The Finance Report.

The following report of the finance committee was adopted:

On the communication of the Elgin municipal association, that, in the judgment of this council, it is in the highest degree advisable that the liability of municipal corporations for accidents arising from the non-repair of streets should be restricted as proposed by the amendment to the municipal act submitted by the Elgin municipal association; that Mr. Pense, the member for the city in the legislative assembly, be asked to further the passage of such an amendment by all means in his power; and that the city solicitor be instructed to represent the city on the provincial division which is to wait on the government on Thursday next to urge the proposed amendment.

The Waterworks' Plans.

The council had quite a discussion on the water works plans which the city engineer desires to copy. These plans, as the private property of Mr. Hewitt, who had proposed to loan them without compensation. A clause in the water works report recommended that the request of the engineer, twenty-five dollars be paid by the city in regard to the cost of copying the plans. Nothing was mentioned as to securing them.

Ald. King wanted to know if the water works committee proposed to secure the plans. Ald. Sands replied that the city engineer had mentioned nothing about that. All the committee was asked for was $25 for the copying of the plans.

Ald. Mowat said it would be time enough for the committee to take action in regard to getting the plans when the superintendent would not hand them over.

Ald. Carson and McKay wanted to know where the plans used at the exhibition in 1888 were. Let them be hunted up. Ald. Carson claimed the mayor should do this, but his worship objected. The water works chairman, he said, should attend to that.

Ald. Hoag claimed that Ald. Sands.

THE WALK QUESTION.

OPINIONS AS TO THE CITY LAYING PRIVATE ONES.

Ald. Bell Led Attack on Board of Works' Report, and Clause Was Withdrawn—Vezed Question of the Waterworks' Plans.

There were two bits of discussion at the city council meeting last night. The first was those recommending the board of works' report on the communication of the Employers' Association of Kingston objecting to the city building private walks, "that the city build no private walks during the year 1906, but that contractors building private walks during the year, be obliged to make the connections according to instructions from the city engineer."

Ald. Bell raised objection to the clause pointing out that the matter had been fully discussed in past years and practically settled. He claimed that contractors here didn't have the plant for constructing the walks, and furthermore they were not at all anxious that the city should stop the building of private walks. What was the difference anyway? Ald. Bell asked. To make a change would simply be taking out of the hands of Peter and putting into the hands of Paul, any event, and the citizens got cheap-er walks. Furthermore it was more convenient for the city to build the walks, and there was uniformity in them which could not be the case if the contractor were to lay them. He was strongly opposed to the city ceasing to lay such walks. "The people wanted the present system continued."

Ald. Harkness did not agree that the walks laid by contractors were not as good as those the city laid, or that they could be laid as well as the city. Ald. Carson defended the board of works' report and pointed out that contractors would be obliged to make the walks according to instructions from the city engineer.

Ald. Hoag claimed that it was not advisable for the city to enter into the work, as it prevented masons from making a livelihood. Let the contractors get the necessary plant. So long as the city laid the walks, they would never stop the plant.

Ald. King wanted to know what right the council had to say how the walks on private property should be built.

Ald. McMan agreed with Ald. Bell. The walks, he said, could be laid better by the city, when the street ones were being put down. Besides the city could do the work cheaper, and the citizens seemed to want the present system continued.

Ald. Bell claimed that if the city gave up the work, it would simply mean that the people would revert to the old board and slat walks again, and that was very undesirable. The city in general would be put to extra expense for the benefit of a contractor or two.

Ald. King pointed out that the report was out of order. On January 19th, the board of works, in a report, laid the walks out for the year, and it was the cost by the citizens. That report would have to be reconsidered.

Ald. Mowat didn't think Ald. King's point was well taken, as the report of January 19th, provided only in case the city should lay the walks. However, he advised the board of works' chairman to consult the city solicitor, so that, if necessary, a by-law might be prepared for the enforcement.

Ald. Hoag withdrew the clause in the report, and will have the matter further discussed in committee.

At the Grand.

