FEET MUST BE STILL

DANCER BOUND, FAST BY MANDATE OF COURT.

Girl's Mother, Weary With Six Months of Constant Chaperonage, Gets Judge's Order to End Unremitting Whirl of Gaiety.

Chicago, May 27.—One of those girls who "would rather dance than eat," when, or been plunged into the wave of reform, and her mother will now "get some rest."

The girl is Myrtle Greenbaum, sixteen years old. Judge Mack in juvenile court prescribed for her as follows:

"No dances. No nights out. Obedience to mother."

When this formula was submitted to Myrtle and she agreed to adopt it, Mrs. Greenbaum, wearied with watching her child through six months of excitement, went for joy after sighing with relief. It had been a strenuous half year for the mother, who, being older than the daughter, found no comfort in the gaiety of late hours and dances.

The initial attack of "dancing fever," as Myrtle's malady was referred to in court, came on the young woman six months ago. She has been a ward of the juvenile court for several years, her father having deserted his family nine years ago.

When the girl asked her mother for permission to dance, it was granted. Her dance nights, at first a week apart, grew in number, until scarcely a night passed when she was not dancing.

Mrs. Greenbaum was worried and so sought Mrs. Jane Skinner, the probation officer in charge of her daughter, and told her of the trouble.

"If she wants to go to dances," said Mrs. Skinner, "all means let her go. But go with her and take care of her."

Thus it came about that the mother became the daughter's chaperon, and from the side of the dance halls kept watch over her.

"I thought she'd get tired of it," said Mrs. Greenbaum. "It was dance after dance. I believe she could die a-waiting. Night after night I had to be awake until late hours caring for the girl until I had to give it up. It was killing me. I couldn't stand it."

"Then I allowed Myrtle for a little while to go alone and one night I went with her and I found she had formed a friendship for a violinist in an orchestra."

"They went from the Ideal dance hall to a saloon downstairs. I followed, but did not go into the saloon. I did not approve of saloons, but I watched through a glass-door to see that my daughter was all right."

After that adventure Mrs. Greenbaum consulted Mrs. Skinner, and then Judge Mack was interested in the matter.

"This dancing must stop," declared the judge. "I'm going to give you another chance, Myrtle. But you must stop dancing and mind your mother."

"But I am a good girl," said the young woman.

"I have no doubt of that," was the judge's reply, "and I want you to remain a good girl. There's a danger in those dance halls for you. They are terrible places for young girls, and your mother knows best. Stay at home nights."

THE KIDNEY PILLS

PURGES RHEUMATISM

Escaped an Operation

Doctored 35 Years—Joints Stiff, Feet Always Cold

An Aurora Lady's Good Fortune.

The following letter from an elderly lady of Aurora, Ont., we commend to the careful attention of sufferers from uric acid poisoning caused by weak or disordered kidneys. It will be noticed that a very few doses of Bu-Ju, the Kidney Pills, effected what 15 years of doctoring could not accomplish.

Clafin Chemical Co., Windsor, Ont.:

Gentlemen: I am glad I learned of your Bu-Ju Pills. Have used one box and a sample package of Bu-Ju and am now like a different person toward what I have been. I have doctored for over fifteen years and they told me I had to undergo an operation, but I would not do it. My joints were all stiff and my toes numb, and now they are all right. My feet were always cold, but I am altogether better now, and feel like a new creature. Have recommended them to my granddaughter and the pills are helping her. Am pleased I ever heard of Bu-Ju Pills and write you with pleasure.

FANNY BRILLINGER, Aurora, Ont.

The discomfort of continued cold feet, so prevalent among elderly ladies, will vanish when the system is purified and strengthened. This is what Bu-Ju, the Kidney Pills, was made especially to do. Nothing on the market to-day offered as a kidney remedy approaches this preparation in efficacy, and the above letter is only one of many testimonials to its potent but gentle effects. Every person who has ever tried this remarkable specific strongly recommends it to relatives, neighbors and friends, as Mrs. Brillinger has done, and the result is the same as in the case of her granddaughter. This sovereign remedy for all kidney disorders may be had of druggists generally.

FOR THE FARMER.

News of Interest Down on the Farm.

Some years ago the town of Niagara gave a bonus to a private canning company. That company is now a member of the combine which is refusing to meet the demands of growers for 30c. a bushel for tomatoes. The tomato-growing community about Niagara thereupon organized to build a canning factory of its own, which it was proposed to honor, and the time for the granting of same. The private bills committee holds that under the terms of the municipal act this bonus cannot be given without the consent of the older business industry, and as that cannot be obtained, the sanction of the legislature for the second bonus is refused.

The United States government's weekly crop report, says that in the southern portion of the spring wheat region there is a good condition, but in the Dakotas and Minnesota the growth has been slower, much of the early sown wheat in North Dakota having been frozen. On the North Pacific coast spring wheat by rule, and insects, while confined to the southern part of the belt, are more numerous than a week ago, but the crop as a whole is promising.

