WANT TO BUY STONE

From Penitentiory for the Cape Vincent Breakwater.

This afternoon, the contractors of the breakwater at Cape Vincent, N.Y., made application to the Kingston penitentiary warden for the purchase nection with the constituction. The stone is sold by the penitentiary at four dollars a toise, but it is doubtful if it can be landed on United States soil, Both Canadian and United States laws provide that no materials made by prison labor The breakwater at the Cape is government construction, and special provision might be made for the stone being used if urgently required. Stone broken at the penitentiary is sold in Canada, Toronto contractors buying a great deal.

the Masons Will

The differences between the contractors and masons had almost reached a settlement this morning and an ad justment of matters was confidently predicted to take place some time to day. The contractors held a meeting last night, in which they drew up as agreement to be submitted to the masons. They agreed to the wage difference. The clauses in the masons' agreement they took exception to were those in regard to apprenticehip, which the contractors considered unjustly restricted and tending to confine the craft to too small margins, Another difference, it is understood, is the clause by which the masons demand that in case of a partner firm of contractors only one of the partners be allowed to work at masonry.