Charles Hawtreay, on Wednesday. One of the greatest dramatic successes of the last three seasons is that of Charles Hawtreay in "A Message From Mars," who comes to the Grand on Wednesday, April 12th. Not a word of the play said to be extremely amusing from the novelty of its situations and effects, and the brilliancy and terseness of its dialogue, but also on account of the absence of anything that could be objected to on the ground of coarseness or suggestiveness. Without the slightest attempt to preach a sermon, the play teaches a lesson which cannot fail in some degree to strike home to every auditor, and no one can well leave the theatre without being the better for having seen the performance. Mr. Hawtreay's acting is reported to be marked by absolute ease and naturalness, and charged, moreover, with an individual charm that is singularly potent. He radiates humor and amiability and despite the fact that his part is during the earlier portion of the play against the sympathy of the audience he wins immediate approbation. The scenic and mechanical effects which contain many novel features will add much to the pleasure given by the performance.

KILL THE DANDRUFF GERM.

Or Your Hair Will Fall Out Till You Become Bald.

Modern science has discovered that dandruff is caused by a germ that digs up the scalp scales, as it burrows down to the roots of the hair, where it destroys the hair's vitality, causing falling hair, and ultimately, baldness. After Prof. Unna, of Hamburg, Germany, discovered the dandruff germ, all efforts to find a remedy failed until the great laboratory discovery was made which resulted in Newbro's Herpicide. It alone of all other hair preparations kills the dandruff germ. Without dandruff, hair grows luxuriantly. "Destroy the cause, you remove the effect." Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to the Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. G. W. Mahood, special agent.

Moving Pictures.

This entertainment will be at the Grand on Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights. A Quebec exchange says: "The pictures shown were of a varied character. They were clear and lively, and many original. The Yahu fight in the Russo-Japanese war, Parisian phantasmagoria, Kit Carson's experience, and the incidents which followed a young man's matrimony and retirement were good and brought down many a tear. The former was intensely realistic, while the latter chemical effects accompanying the battle were fitting. The salmon fishery industry in Oregon was also well depicted."

ANAEMIA

is thin blood. It causes pale faces, white lips, weak nerves and lack of vitality. A blood-enriching, fat producing food-medicine is needed, Scott's Emulsion goes to the root of the trouble, strengthens and enriches the blood, and builds up the entire system. For anaemic girls, thin boys, and enfeebled mothers, it is the standard remedy. It builds up and strengthens the entire system with wonderful rapidity.

BARTLETT'S VIEWS.

AND HIS LECTURE ON PORT ARTHUR'S SIEGE.

The Pictures Shown Were Quite Realistic—People Learned How to Pronounce Some Japanese Words.

An audience of over seven hundred people greeted Ellis Ashmead Bartlett in his illustrated lecture at the Grand Opera House last evening. The lecturer was special war correspondent of the London Times at Port Arthur during the siege and capitulation of that fortress and his illustrations and sketches of the campaign brought the different scenes vividly before the minds of his hearers. He is a son of Sir Ellis Ashmead Bartlett, chief lord of the admiralty under Lord Salisbury's first administration, and being by profession a barrister, but his love for a life of adventure and activity has led him to seek the field of battle. His experience as a war correspondent has been considerable, being attached to the Turkish headquarters during the Turkish-Grecian war and also having seen service in South Africa. He left England at the outbreak of the present war and was constantly with the fighting forces until the surrender of Port Arthur.

His style as a lecturer is distinguished by a vast fund of information with perfect clearness of expression and the instructive portion of his address was so cleverly interpolated with anecdotes and humorous occurrences of the campaign that his audience was never wearied. His impressions and opinions of the many varied problems which have been open to discussion throughout the campaign were of more than ordinary interest, coming as they did from one who has seen much of the struggle and is thus able to speak with a great degree of certainty. At the close of the lecture Mr. Bartlett was given a hearty ovation.

He was a man of extensive education and widely known for his charities.

"To facilitate the work of the council in dealing with the street railway question, I wish to say on behalf of the bondholders that they desire to sell and dispose of the undertaking to the best advantage. They will be glad to meet any committee of council to discuss terms of sale in case the city desires to purchase. They are naturally anxious to lose no time in taking action; and they will be glad to meet a committee representing council early in the week.

BRUSHES ARE HAND-SAVERS.

The woman who has plenty of brushes for all kinds of household rights her labors and prevents her hands from becoming rough and red. Brushes for washing, pans, kettles, dishes, vegetables, for cleaning floors, stoves, silver—in fact brushes are now made by the leading Canadian manufacturers for cleaning practically everything in the house. Good brushes, strongly put together, will give excellent service for their small cost, and may be obtained in the grocery and hardware stores, and in many of the house-furnishing departments of the large stores. The woman, whose only brush in the house has been the traditional "scrubbing brush," will be both surprised and pleased to see how a good assortment of brushes will lighten her work.
