THE WHIG—72nd YEAR. DAILY BRITISH WHIG published each evening at 10:30 P.M. except on Sundays, Holidays, and on the day of the election...

THE DAILY WHIG. "An Offer for Orkney Dues." REDMOND'S FOOLISH TALK. The Redmond speech in the imperial parliament on home rule for Ireland, is strangely tempered as one views it from a distance.

Time was, it is true, when the enforcement of law was attended with many distressing scenes, and that time was not so long ago. When Parnell led his party Ireland was a discontented land.

But a calm followed with the intermission of the home rule party in parliament. There has been the desire to grant the Irish people pretty nearly everything they want, save and excepting home rule.

While Chamberlain and Balfour represent the government there can be no home rule. While the unionist party remains there can be no hope of reconciliation on the subject in England.

MACLAREN ON MARRIAGE. Mrs. Maclaren has shocked some people by declaring that she favors the marriage of those who are sound physically and whose healthiness will be perpetuated in their children.

Rev. Dr. Watson has no doubt been reading some of the literature of the times and being noting the results of unwise marriages. So much suffering is involved by the union of physical incapacity in some way and whose conjugal relations lead to the duplication of their troubles.

Dr. Watson would have the world spared the pain of parental errors, by guarding against them through the marriage only of those who are really first-class risks.

Immune From Fire. Coal in the street railway sheds took fire this morning. Perhaps this will teach the company to keep its coal in the car stores, where it's care not to burn.

Beware of Mistakes. The persistent rumors of the resignation of A. W. Campbell are disquieting. If Mr. Campbell leaves merely to make room for some anxious office-seeker, it will be a bad beginning for the new minister.

sticest medical sense. You may see at any time men six feet high, with broad and well-built chests, walking about the streets, who are, nevertheless, insured from an insurance point of view, and, therefore, from a marriageable standpoint.

EDITORIAL NOTES. Marconi's bride will bring him $20,000 a year, free of all encumbrances. He will be congratulated as a discoverer as well as an inventor.

George Johnston, the dominion statistician, objects to people saying that "last century was the United States' century, the present is Canada's century." Mr. Johnson claims that he coined the phrase.

Stratford Council's Decision. In the Whig of February 12th, appeared the following statement: "Stratford city council has refused the temperance people to reduce the number of licenses, but has increased the license fee."

Ye shall say as well for the right to kill. To stain our homes with the blood ye spill. To go forth and scatter the seeds of woe And cherish the same, more may bid you know.

REMISS IN DUTY. NEGLECT TO HAVE PLANS OF SEWERS KEPT. Is Declared by a Citizen as Shameful to Past City Council—The Present City Engineer Commended For His Action.

Kingston, Feb. 19.—(To the Editor) I read in the Whig of Friday last which I judge to be an explanation in my letter of the 15th inst. and written by some one, presumably in possession of the real facts in connection with this sewer plan matter.

It is a warning, however, that cannot amount to much. There is no prospect of the idea being embodied in the law of the land, though there is as strong ground for it as for the law which prevails in England and prevents a man marrying his deceased wife's sister.

Montreal men talk of gas at fourteen cents per thousand feet. The Gazette intimates that the gas they refer to is being turned out by themselves, and it is said at even fourteen cents.

It is a warning, however, that cannot amount to much. There is no prospect of the idea being embodied in the law of the land, though there is as strong ground for it as for the law which prevails in England and prevents a man marrying his deceased wife's sister.
