Crisis Not Over. The Frick committee, which investigated the affairs of the Equitable Assurance company on behalf of the dir too well. When its report was presented last week a candid criticism was expected. But there was more that that. The committee, like the skilled physician who finds disease in a malignant form and presumes to remove it, made a sharp attack on the man agement of the Equitable and de manded its reform, true and circulated among the directrefused. tors, but when the meeting adjourned spite of these precautionary measures, however, it has leaked out that the management was severely condemned. It was held that the officers were lax or loose in methods, that they were extravagant, that they had unduly increased their salaries, that there was waste in every branch and department, that the president, the first and second vice-presidents should resign, and that with the selection of officers there should be a complete reand according to the New York Herald, some men glared at each other, and others, in the heat of debate, shook their clinched hands menacingly, Then they adjourned until Friday, when the Frick report was rejected. it had left its impressions Though Mr. Frick left the board disgust, and the officers screened themselves for the time being behind their friends, there began a new epoch in the life of the society. A chairman be selected-with powers exceeding those of the president-and a new exe utive committee, and they will begin the reforms which the scandals and quarrels of the Alexander-Hyde party ave shown the need of. The crisis is not over yet. It will only have passed when there is a complete sweeping away of all old offenders when the trusts which have fattenupon the Equitable's patronage have been cast off when the moneys of the company have been withdrawn from every scheme of a speculative character, and the policy-holders and they only, get the benefit of all the rnings of the prisoners.

Noisy Talk Of Office. A discordant vote was heard in the All kinds of Fruits. Choice Candy from commons on the question of appointments. A conservative member, in the innocence of his heart, complained that there was some discrimination with regard to the employment of men on a certain public work. The finance minister acknowledged that when a conservative and liberal applied for employment. they were equally qualified, he

Dr. Barr was afraid that the finance minister was laying down a dangerous doctrine, "to the victors belong the speils." He was reminded of what Mr. Whitney has been doing in Ontario. Dr. Barr assured

Hundreds of electors did not get their learned that a lad named George vator at the Bath hotel, in a success ful effort to prevent a little girl from entering the moving elevator had had his head crushed between the of the lift and the top of the frame. The body had been buried, with hundreds of others, in the public trench at Cote-des Neiges cemetery. After satisfactory representations had been made, Justice Davidson gave a permit to have it exhumed and taken to France to be reburied. There still, however, was the great task of finding the right coffin, as coffins in the public trench bear no inscription. The undertaker said he could identify the coffin, and the brother said he could identify the remains by the gold-filling in the teeth. After a search of a whole night and part of a day the grave diggers having removed 278 coffins, came upon the right one, both means of identification being taken as conclusive evidence of its correctness. CHURCH NOT DOING WELL

Disciples of Christ Regret State The Bowmanville, Ont., June 5,-At' the convention of the Disciples of Christ Pastor W. C. McDougall, of the College of the Disciples, St. Thomas, in speaking of the condition of the Disciple churches in this province, said that thirty per cent. of the Ontario congregations are without pastoral care or supervision by the provincial board; that fifteen per cent. more are without spiritual life; that thirty eight per cent. are favorable to the short pastorate and are active for time after the new man arrives, and correspondingly inactive too soon af terwards. Only twelve per cent. are churches; eighty-eight per cent. are below what they should be spiritually, one-third safe, and the other twothirds illustrating the weakness our methods.
