"Opiter per Ortem Dico."

Difficulty Drawn Out.

There is a great deal of interest in the Gaynor-Green case which has been before the Quebec courts for a very long time. The offence for which the men have been arrested, several times, and held, as summarized in the decision of the extradition commissioner, Judge Lafontaine, of Montreal, was as follows: "That on July 6th, 1897, the accused fraudulently received from Capt. Carter the sum of $575,974, knowing that the sale had been stolen by him and that the offence of receiving stolen property is punishable under the laws of both countries and is by treaty section 3 an extradition crime."

The men have been tolerably well schooled in the law during their residence in Canada. Theirs has been a lively and varied experience. It has included an alleged "kidnapping" in addition to other decisions. It has called for legal light and legal complications at the cities of Quebec and Montreal. Of late the issue has been the trial of the case in order to determine the quality and pertinence of the charge, and to this end evidence has been submitted in great abundance. Some of the witnesses have been summoned from the American side, and from the scene of the original trouble.

It has been a battle of the giants so far as contending counsel were concerned. The men had the best talent they could command, and the U. S. government had in its employ the pick of the Canadian bar. After a long period, during which there was a gradual narrowing of the privileges enjoyed by free men, and a very perceptible entanglement of the prisoners in the meshes of the law, the point has been reached where the offence is alleged to be an extraditable one, and a pause of fifteen days ensues. What may happen then can only be surmised.

If public opinion could be sampled—if the men who have been reading about the case could vote upon it—there would be a sudden termination of all uncertainty respecting it. Canada believed in a prompt surrender of all offenders and a prompt punishment of them when conviction has been secured. The delay in this case has not impressed people with the majesty of the law and the efficacy of its application.

The Machine in Chicago.

The Chicago municipal scheme of street railways, operated by public officials, is already looking hopeless. At any expense Glasgow was invited to send out a man who would give Chicago the benefit of his experience, who would help Judge Dunne in reaching the object of his ambition. The man commissioned for the work is Mr. Dalrymple. He has been some weeks in the windy city, and has about concluded that there are insuperable difficulties in the way.

In the old land, according to the reports of correspondents, politics are only in evidence, seriously, during the holding of national elections. Outside of these occasions, which are not as frequent as in America, men are influenced by the desire to do what is for the public interest. The party is not predominant nor persistent. In Chicago he finds that is the great and ever-ruling issue. Every elector has his opinion. It is cultivated in caucus. It is the first and only consideration. Mr. Dalrymple is, therefore, handicapped. He does not know anything about the divisions of the people politically. He does not know what they are free to do. He has been making suggestions, and finding that they are not acted upon. Why? Because they are not politically expedient.

It may, as a consequence, be a long time before Chicago has the street railway lines under municipal management. First, it has to acquire the franchises upon acceptable terms. There is a doubt about them. They do not seem to be purchasable. Some of them may be appropriated at a valuation. Politics will play a large part in the arbitration proceedings. New lines may be projected, at a large expense. Political effects will settle that question. When cars are running as a municipal convenience—if the present complications permit of progress thus far—there will be managers and their employees to select. Politics will be very much in evidence again. The political machine in a live American city is a great institution. In Chicago it has been a positive curse, and in so far as it is the concern of public men there is nothing but trouble.

Editorial Notes.

Toronto's water tunnel will cost $200,000 or $300 per lineal foot. This is $100,000 less than the city engineer estimated. Mr. Haney is the contractor.

Mr. Maclean has at last been compelled, for appearance sake, to say a word in London on behalf of the opposition candidate. Is he the King Billy we are hearing about?

Whitney is silent in these times. Haultain comes all the way from the territories to discuss school issues in Ontario, and the premier of this province is missing. What is he afraid of?

The Hamilton conference refused to endorse the license administration of the Whitney government. Why? The premier's promise has not been redeemed. The license boards are not free from political influences.

Dr. Sproule is doing harm in London. He charged, in a speech, that forty-two per cent. of the criminals of the country were Catholics. He has set out to properly insult the people of a certain faith, and he appears to be succeeding.

Mayor Weaver, of Philadelphia, says that public utilities can only be run successfully when politics have been eliminated from the management. It is an old truth, emphasized by one whose experience enables him to talk with greater effect.

The Toronto World stands aghast at the idea of the premier naming the one whom Lewis subsequently elected to the commons without dissent. In Sir Wilfrid Laurier the only leader that has avoided the turmoil and expense of elections in this way?

The clergymen who favour the autonomy bill—or who see nothing to kick about in the western schools—are censured. But the clergymen who are opposed to the western schools are lauded by the conservative press. They are regarded as very superior persons. Rough on intellect, isn't it?

Nan Patterson, thrice tried for murder, without conviction, through the failure of the juries to agree, has contracted to pose (not play, for she cannot do that), for $2,000 a week. The people, however, have refused to see her. They will not glory in her shame.

SPIRIT OF THE PRESS.

