.

All the lines of Imported and Domestic Liquors.

JAS. McPARLAND
339 and 341 King St.
Phone 274.

A Pleasure to Show Our Stock of LUMBER, SHINGLES, FENCE POSTS

S. ANGLIN & CO.,
Foot of Wellington Street, Kingston.

INFORMATION WANTED.

REGARDING THE WHEREABOUTS of Mrs. Robt. Fawcett (nee Miss Johnson) of Georgetown, Ireland. Her husband, Robt. Fawcett, died at Portmouth, Kingston, Ontario, about 1854 or 1855. Name of present husband not known. Address, Mrs. John Cook, Gibraltar, Ont.

THOS. HILTON
304 Princess Street, Two Doors Below Laturney's Carriage Shop.

Trucks and Valises made and repaired. Broken Trucks re-wheeled. Locks and Keys fitted, etc.

GRAND UNION HOTEL
OPPOSITE GRAND CENTRAL STATION
GARRAGE TO AND FROM STATION, FREE.
ROOMS FROM 10c PER DAY UP.

Quality first means healthy food
Blue Ribbon Tea.

NEW YORK NEWS

HOMELESS GET SHELTER IN POST OFFICE.

Wave Of Crime Sweeping Over New York—Disinclination Of Republican Leaders To Investigate Gas Situation.

Special to the Whig.
New York, Feb. 13.—A stringent stock corporation law, based upon the English and the German acts, may be placed upon the statute books of the State of New York. A professor in the New York University, whose specialty is corporation law, is the author of the measure, and it has been approved by several civic organizations of Greater New York. It promises to be one of the most important bills to come before the legislature at this session. Publicity is the keynote of the bill, which would make a repetition of such corporate scandals as the shipbuilding trust impossible.

According to its terms, every newly organized corporation, combination or association of corporations that offers its shares for sale to the public shall issue a prospectus which shall show the names and addresses of the promoters, their compensation and the extent of the interest of the directors in the organization. The estimated amount of preliminary expenses, the consideration to be paid, and the date and names of any parties to any contract relating to a corporation must also be set forth. There is a provision which penalizes directors, promoters and incorporators for any misrepresentation, either directly in the prospectus or indirectly by the omission of information when such omission might tend to mislead the public. The bill is upon the lines of recommendations made by the United States Industrial Commission.

Advocates of a law that would prevent "wildcat" incorporation assert that New York and other states could not do better. They follow the English and German system. The English law requires that all the work of the promoter shall be done in the open, and that the intending purchaser of shares shall have full information as to the method by which the promoter has arrived at his conclusion regarding the value of the properties combined. It is required also that the properties by which the company shall be formed in the office of the public registrar of joint stock companies, where they can be examined by the public. Inaccuracy of statement is penalized.

The German law is so strict on the subject that the promoter, as he has been known in England, and as he is known at present in the United States, does not appear prominently in connection with the organization of industrial combinations. Under the German law all the profits of the promoter must be made a matter of public record. Stock watering is said to be practically unknown in Germany owing to the stringency of the law against over-capitalization.

In the present cold weather, a dozen or so of the homeless have been taking refuge every night in the post office, where the air is well warmed. Though showing the pinch of hunger and exposure, they seem generally to be of a better class than the hoboes who flock to the city lodging house. There is a sort of shabby dignity about their make-up. The wonder is when or where they sleep. They have to remain standing in the post office and dare not even doze on their feet for fear of the watermen. A few of the bolder ones make no bones about it that they are there for shelter. They look out of the windows and even gossip a little together. The greener and timider ones invent pathetic pretences for staying under cover. One man scans the lists of unclaimed letters for an hour at a time, though he cannot read them in the dim light unless he has the assistance of another has a soiled envelope in a crumpled sheet of paper and a pencil. He pretends all night to be writing a letter.

The wave of crime that is sweeping over New York general civic demoralization, police corruption and the falling off of attendance at the churches have convinced prominent clergy-men that the metropolis is in need of a religious awakening, and they have planned a series of revival meetings to be held during Lent in Madison Square Garden and the Carnegie Lyceum, on a scale which has never before been attempted in this country. Among the New York clergymen active in the movement are Doctor MacArthur, the Rev. Dr. Holloway, the Rev. Dr. Geo. Prentiss, and the Rev. James Hughes. It is announced that the services of every noted evangelist worker in the country is to be secured. From England and Scotland, too, Presbyterian and Baptist workers are coming to help reclaim New York from the slough in which the preachers say it has fallen.

A story explanatory of the evident disinclination of the republican leaders to order a legislative investigation of the gas situation in this city is going the rounds in political circles. Years ago, it is said, Governor Odell made a deal with Richard Croker by which the party of the first part promised that there should be no more state investigations of New York City, and there has been none since the Maset fiasco. It is said that after the election of Odell as governor, Richard Croker wanted to have an understanding over some machine nominations for legislative committee-men, and made known his wishes. They were legitimate and were granted. During the negotiations Mr. Croker called attention to the fact that he had not permitted any vilification of Odell during the campaign. The governor acknowledged the fact, and expressed his wish to reciprocate in kind. Mr. Croker said he wanted the Albany government to keep its hands off New York city. Mr. Odell consented, and is keeping his promise to this day.

