By-Law a Curse to the City. This city depends a great deal upon on Friday, in custody of a Japanes from them because they are afraid if they come to the city with its street cars stopped, stores vacant and people complaining about high prices, they will get into trouble. Therefore Kingston merchants lose a great deal of the country trade that they would otherwise get if the city did not rwise get if the city did not have sch mean by-laws. Let me tell you at most of the butter and farm prople have to pay three or four cents to dealers for handling it. Our council is barovsk, the Japanese were expected to land at Korsakovsk within a fortworks coming here which will benefit othing, and would be a great benefit to the city.