Time Of His Life.

It being the first time a king of Spain has ever landed in England, King Alfonso is due to have "the time of his life" on his visit to Great Britain.

Slow Progress.

Premier Haultain says the struggle over the school clauses in the autonomy bill will not be confined to the Territories. It has scarcely reached them yet.

A Great Front.

As the venturing has been officially reported sunk, it certainly is a colossal piece of nerve for her skipper to calmly steer her into Manila harbor as if he thought she was still afloat.

A Friend Of Labor.

Mr. Gray, the bosom friend of labor (at election time), and of King Edward at all times, has asked neither labor nor King Edward to come to London to speak for him. He asks instead Mr. Corporal Lawyer Bennett, of Calgary, who befriended labor in the North-West legislature by voting against the request of Lethbridge and Camrose coal miners for the eight hour day.

MAGISTRATE'S LEVEE:

Cases Heard By His Worship This Morning.

Two cases came up for hearing before the police magistrate this morning. Alexander Bent, a man of unimpaired appearance, was arrested yesterday afternoon by Constable Graham at the upper Grand Trunk station, where he was creating a disturbance. To the magistrate this morning he stated that he was a watchman on board the dynamite-laden steamer Dorothy, which is undergoing repairs. This fact might better have been kept in the background by the prisoner, if possible, as his worship, without hesitation, affixed a fine of $3 and costs of one month in jail, in the records opposite Alexander's name, remarking at the same time that if the prisoner were a sample of the Dorothy's crew, the sooner the city was rid of the steamer the better it would be for all concerned.

The captain of the steamer later paid the fine, releasing his watchful watchman.

A young man, living on Main street, was charged by a resident of that section with vagrancy. The complainant stated that the defendant had, on numerous occasions, slept in a barn on her premises. The defendant informed the magistrate that such was really the case. He admitted that his former record was none too good but stated that he had recently joined the Hornerites and was trying to do better. The religious meetings were often late in getting out and on such occasions rather than disturb the other people in his boarding house, he had slept in the barn in question. The magistrate decided to accept the young man's promises of reform and give him another chance.

Cleric's Comments

OF THE General Assembly

"Colleges And Home Missions."

Such were the topics under review yesterday. A quiet but logical and logical colleges have added another year to their history. They are a lively string, from Halifax to Winnipeg. The Hon. John Charlton would combine them into a trio, making an eastern, middle, and western division. But who is able to bring Knox, Queen's and Montreal into one? A few men have squared the circle to their own satisfaction, but a flaw here and there made the labor ill. So is this problem simple to a few, but impossible to the many.

Yesterday the lines of separation were proven to be too important to obliterate. The proposals of Quebec, and especially of that great city of Montreal, need the college more than any other thing. Queen's has her students like the prairie its wheat. Men may talk of this and that, but when the "staid" habits of the "Queen's" type is, but no one needs to look for the zeal and purpose of her graduates. The same is true of Knox, Toronto over many other colleges of power. A "type" has inevitably developed in that centre, too. Thus the whole five are destined to belong to the fixed institutions of this now ambitious young dominion.

A "common" Presbyterian college for Ontario is the ideal of the majority of men, as a "common" school of a nation. But those in authority must deal with conditions. We see the benefit of provincial action when in this assembly, men from all quarters meet on the open space of a free platform. We do not like even to think of the separations of half a century ago, when happily taken place, but the multiplicity of colleges is one of the fruits of that division, which is not altogether wise to eat. Wise ones, however, find here a blessing in disguise. Culture to be living, like nature, has variety in its very charm. And thus it seems best not to lay the hard material hand upon such a thing as life.

But medals and travelling scholarships and degrees are going to depreciate in value like other commodities, which drop the market. The "rare" view from Knox or Queen's should be some fashion have to meet the "dux" man from other colleges. His scholarship has been approved in a united church. There should be a standard, too, from age to age, a kind of "specific gravity" in intellectual weight. This is not after a fashion, but know men who came second or third, who would play the "dux" of a later year.

Yesterday the happiest relations were shown to exist among all the colleges. It is not easy to fill a vacant professorship any more than a portfolio. And there is always some one who will speak of a vacancy in good Mr. Morrison of Montreal, a college "premier" for Montreal, and the Hon. Mortimer Clark is of Knox, Toronto. They cannot please everybody for they rule in "an evil world." But they have loved and sacrificed for their colleges, and the same has done for provinces and the Dominion.

In this assembly these chairmen of their respective boards have announced their policy. In Montreal it is "make the best use of the money for the cause of missions. The church that obeys the command to "Go into all the world and preach," lives, the church that disobeys dies. In many a parish, where there is no missionary work, the rectors feel the effects in the deadness of his parishioners. Zeal must be backed by knowledge. See herself reads the Letter Leaflet from cover to cover.

After an address by Miss Willgress, the sum of $25 was voted here, she gave over to the fund for the year will being built by Rev. Mr. Marsh, Hay River.

