MURDER MYSTERY

MOTHER'S DREAM LEADS TO DISCOVERY OF BODIES.

Has Presentiment That Daughter and Little Ones Are Slain and Police Investigation Corroborates Foreboding—Husband Accused and Arrested.

London, May 10.—England has been horrified by the news of another terrible tragedy, which occurred in the neighborhood of Kensington, in the northwest section of London. The tragedy involves the lives of a woman and her two children, and the husband, a young man, now stands reprimanded on charges of having murdered them. The crime resembles the Preller murder in St. Louis, and in many respects the tin trunk tragedy of a year or so ago, when a man named Crossman killed his wife and hid her body in a travelling trunk. Strangely enough, it took place very near the scene of the Crossman crime in Ladysmith road. It disclosed what is believed to be a triple crime. Following upon inquiries which they had made, the police discovered the bodies of a young married woman and her two-year-old twins packed in a large tin trunk, which had been deposited some six weeks ago in one of the warehouses of Kensington.

Arthur Devereux, a druggist, soon after the discovery was made, was quietly following his employment in the drug shop of a well-known tradesman at Coventry. The victims of the tragedy are—Beatrice Edith Maud Devereux, aged thirty-one; Lawrence R. Devereux; and Evelyn Lancelotti Devereux. The former is the wife, and the two latter the little sons of Devereux.

The children were aged one year and seven months. Devereux's defense is that his wife killed the children by poison and then committed suicide. He adds that, fearing he might be accused of causing the deaths, he hid the bodies in the trunk. It was by strange chance that the threads of this deplorable tragedy were gathered together, and mainly through the dream of the woman's mother, who, finding that her daughter's house was closed, was convinced that something was wrong. She dreamed that the mother and children had been murdered, and that their one coffin was a strange common looking box. It impelled her to inform the police. The police got upon the track of Devereux, but it was not until some days had elapsed that the curtain rose on the grim tragedy. Six weeks ago a man called at Messrs. Bannister's and ordered a man to remove some furniture from a house in Milton avenue.

Given no name, he was simply entered in Bannister's books under a number. All the furniture was moved, except a very large tin trunk, which was carefully strapped up and sealed with sealing wax at the ends of the straps. That box was subsequently left at Bannister's, and called for by J. T. Crumhurbert, president of the Rev. Mr. Kuhnring, rectory, A. limited number of pupils desired. Call Thursdays.

For some days nothing happened, and then an old lady called. She said her name was Mrs. Gregory, that she was the mysterious man's mother-in-law, that she had traced Bannister to the man who had moved the Devereux furniture, and she wanted the address. Bannister told her of the tin trunk in storage.

A special typewriter for the use of King Edward, has been sent to London from Chicago. It has a mahogany frame and ivory keys.

The San Francisco board of education has decided not to allow Chinese or Japanese children to attend schools where white children are educated.

The Crossman murder at Kensington, which, in some of its gruesome details, resembled the present tragedy, took place in 1903, but the body of the victim was not discovered until March, 1904. George Albert Crossman, at different times, married fewer than eight wives, one of whom was a nurse named Ellen Sampson. There is little doubt that he murdered her almost immediately after the marriage, on January 15th, 1903. The body, embedded in cement and quicklime, was packed in a tin box. The discovery was due to a man named Dell, who hired the lower floor of a house in Ladysmith road, Kensington. He complained of a bad odor in the house, and the drains were examined, but found clean. Finally Dell became convinced that the smell proceeded from a box under the stairs, and accused Crossman of having a body in it. Crossman declared it was only size, used for decorative purposes. A cart-man was summoned to take away the box, and Dell went to the police station to tell his suspicions. While the box was being lifted to the cart the lock broke, exposing the remains. Just at this moment the police arrived, and Crossman started to run. As the police overtook him he drew a razor and cut his throat, but death being almost instantaneous. The present case also came to mind in certain points of the Wainwright case and the Beeming case. In both the latter infamous English murders, the bodies of the murdered people were buried in cement.

London, May 10.—The official assurance have considerably calmed the anxiety over the French violations of neutrality, and the general hope is that a crisis has been averted. The English newspapers congratulate France upon the action she has taken willingly, and credit her with the loyal intention to do her utmost to ensure her neutrality. It is recognized however, that difficulties will arise again if the Russians re-enter Indo-China, or the confederate French republics, in Paris, has been considerably ruffled by the outspoken criticism of the English newspapers. The supporters of M. Delcasse, the French foreign minister, are especially irritated, declaring that there has never been a breach of neutrality.

Nharung, Annam, May 10.—Admiral Rojstevsky's squadron, which has been cruising for several days off Vanboing Bay, sailed yesterday morning.

Two Fleets Join.

London, May 10.—The Paris correspondent of the Daily Mail says it is believed that Rear-Admiral Nebogotsky's squadron joined Admiral Rojstevsky's fleet, on Tuesday, outside of French waters, between Cape St. Jacques and Cape Padaran.

