

REASON No 40 WHY YOU SHOULD USE Red Rose Tea

Because it is full weight.
You get a full pound of tea inside the package. The lead wrapping is not included in the weight.

It is weighed by automatic electric machines—machines that never make mistakes (clerks sometimes do), and the tea is poured into the packages after being weighed.

Put a pound package of Red Rose Tea on a scale and it will weigh 19 to 20 ounces, according to the thickness of the lead wrapper; or the tea, poured out, will weigh 16 ounces.

Everything about Red Rose Tea is always full measure—weight, quality, purity, and cleanliness—and your satisfaction will be full and complete when you use it.

Appetite Was Poor.

Dizzezy Most of The Time.
Could Not Sleep at Night.

Many people are unaware of having anything wrong with their heart or nerves till some little excitement or overwork makes them feel faint and dizzy, or perhaps simply going up or down stairs causes dizziness and specks to float before the eyes. People troubled in this way should heed the warning, and not fail to take treatment before something more serious occurs.

For all heart and nerve troubles there is nothing so equal

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills.

We do not claim that they will cure chronic heart disease, but we do claim that they will strengthen the weak heart, and build up the shaky nerve system.

Here is what Mrs. Sidney Hoffman, Hillside, Ont., says:—

"I was troubled greatly with my heart, and was so very nervous that the least little thing startled me.

"My appetite was very poor; I could not sleep at night, and was dizzy most of the time. I took three boxes of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and I am very pleased to say that they did me a wonderful lot of good."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50 cents per box, or 3 for $1.25. All druggists, or mailed direct.

THE DESIGNS

Which Russia Has On British India.

THE RUSSIAN BEAR

HAS NEVER LOST HOPE OF INVADING TERRITORY.

But Britain is Ready Now as She Has Been in the Past—Government in Sympathy With Kitchener's Plans.

London, June 13.—India is ready for any emergency that may arise on her northwest frontier.

The prime minister's recent speech in the commons has given great satisfaction in that country, where it is regarded as showing that Mr. Balfour and the imperial government are in entire sympathy with Lord Kitchener's plans for safeguarding India from attack.

A despatch from Calcutta says: "The prime minister's speech has made a deep impression in military and official circles here and at Simla."

It has been especially welcomed by the Indian foreign department officials, among whom there are no delusions as to Russia's object in continually creeping nearer and nearer to the Afghan border.

Mr. Balfour's speech has enormously strengthened the hands of Lord Kitchener.

After so emphatic a declaration neither Sir Edmund Elles nor any other official can stand in the way of the full realization of Lord Kitchener's plans.

The Ruskoye Slovo of recent date remarks: "After the war Russian diplomacy will not display such indifference with regard to Afghanistan as in the past."

In this typical extract from the rigidly censored press we have the keynote of the whole situation on the northwest frontier of India, writes an old Anglo-Indian official who has been over almost every foot of the country.

No one who has studied Russian ways can imagine for a moment that Russia will remain quiescent under the blows which have demonstrated the failure of Russian arms in the far east. She must regain her lost prestige at any cost, or cease to exist.

To avert disintegration Russia will be compelled to strike another blow, and along the whole of her enormous frontier there is but one spot where this blow can be struck.

Russia has a great genius which has produced during the last three-quarters of a century his organized, nursed, elaborated his plan for the conquest of India.

During the past generation—for Russia has hitherto been able to afford to advance slowly—one plan or another has been gradually pushed forward, military posts have been established, railroads have been planned and laid out, and extended, roads have been built, and though details may have varied, the objective has always remained constant.

The latest issue of the "Times of India" received by the current mail states in definite and emphatic terms that Russia has at the present moment 200,000 troops under arms in Central Asia, and a sufficient force within striking distance of Herat to take that city within a week.

Every one of her centres, from Samarkand to Osh, and from the Pamirs. Her outposts confront those of the Amers on the upper waters of the Oxus, and she is steadily accumulating supplies.

The trains that come across the steppes from Orenburg to Tashkend and the line of railway recently completed bring soldiers, none of whom are "green" back. This railway has brought Russia weeks nearer the Indian frontier.

Several military roads are being constructed from various points to the Afghan border, and it is now possible to drive comfortably in a carriage along a magnificent road from Osh, over the Alai plateau, and the Trans-Altai mountains, very nearly to Port Murghabi on the Pamirs. And this is only one of several such roads which follow the old caravan routes.

To the Indian foreign department of officials it is thoroughly well known that, despite the heavy work entailed upon Russia by the conquest of Manchuria, nothing has been allowed to interfere with her preparations along the Afghan frontier.

Since her intrigues with Tibet were rendered abortive by the success of the Yenchuan expedition, these Russian preparations have been pushed forward with constantly increasing energy.

From the Caspian to Merv every detail for an advance has been worked out. Kuchik has been converted, since the completion of the Merv branch railway, from a barren village into an important military and engineering post, with huge granaries and stores, well-fitted workshops and lines of barracks.

From Merv to Tashkend military communications have been established new railway posts have been created throughout Bokhara, and along the whole line, from Turkestan on the east to the Persian border on the west, there has been a gradual, unobtrusive concentration of forces.

To all but the wilfully blind these preparations can have but one meaning. If Afghanistan first, and ultimately India were not the objective, why should Russia keep this vast army in South Turkestan? Why extend her railways through regions which are practically barren till the fertile fields of Afghanistan are reached?

