"Sold in the Twilight"

Mrs. George Mahood and Mrs. Allen Stephens (Montreal) chaperoned a very jolly little dance at the Whig hall last night. The terms impromptu and informal was most fittingly applied to it, as the half dozen young men responsible for it made all their arrangements in a very short space of time. The hall looked extremely pretty with coloured lights, and much bunting, and the cushions and rugs which many a home yielded up to the decorators furnished several sitting-out places in the various rooms, in a most comfortable way. Mr. Hambrook made his first appearance in public as a caterer, and the viands set out by him, and the capital way they were served met with high praise. The music from Crosby & O'Connor's orchestra was very good, and altogether "there was no talking in the morning, little dance," as an enthusiast remarked this morning. A feature, and a most commendable one, was that the concluding number on the programme, "God Save the King," which came about two in the morning, was waited for by the whole assembly, the sixty people joining heartily with the instruments, and singing the national anthem with fervour. Among the out-of-town people present were Messrs. Brown and Miss Hunter, of New York; Miss Perry, of Napanee; Mr. Williams, Mr. Lapum, Mr. Daffoe, and Mr. Allison, Napanee; Mr. McGuire and Mr. McMurtry, of McGill.

There is another successful authoress in Kingston, this time a very young one, Miss Jean Young, daughter of Mr. Archibald Young, Johnston street. The little girl, won first prize in story competition in the morning, at the Corner for Boys and Girls, in the April Number of the Woman's Home Companion. The prizes were a volume of Emerson's Essays, a pretty copy of "Rob and His Friends," and a photograph. The little girl's story was a "really truly one," and was called "A Tramp Picnic." The scene was the point near Macdougall's woods, a short distance below Pictou, on the Bay of Quinte shores, and the dramatic personae four little girls, a big, good-natured ex-policeman, and a pony, and, of course the tramp. The local colour is so very good that a person who knows the lovely trillium-haunted woods in question, and the pony and the little girls, and has a very warm spot for the big policeman too, says she will watch the small maid's literary career with much interest. It is quite possible that Miss Young's story-telling position is inherited, for her father is a first cousin of the late Mr. Archibald Forbes, one of the greatest of the famous English war correspondents, whose letters from the battlefields were like thrilling tales of adventure couched in the most perfect English.

The Misses Templeton, of Napanee, have been in town for a day or so. Judge and Mrs. Coyne, of New York, have been in town for a day or so. They will spend the summer at the Yates farm, having rented the house there. Mrs. Coyne, who has a beautiful voice, sang "O Rest in The Lord," from the Elijah, after service in St. George's cathedral on Sunday evening.

Dr. Carl Y. Ford, who has paid a flying visit to town, has gone back to Danville, N.Y. Mr. Stanley Cunningham is staying with Mr. Frank Lavell, at Thousand Island Park.

Mrs. George A. Robinson, Alfred street, who has been seriously ill, is now very much better. Her daughter, Mrs. Fred Folger, and her little daughter Laura, came home, on Friday, from Toronto. The little girl is almost well now.

Mrs. Herbert Grout remained longer in town than she intended, but will come up to town to-morrow. Her father, Dr. Jones, may accompany her.

Mrs. F. Rees and her daughter Irene, left for Syracuse and Bing-

AT THE POLICE COURT.
 Two summonses cases up before the Cadi.

Two summonses cases were argued before the police magistrate this morning. Solomon Gessenowitz, a Jewish butcher, who lives on Ellis street, pleaded "not guilty" to the charge of infraction of a city-by-law in regard to the sanitary condition of the yard in connection with his house. Three witnesses gave testimony, contrary to his plea, and their evidence was sufficiently convincing to procure a fine of $1 and costs against the defendant.

James Nolan was charged with tearing up a plank in the board-walk at the corner of King and Queen streets, on Saturday evening last. He pleaded not guilty to the charge, but admitted somewhat humorously, that he might possibly be guilty. He explained that on the night in question, he was in a somewhat "tearing" mood, and was not entirely accountable for his actions. He claimed that he has been informed since Saturday night, by "a man who was with him on Saturday night," that "his informant" had been guilty of the misdemeanor. On this account, he was granted an enlargement until Friday, when he promised to produce his companion at court.

Progressive Covenanters;
 New York, May 23.—After an agitation lasting for several years, the general synod of the Reformed Presbyterian church, has decided that instrumental music might be used in the services of churches of this denomination. This body of Presbyterians, who are generally known as "Covenanters," is one of the less numerous branches of Presbyterianism in this country, but it is notable for its stern adherence to ancient ideals. The new moderator, Rev. Samuel Paisley, of Los Angeles, Cal., presided.

THE SLUGGERS HELD ARE ACCUSED OF MURDERING A MAN.

