United States Consul-General Rublec, at Vienna, who reports this matter to the United States state departs ment, says that the length of the course is five weeks, and instruction is to be given during two hours of each week-day. The children are to withdraw from other school attendvote themselves exclusively to the course for the cure of stuttering. The co-operation of the parents is specially important to the success of the cure. During the period of the special instruction it is necessary that home where they can practice the exercises given them without any disturbance whatsoever. The parents must undertake to have the childrenpractice their exercises at home for at least four hours daily, and during the first two weeks not to allow the... to speak at all except to practice the exercises prescribed by the course

Keeping silent is of such importance that the success of the course de pends upon this requirement being strictly observed. Parents are particularly advised never to east any doubt upon the effectiveness of the course or of the teachers. It is wellknown that stutterers lack self-coupad the winning record of almost all fidence, and this must be taken in the old heavyweight pugilists, has re- account in the treatment. The childired from the ring and is now a dren should be encouraged by calling attention to progress that has been made, for stutterers are extremely susceptible to praise. Parents, howexperiments and to make no tests.

At the end of the five weeks' course he instructor brings each pupil back his regular school and indicates his teacher what has been accomplished, besides giving advice concerning his further instruction. The teacher is requested to try to encourage and make permanent the new habits acquired. Children who have taken the special course in stuttering are examined afterward each month in order to determine what permanent results have been obtained

Indian's Explanation Of Trinity. There are about five thousand In dians in the Mackenzie district, of whom at least four thousand five hundred are Christians. Sometimes their faith is tested by occasional travel lers. A missionary fresh from that northern territory relates the following of how one Indian explained his faith: "After being ridiculed about his religion for some time by a white man whom he was carrying down the river in a canoe, the Indian without a word in reply pushed his canon alongside the snow-covered ice, dropped his maddle, and, taking up his hatchet, heaped the snow, then cut a square in the ice. Lifting out the ice exclaimed : 'See ! See water, see ice, see snow! Put in kettle, boil, all one. You don't know, I don't know;

Back Warming Sweaters and Flannels.

A headmaster of one of the oldest schools in Surrey, the Kingston Grammar school, upon assuming charge recently, addressed a letter to the parents of his pupils urging the adoption of a more rational dress for boys, and the letter bus been given to the press This schoolmaster asserts that the vest, or waistcost, is no protection to the most vulnerable part of the body, the back, because the hinder part of the waistcoat is not of wood or a Leavy material, while the tightly buttoned vest prevents the fullest increase of chest growth. He advises the parents to dispense with this waistcoat and to clothe their boys in sweaters. and flannels, in his opinion a blue flannel shirt and flannel collar with a red tie would be smart and pleasing. While acting as master at Loretto school, at which the boys dressed as suggested and were cuabled to take active exercise at any time without running the risk of taking a chill, he observed that the average boy became "larger limbed, broader chested, and on the whole more physically fit than the average boy at any other public school."Bicycle rides to the school and the various physical exercises and outdoor sports result in much per-