The Times correspondent at Tokio cables "The Russians are apparently assembling a force for the purpose of invading Korea from the north-east as a means of defending Vladivostok and creating a diversion. It is reported that 15,000 men are collected on the left bank of the Tuman. The movement is regarded lightly by Japan."

Much attention has been attracted to the fact that the last domestic loan produced a larger subscription than any hitherto.

The Moscow correspondent of the Times cables: "I have heard, on good authority, that the army regiments will be moved to Chita, the evacuation of Harbin being regarded as probable."

The Paris correspondent of the Times cables: "I have just received information, to-day, that Rojstevsky's fleet left the bay in which he took refuge after leaving Hakon Bay, and which is supposed to be that of Pahwang. It was presumably on the imperative summons of Admiral Fonquières that he did so, as the latter witnessed the departure."

Shores Are Dangerous.

Tokyo, May 10.—It is said officially, that the approaches to the Pescadore Islands are dangerous for a distance of six miles off shore, owing to mines. It is reported that although the vessel, a Japanese schooner, was captured at Vladivostok, the Bogator is still disabled. Nine torpedoes boats and five submarines, there, are serviceable.

The Russian Version.

St. Petersburg, May 10.—Gen. Linnov, Minister of War, said to the imperial news sheet, that the Russian official version of the recent raid by Russian torpedo boat destroyers from Vladivostok. He says Capt. Baron Riedel, while reconnoitering the coast of Japan with a torpedo flotilla, captured a Japanese schooner two miles from Cape Soutzaki, and put the crew ashore, and also captured another schooner twenty-five miles off the Japanese coast. After removing nine of her crew Capt. Baron sent the prize to Vladivostok.

SMALL HOPE.

Neither Party Disposed to Amend Act.

Ottawa, May 10.—So far as one can ascertain, the government is no more disposed to recommend to parliament the amendments, which the auditor-general asks in the audit act, than it was last session, because the powers sought by Mr. McLaughlin are, in their estimation, an usurpation of the functions of the government.

THE ALBERTA BILL.

House in Committee Takes Up Consideration.

Ottawa, May 10.—The House of Commons, in committee, of the whole, yesterday took up the consideration of the bill to establish the province of Alberta. The first clause fixes the boundary of the new province. The line to the east is the fourth meridian in the system of Dominion land surveys. That to the north is the sixtieth parallel of north latitude. Both were objected to by Mr. McCarly, of Calgary, Mr. Herron, of Alberta, and others desired that the boundary to the east should be fixed so that all the ranching country should be included in Alberta. Mr. Maclean, of South York, wanted Arthabaska to the north excluded from the new province, and maintained as a territory for the present. He moved an amendment to this effect, but withdrew it after Mr. Lake, of Qu'Appelle, had declared his opposition. Then Mr. McCarly moved to change the eastern boundary on the lines he had outlined. This proposition was sent and the clause was carried. Mr. Oliver, the minister of the interior, had to do considerable talking during the discussion.

A WOMAN EVANGELIST.

"I Cannot Sing Here, But Will in Heaven."

Winham, Ont., May 10.—A traveling woman evangelist named Miss Annie May Morton, has laid siege to Winham by starting a series of old-time revival meetings in the Methodist church here, of which the Rev. Dr. Gunder, is pastor. Just before commencing the service on Sunday morning last, quite a dramatic incident occurred when Miss Morton looked up from the pulpit and accompanied a howl to the choir with the following words: "Good morning, choir, I cannot sing with you here, but I will be able to sing when I get to heaven." She further stated in the discourse which followed, that she was "sent by God to convert the town of Winham."

BOY ATTEMPTS SUICIDE.

Afraid of Employer Whom He Had Robbed.

London, May 10.—"I was afraid of my master," said Alfred Sutton, an intelligent looking boy of eleven years, who was charged with attempted suicide at Stratford yesterday. He had been taking sipping a week from the news agent who employed him, and his master had threatened to lock him up if he did not return the money. The boy was so frightened that he went into a field at Chadwell Heath and cut his throat with a table knife. After the boy had been admonished by the magistrate, he was handed over to the care of his father, who gave him an excellent character.

Ottawa, May 10.—J. F. Makarsky, a Polish lawyer from Winnipeg, here on business with the government, says there are now about 75,000 poles and galicians in the North-West, and that a great many Poles will cross the border from the United States this year, and start farming. Low wages in the American mines is assigned as chief cause for the exodus.

They come from all parts of the country, many of them containing portraits of men who wish to confer their names upon the prisoner, and they are of all descriptions, from the tender and sentimental variety to the plain, matter-of-fact, business letters.

Swindled The Government.

Milan, May 10.—The Rome correspondent of the Secolo calculates on the strength of the reports of the royal commission on railroads that the Adriatic railroads company, by means of adroit book-keeping, has, under the eyes of a series of ministers since 1885, deprived the government of fifty million lire ($10,000,000), to which the government was entitled as its share of the profits.