Miss MacKintosh led the conference on Dorcas work in her own clear and comprehensive way, giving advice as to contents of bales, and packing of the same, and urging branches to devote their energies chiefly to making outfits for the children in the Indian schools. Several branches have undertaken the work. Mrs. Roberts, Adolphustown; Mrs. Dargavel, Selkirk; both good workers, spoke of the work.

Mrs. Dargavel spoke of the need for outfitting parishes to be visited by missionaries and members of the board. Many branches are languishing on behalf of a great sympathy and encouragement from headquarters.

A Bible reading was given by Canon Jarvis at the noon hour.

Immediately after the opening of the afternoon session the Bishop of Ontario cordially interrupted the proceedings, and then entered upon a glowing eulogy of the work done by Mrs. Buxton Smith, in her most difficult office as diocesan president meeting expressions of deep regret he had heard throughout the diocese, when her contemplated resignation had become known. He also spoke of the pressure he as bishop, and his wife, as honorary president of the W. A. had brought to bear upon her to persuade her to continue in office. He then handed her $50 in gold, the life membership fee for the general board, and Mrs. Mills pinned on the gold bar, which was given her by Miss Orford.

Mrs. Mills then read by her, and Mrs. Lewis, was read by her, and Mrs. Woodcock, Brockville; Mrs. Reeve, Kempenfelt; Miss Macdonald, St. Thomas, Belleville, and Miss Evans, Trenton, gave their experience with junior work.

Mrs. Buxton Smith invited the delegates to Kingston for the annual of 1906, and Canon Jarvis after expressing his pleasure at having the meeting in Napanee, and with the designation of next year's thackroffering, closed the meeting with the benediction.

The officers and delegates were entertained by the Napanee auxiliary, at a very pleasant garden party at Mrs. Herrington's, and in the evening Canon and Mrs. Jarvis gave a reception at the rectory.

BUILT UP HER HEALTH

SPEEDY CURE OF MISS ECOLLSON

She is Made Well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and Writes Gratefully to Mrs. Pinkham.

Zula Ecollson

afflicted in the same way may be benefited as she was. She writes: Dear Mrs. Pinkham—

"I heartily recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as a uterine tonic and regulator. I suffered for four years with displacement of the uterus and no one but those who have experienced this dreadful ailment can form any idea of the physical and mental suffering these months endured. Your Yodigee Compound cured me. Within three months I was fully restored to health and strength and my periods are regular and painless. What a period of regularity and health when so long ago I was in such a state of weakness. Many doctors fail to help you. You need a better than any doctor or medicine I ever had."

Other medicine has such a record of cures of female troubles as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound with painful or irregular menstruation, backache, bloating (or flatulence), leucorrhoea, falling, inflammation or ulceration of the uterus, ovarian troubles, faintness, if severe nervous prostration of the bliges, should take immediate action to ward off the serious consequences, and be restored to perfect health and strength by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. Her experience is very great, and she gives the best of it to all who stand in need of wise counsel. Address, Lynn, Mass.

UPSET THE RIG.

Nearly a Serious Accident Averted at Verona.

Verona, June 9.—Miles and Lorenz Goodberry are going to Cobourg next week to work on the new Tourist Hotel. Mrs. Frank Simmons has returned from a pleasant visit at Catarqui and Kingston. Miss Annan Watson, after a short vacation with her mother at Riverside cottage, last week. John Warner brought in a beef recently which dressed upwards of 600 pounds. Harvey J. Snider, is having a new wall put in his house. E. Talbot has gone to New Ontario to temporarily reside. Mrs. John Watson, is able to be around again after nearly five months' illness. James McKeever is digging the cellar for a new house. Little Hazel Asselstine was returned from Kingston. Miss Phoebe Curl has gone out to Maberly. The Methodist church choir has been reorganized. The Misses Rutenberg of Montreal, are to be guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Warkley during the next three weeks. John Keats has moved his barn to the opposite side of his lot, a decided improvement.

Rev. Mr. Ferguson excels in the potato line, having tubers over a foot long. Robert Hamilton, a farmer living near here was leaving town, Saturday night, halting at Snider's flour store, the horses, a young spirited team, took fright, supposed at a wagon load of hogs, wheeled about, upsetting the wagon in which was seated his daughter, who was thrown out under the rig. After making a couple of revolutions in the road, the horses colliding with E. M. York's verandah, tearing it completely down and continuing down the road, the horses near the Temperance House. Not much damage was done to rig or occupants. Tra Bawler, Sr., has finished rafting logs for W. H. Reynolds, Silas Knowlton formerly of the R. & P. railway here, but now of Ganouque, writes that business in the factory town is booming, and that he has no intention of returning to Verona. A. E. Holland, baker, has purchased a thoroughbred Danish dog, W. D. Perry and A. Wells, have a good prospect for a large yield of onions.

APPEARING OLD Acts as a Bar to Profitable Employment.
