TURN ABOUT FAIR PLAY. air Yankee Evens Up Parisian

New York, May 27 .- Turn about is fair play, even in fashions, and after Paris has sent us so many surprises in the way of gowns and hats this season it was quite in order that an American woman should take it upon herself to even up the score, An American novelty that caused a sensation in the Ritz in Paris recently was worn by Mrs. Peter Martin, and consisted of a boa of flowers. As she appeared with it thrown gracefully over her shoulders, the lavender garland reaching almost to the floor, there was hardly a woman present who didn't wonder why she hadn't thought of this idea herself. Not every woman, however, even though she have the in clination, has the face for this adornment, but Mrs. Martin's worst enemies would have to stretch a point to