The Wife of the Slain Man Took Out the Warrants—The Attack Followed a Strike Called at Wagon Works.
 Chicago, Ill., May 23.—Charles Gilhooley, Edward Feeley and Marcus Looney, alleged professional "sluggers," charged with the murder of Charles A. Carlson, of the Carriage and Wagon Makers' Union, have been held by Judge Prindiville without bail. The warrants charging the men with murder were sworn out by Mrs. Carlson.

Gilhooley, alleged leader of a band of "sluggers," said to have been engaged to disable union men, has been identified by several persons as one of the men who assaulted Carlson. The attack followed a strike called in the Meekel wagon works by the Carriage and Wagon Makers' Union on the question of an open shop. Only three of about forty men went out, and Carlson described as one of the best workmen in the trade, headed a committee which called on the proprietor of the wagon shop and told him that the men were not in favor of the strike.

When Carlson left the shop on the evening of April 13th, he was met near the door of his home by three men, said to be the "entertainment" committee of the union. He was hit on the head with a club and the "entertainers" jumped on him, grinding their heels in his face and body.

Recovering consciousness the next day Carlson described his assailants. He died within two weeks, and the police arrested the secretary of the union and one of the members of the executive committee. The president of the organization could not be found. One of the alleged "sluggers" is said to have told an officer of the union that he had been hired by other organizations to "do up" non-union workmen, accepting $2 as a retaining fee and $13 when the job was completed.

A Sad Death.
 On Monday morning, at her home 211 Nelson street, Martha A. Jones, wife of Capt. Joseph Dix, passed away suddenly. Mrs. Dix retired on Sunday evening in her usual good health and not till morning was there any indication of illness. Her daughter hastened to her relief and physicians were summoned, but in a short time death came to release the sufferer. The deceased was a daughter of Capt. Thomas J. Jones, Ottawa, who was master and owner of a steamer plying between here and Ottawa in the early days. In March, 1873, she married Capt. Joseph Dix, and came to reside in Kingston, which has since been her home. Mrs. Dix was a kind neighbor and a good wife and mother. A loving husband and one daughter together with the aged parents and several brothers and sisters remain, to mourn her loss.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy the Best.
 "I have been using Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and want to say it is the best cough medicine I have ever taken," says George L. Chubb, a merchant of Harlan, Mich. There is no question about its being the best, as it will cure a cough or cold in less than any other treatment. It should always be kept in the house ready for instant use, for a cold can be cured in much less time when promptly treated. For sale by all druggists.

A Pleasant Dance.
 A most successful dance was given by the Emerald baseball team in the Hibernal Hall, Brock street, last evening. There were about one hundred and fifty present. The dance music was supplied by Arniecki's orchestra, each and every route will then be formed, infantry in fours, and the force will march into the city along Ontario to Brock street; up Brock to King; along King to Clarence; up to Wellington; along to Princess and up to Montreal street, where the corps will then turn off to the right and march each to its private parade.

Cheap Fuel in Kingston.
 The price of coal to the consumer in this city is cheaper than anywhere else along the line. This condition of things so beneficial to citizens is the direct result of Messrs. James Swift & Co., one of the leading coal dealers; adopting a strictly cash system. They sell as they buy, giving the purchaser the benefit of the market. Speaking to a reporter, a member of this firm says: "It would surprise you if you knew how few people interest themselves enough to take advantage of the conditions. Most consumers wait until cold weather is here again, and all other expenses of the household are much higher, before giving the coal question a thought."

OPEN FOR CRITICISM.
 Mrs. Browett's Studio Free to Visitors.

The work of the past winter in Mrs. Browett's studio, Princess street, is now on the walls for criticism, and though she has to be out on business connected with the music and art studio, the doors are left open for callers. Wholesome criticism in art is valued, according to enlightenment of the student, the teacher's appreciation rating highest, of course. Occasionally more particularly with those from rural districts, pupils are apt to get "stuck" just a very little stuck on the point their own hands have put on the canvas, but as many have happened in the case of the chairs and floors in the home where their primary practice began. Criticism, though adverse, helps out of the ruts in which self predominates conspicuously. The studio does not profess merely to teach students to paint a picture. The aim is higher, and the range wider. Eyes of pupils must open wide enough to stare a glance at the "Landscapes," the "Rosa Bonhears," the "Blissians," and the "Austrians." At the commencement of a course the pupil is plainly given to understand that all work accomplished, suitably framed, must remain on the studio walls for five or six weeks before removal, for criticism of capable judges. Judges in art are requested to call and criticize freely.

Could Not Decipher Names.
 A bank money order was received at the Board, of Education room, this morning from the Inspector Bank, St. Catharines. No one in the office at the time could decipher the names of either the manager or the teller, attached to the order. In view of the demand for good writing made by bank managers, this item will prove of some interest.

The Street Watering.
 The extended street watering limits are not yet being covered, as the new carts are not ready. The city engineer expects that they will be completed this week so that the extra watering may be done. There will then be seven carts, a really limited number for the territory to be covered. At present, only the old limits are being watered.
