Alien Labour Law.

St. Thomas has taken a peculiar position with reference to the alien labour law. That city is the home o some of the Pere Marquette railway officials who are covered by the port of Judge Winchester. He recently investigated the complaints that were laid before him. He found, after taking evidence, that thirteen officials who were Canadians, and competent to discharge the duties that were as to them, had been removed and their places filled by Americans. So far as the judge could see there was only one purpose in the changes, namely, to make way for the favor ites who were aliens and could not be employed without a violation of the

ARRANGE A CEREMONY

For Affixing Coat-of-Arms on Sir John's Monument. In Capt. Gaskin's possession is a large coat-of-arms, which was purchased for the monument of the late Sir John A. Macdonald, after it had been erected in the City park. It was got in order to make the statue complete, and the late Principal Grant was one of the prime movers in regard to its purchase. The coatdarms seems to have been almost brotten. It is still stored away at Capt. Gaskin's house, in the box in shich it was shipped. The captain happened to come across it, and spoke of it to a Whig representative. He thought that it would be most fitting if a demonstration was arranged to take place here on Dominion day and have a ceremony at the monument as a portion of the day's proceedings. Such an affair