The Woodstock Sentinel Review says that in the spring wheat region there is a good prospect of an abundant though late fruit crop in the surrounding district this year. The plum trees are very heavily laden, and the apples and pears promise to be plentiful. In the berries, growers of strawberries expect them to be plentiful and much better than last year.

The time to sow clover seed in average seasons is the first part of April, when the ground is slightly crusty with frost. If soon on a thin coat of snow, one of the last snowfalls of the season, the seed can be seen and a more even spread secured. When snow melts and the frost comes in, the seed breaks up and is blown out of the ground by the wind. In some cases, the seeds will find a lodging place deep enough to secure sprouting, and the first rain will put everything in good condition for sprouting and growing. Seed sown early will come up better than if delayed until the ground becomes set, hard and bare.

On farms where swine is made a specialty, there will be fall pigs that should be now fitted for market. This can be accelerated by having good ventilation and plenty of feed. Pigs of right breed will eat with a good appetite and then quietly lie down. Litter grain feeds should be used first, but during the last month corn meal should be substituted. At the end of eight months they should be fit for the market.

The apple shippers have made formal protest to the railway commission against the refusal of the Grand Trunk to place heaters in cars for the purpose of preventing apples from freezing during shipment in winter. The petition says: "The freezing of apples in transportation during the last two or three winter seasons caused most serious losses to exporters, and in many cases wiped out the profits of the entire season, besides bringing Canadian fruit into bad repute in the British markets."

The United States climate and crop prospects in its issue of the 26th, says: "Fruit growers in Kingston district are jubilant over prospects of a very bountiful harvest. They say there is every indication that apples, pears and plums will be above an average yield. The trees wintered well, the buds not being affected by frost or disease."

One of the oldest residents, Thomas McGlashan, has been permanently cured of muscular rheumatism. Polson's Nervine was the remedy. "I suffered all manner of pain for years," states Mr. McGlashan, "and Nervine was the only thing that did me any good. It went right to the core of the pain and brought lasting relief. I can honestly recommend Nervine for all kinds of rheumatism. Every sufferer from aching joints, swollen limbs, sore shoulders and lame back can be swiftly cured by Nervine. It is quick to act—very thorough—absolutely safe. Extensively used for nearly fifty years; sold in 25c. bottles under guarantee."

OLD TRINITY'S CLOCK

Wouldn't Work With Electricity in the Air.

Special to the Whig. New York, May 27.—Ever since the change in the motive power of the Broadway road from cable to electricity the old clock in the steeple of Trinity church has refused to keep good time, and now it is to give way to a modern timepiece to tell the time in Wall street and lower Broadway. Constant tinkering could not make the old timepiece reliable. It seemed to fall asleep in the roar of the city, and proved as uncertain as the stock quotations. Sometimes it would wake up to work at a furious rate, and this week it died after a feeble effort to toll the bell in the courtyard of the inevitable. The four tons of works have now been removed. They will not be sold as junk, but will be preserved by the Trinity corporations as relics of other days. In the place of the old clock a new one of brass, steel, zinc, and lead is to be installed. Its makers guarantee that it will tick regularly for 200 years. The old clock, made in England, started time-keeping in 1826.

SUN AND SNOW

Sometimes Help the Hair to Go.

In any changeable climate the hair is apt to become brittle and to break off stubby here and there. This makes a hair-dressing almost a necessity, especially to ladies. In using a hair-dressing why not get the best, one that combines with it the efficiency in killing the dandruff germ, the germ that eats the hair off at the roots, causing what is called falling hair and in time baldness. Newbro's "Herpicide" is that kind of a hair dressing. You have no idea how delightful your scalp will feel, and how stylish your hair will appear, after an application of two of Herpicide. It is certainly a wonderful innovation as a scalp antiseptic and hair-dressing. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to the Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. G. W. Mahood, special agent.

ROMANCE OF A WILL

After Years Search Found in Old Monastery.

London, May 27.—One of the strangest stories of a will ever told in a court was narrated in Dublin before Justice Kenny.

Mrs. Margaret Brown died at Fernoy in 1902, and a man named Thomas O'Keefe, described as her cousin, took possession of her house and announced the discovery of a will. This will was found to have been forged, and O'Keefe was sentenced to penal servitude. In February, 1904, relatives in America came on the scene, and an inquiry into the next of kin was ordered.

Then an extraordinary event took place, says the Irish Independent. The monks of Mount Mellary, who had not heard of any of the proceedings, believing that Margaret Brown was still alive, sent word to a Mr. Manix, whose son was a priest in the order, that she had left a bag in the monastery in the year 1901. Mr. Manix then informed the abbot about for the first time that Mrs. Margaret Brown had died more than two years before, whereupon the abbot sent down the bag to the office of Mr. Rice, who had charge of her affairs.

The bag was opened in Mr. Rice's office, and was found to contain a post-office savings bank book for £32 10s. deposit receipts for £200, and a will by which she left everything she had to the monks of the monastery.

Counsel for the monks stated that they would not take the money, and that the next-of-kin were quite satisfied. Thereupon the will was admitted to probate.