Into the office of a big stock exchange firm, where even the boys at the quotation board dress in the latest fashion, walked a man the other day who would have been looked upon with suspicion in a Bowery lodging house. The office manager, however, with never-failing politeness, inquired what he could do for the visitor. The man reached into the pockets of his patched trousers and produced a roll of bills of such size as fairly to overcome every one in the room. He wanted to buy something or other, to which no one paid any attention. When asked, he had been executed by the left. He has not come back, but his purchase shows a profit of thousands of dollars.

Another effort is to be made to prevent wealthy New Yorkers from evading payment of a personal tax by taking up a legal residence outside the city. A bill has been introduced in the legislature which compels all personal property in this state to be taxed in the district where it is located. At present non-residents cannot be taxed on personal property. The courts have held that while the state has jurisdiction over their property, and the bill is drawn on those lines, it will reach wealthy citizens of New York, who claim a residence in Connecticut, Rhode Island, New Jersey and other states for the purpose of evading taxation.

NEW YORK NEWS

HOMELESS GET SHELTER IN POST OFFICE.

Wave Of Crime Sweeping Over New York—Disinclination Of Republican Leaders To Investigate Gas Situation.

Special to the Whig.
New York, Feb. 13.—A stringent stock corporation law, based upon the English and the German acts, may be placed upon the statute books of the State of New York. A professor in the New York University, whose specialty is corporation law, is the author of the measure, and it has been approved by several civic organizations of Greater New York. It promises to be one of the most important bills to come before the legislature at this session. Publicity is the keynote of the bill, which would make a repetition of such corporate scandals as the shipbuilding trust impossible.

According to its terms, every newly organized corporation, combination or association of corporations that offers its shares for sale to the public shall issue a prospectus which shall show the names and addresses of the promoters, their compensation and the extent of the interest of the directors in the organization. The estimated amount of preliminary expenses, the consideration to be paid, and the date and names of any parties to any contract relating to a corporation must also be set forth. There is a provision which penalizes directors, promoters and incorporators for any misrepresentation, either directly in the prospectus or indirectly by the omission of information when such omission might tend to mislead the public. The bill is upon the lines of recommendations made by the United States Industrial Commission.

Advocates of a law that would prevent "wildcat" incorporation assert that New York and other states could not do better. They follow the English and German system. The English law requires that all the work of the promoter shall be done in the open, and that the intending purchaser of shares shall have full information as to the method by which the promoter has arrived at his conclusion regarding the value of the properties combined. It is required also that the properties by which the company shall be formed in the office of the public registrar of joint stock companies, where they can be examined by the public. Inaccuracy of statement is penalized.

The German law is so strict on the subject that the promoter, as he has been known in England, and as he is known at present in the United States, does not appear prominently in connection with the organization of industrial combinations. Under the German law all the profits of the promoter must be made a matter of public record. Stock watering is said to be practically unknown in Germany owing to the stringency of the law against over-capitalization.

In the present cold weather, a dozen or so of the homeless have been taking refuge every night in the post office, where the air is well warmed. Though showing the pinch of hunger and exposure, they seem generally to be of a better class than the hoboes who flock to the city lodging house. There is a sort of shabby dignity about their make-up. The wonder is when or where they sleep. They have to remain standing in the post office and dare not even doze on their feet for fear of the watermen. A few of the bolder ones make no bones about it that they are there for shelter. They look out of the windows and even gossip a little together. The greener and timider ones invent pathetic pretences for staying under cover. One man scans the lists of unclaimed letters for an hour at a time, though he cannot read them in the dim light unless he has the assistance of another has a soiled envelope in a crumpled sheet of paper and a pencil. He pretends all night to be writing a letter.

The wave of crime that is sweeping over New York general civic demoralization, police corruption and the falling off of attendance at the churches have convinced prominent clergy-men that the metropolis is in need of a religious awakening, and they have planned a series of revival meetings to be held during Lent in Madison Square Garden and the Carnegie Lyceum, on a scale which has never before been attempted in this country. Among the New York clergymen active in the movement are Doctor MacArthur, the Rev. Dr. Holloway, the Rev. Dr. Geo. Prentiss, and the Rev. James Hughes. It is announced that the services of every noted evangelist worker in the country is to be secured. From England and Scotland, too, Presbyterian and Baptist workers are coming to help reclaim New York from the slough in which the preachers say it has fallen.

A story explanatory of the evident disinclination of the republican leaders to order a legislative investigation of the gas situation in this city is going the rounds in political circles. Years ago, it is said, Governor Odell made a deal with Richard Croker by which the party of the first part promised that there should be no more state investigations of New York City, and there has been none since the Maset fiasco. It is said that after the election of Odell as governor, Richard Croker wanted to have an understanding over some machine nominations for legislative committee-men, and made known his wishes. They were legitimate and were granted. During the negotiations Mr. Croker called attention to the fact that he had not permitted any vilification of Odell during the campaign. The governor acknowledged the fact, and expressed his wish to reciprocate in kind. Mr. Croker said he wanted the Albany government to keep its hands off New York city. Mr. Odell consented, and is keeping his promise to this day.

Into the office of a big stock exchange firm, where even the boys at the quotation board dress in the latest fashion, walked a man the other day who would have been looked upon with suspicion in a Bowery lodging house. The office manager, however, with never-failing politeness, inquired what he could do for the visitor. The man reached into the pockets of his patched trousers and produced a roll of bills of such size as fairly to overcome every one in the room. He wanted to buy something or other, to which no one paid any attention. When asked, he had been executed by the left. He has not come back, but his purchase shows a profit of thousands of dollars.

Another effort is to be made to prevent wealthy New Yorkers from evading payment of a personal tax by taking up a legal residence outside the city. A bill has been introduced in the legislature which compels all personal property in this state to be taxed in the district where it is located. At present non-residents cannot be taxed on personal property. The courts have held that while the state has jurisdiction over their property, and the bill is drawn on those lines, it will reach wealthy citizens of New York, who claim a residence in Connecticut, Rhode Island, New Jersey and other states for the purpose of evading taxation.

LEW WALLACE DEAD.

He Was An Eminent Diplomat And Author.

GEN. LEW WALLACE.

Crawfordsville, Ind., Feb. 17.—Gen. Lew Wallace, author, former American minister to Turkey and veteran of the Mexican and civil wars, died at his home here Wednesday night, aged seventy-eight years.

Gen. Lew Wallace was born in Fountain county, Indiana, in 1828, and was educated as a lawyer. At the outbreak of the Mexican war he entered the army and served as a second lieutenant of the 1st Indiana Volunteers. After the war he resumed his profession and was elected to the state senate.

He became in 1861, adjutant-general of Indiana, but almost immediately resigned that position to take command of the 11th Indiana Volunteers. In the fall of the same year he was commissioned brigadier-general of volunteers. At the capture of Fort Donelson, he played so conspicuous a part as to win a commission as major-general. At the battle of Shiloh he rendered efficient aid during the second day's fighting. In November, 1862, he was president of the court of enquiry in the case of Gen. Buell.

In 1864 he commanded the 8th Corps and Middle Department. He was a member of the commission for trial of the persons implicated in the murder of President Lincoln, and attempted assassination of Secretary Seward.

In the fall of 1878 charges were preferred against Governor Axtell of New Mexico, which resulted in his removal and the appointment of Gen. Wallace in his stead.

Gen. Wallace is the author of two novels, "The Fair God," published a number of years ago, and "Ben Hur," published later.

BIG REDUCTION SALE

In order to reduce our immense stock of ELECTRIC SUPPLIES, SHADES, FIXTURES, etc., we offer for 30 days any goods in our store at

Wholesale Prices

NOW IS THE TIME TO GET A BARGAIN!

BRECK & HALLIDAY.

COMPARE Prices, Styles and Values!

That's our clarion call to the BIG SHOE SALE!

Only a few more days now to take advantage of our

25% DISCOUNT SALE

Will End Tuesday, February 21st. Positively No Sale Goods Exchanged After Tuesday, Feb. 21st.

If you have failed to visit our sale do so to-day. We will save you 25% on your shoe wants.

J. H. Sutherland & Bro.

Crystalized Gingers, 40c. per pound.

Cowan's Chocolate Gingers, 40c. per pound.

Ganong's Chocolate Gingers, 50c. per pound.

A. J. REES, Princess St.

WE MAKE Block Tin Pipe & Small Tubing TO ORDER.

THE CANADA METAL CO. Toronto.

Constipation

Fruit is nature's laxative. Prevent Constipation. Because the laxative peculiar combination of After years of labor accidentally discovered the

Fruit

or Fruit Laxative are made. He used fruit in a peculiar way. Kidneys, stomach and skin. "FRUIT-A-TIVES" contain all the medical properties of a mild and gentle laxative. permanent cure for Constipation, Liver, Sick Headaches, and Kidney Troubles. All druggists have them. 50 cents a box. FRUITATIVES, Limited, OTTAWA

For the Balance of This Month

Great clearing sale of Scotch Tweed Suits, Winter Overcoats and Trouser Suits. Regular $18 to $23 Scotch Tweed Suits for $10. Regular $24 to $27 Scotch Tweed Suits for $12. Regular $28 to $32 Scotch Tweed Suits for $15. 20 per cent discount on all Winter Overcoats. Don't fail to see my Trouserings at $4 and $5. This is a boni fide sale, with fit and workmanship guaranteed, with first-class clothing.

A. G. WAGGONER,

128, WELLINGTON ST. For Perfect Satisfaction