Russia has no interest of power in this region; no agriculture, no commerce—none, this is, to demand a military backing of such great force.

It is true that, so far as is known, Russia is not at this moment prepared to advance.

SPORT REVIEW

Notes On Baseball, Lacrosse And Other Sports.

Umpire Conway will probably be retained from the eastern league.

Sylvester, the new third baseman, made a home run on his first hit in New York. It is rumored he is willing to give $10,000 for Pitcher Mullin, of Detroit.

Pitcher McLane, of the Fordham College team, is due to report to Newark this week.

President Kreiner, of the Montreal club, denies that he has any intention of letting Manager Bannon out.

Infelder Sylvester has returned to Niagara University, but will rejoin the Baltimore team on June 15th.

The Ottawa University football team will be coached by the Canadian Henley in August by the famous Jimmy Rice, of Boston.

The Montreal club has released Hammond, the central-league pitcher, and signed Northern League New York short-stop named Hoffman.

Latimer and O'Hagan, of the Newark team, not only fight with the umpires on the field, but scrap with one another off the field.

In a recent game, Chic Cargio, in the New York State league, out of six times to bat, was credited with a home run and five triples.

Pop Dillard, let out by Newark, reported to Montreal, but as he has no league to play in, Manager Bannon has let him go to Providence.

Ames and Taylor are the only National league pitchers who have not lost a game. Ames has won nine games and Taylor six. Both are giants.

The Toronto's have played five ball the last few games, winning four of the six contests, and with an even break this week will come home in a good position.

In a four mile match race at Celtic Park, New York, John J. Joyce, of the Irish-American Athletic club, defeated Thomas Hynes, the champion cross-country runner of Ireland.

Outfielder Swander, of Newark, and pitcher Murray, of Toronto, were team mates on the Rochester team, which won the championship of the New England league several years ago.

Manager Clymer, of the Columbus team, well known in the Eastern league, is an umpire the other day at Louisville, and was fined in the police court and suspended by the league president.

President Seitz, of the Toronto club, returned from Newark yesterday. He says that the team has been playing good ball of late, and that Manager Harley is not worrying. A suit will probably be entered against Applegate for non-payment of contract.

Buffalo has now lost nine straight games.

Hugh McLean, of Chelsea, won a twenty-mile motor-paced race and the title of champion of the world at the Revere, Mass., cycle track Saturday, defeating Bobby Walthour, of Atlanta, Ga., in twenty-eight minutes thirty seconds. At his death mile Walden's motor cyclist, and the Southern rider unpaired until a spare machine picked him up, then eleven laps behind.

Champion Tom Jenkins, the heavyweight wrestler, stacked up against Fred. Beel, of Wisconsin, a 165-pounder, in a private bout for $1,000 a side in New York on Friday night and nearly met defeat. The contest was a grueling one, and Beel won the first fall in two hours and a half, and Jenkins the next two in 1:30 and 26 minutes respectively. Beel was backed by Harvey Parker, the lightweight wrestler.

Bill Dahlen, the big shortstop of the New York team, appeared on the diamond at Exposition Park, Pittsburgh, on Saturday afternoon with his right optic decorated in slobber black.

The Giants use carriages to go to and from the grounds, and the driver, when they win they go via the principal thoroughfares, and when they lose they take the alleys. They used the latter route Friday and were handed a few ripe vegetables, one of which connected with Dahlen's eye.

The loss by Toronto, of Pitcher Applegate, who jumped to Williamsport, Pa., his home, was caused by several things. He has been dissatisfied all spring because of a reduction in salary which might have been increased but wasn't when the limit was done away with two weeks ago. Last week he asked for two weeks' holidays and was refused, whereas he jumped. He offered to return after he had seen his mistake but was informed that he had been fined $200 and Toronto lost its best pitcher.

Chinese Palmistry.

The Chinese who pursue the art and mystery of palmistry do not confine their investigations to the palm only; they examine carefully the lines on the back of the hand, the making of "chessomaney" a better term than palmistry. Nor do they omit the nails, each variety of which has its own significance. Tapering nails mean brains; hard and thick nails mean old age; coarse and stumpy nails mean dullness of wit; broken and sloughing nails mean disease and ill-health; yellow nails mean high rank to come; dark, thin nails mean obscurity; bright greenish nails mean loyalty and goodness of heart; fresh white nails mean love of ease; nails like sheet copper mean pomp and glory; nails of a half moon shape mean health and happiness; nails like copper mean skill in arts and crafts; nails like the end of a plank mean staunch integrity; nails with sharp pointed tips mean cleverness and refinement, and nails which are rough, like stone, mean profound stupidity.

The Chinese, again, who are nothing if not thorough, pursue every investigation of this kind with German minuteness to its logical conclusion; consequently when they have exhausted palmistry they proceed to "soilistry," and extract indications from the lines on the feet.

A PITIABLE STORY

RUSSIAN OFFICERS IGNORED OF PLANS.

Gunners Were Untrained—Ships Were Badly Manoeuvred, the Ammunition Ran Out, and Confusion Reigned.

Vladivostok, June 13.—A series of interviews which the correspondent of the Associated Press has had with naval officers who survived the battle of the Sea of Japan has developed a most sensational story of the causes of the Russian disaster first of all and the complete demoralization which followed the sinking of the flagship Kniaz Suvarov and the wounding of Admiral Rojestvensky.

It is estimated that not a single officer of the fleet knew the commander-in-chief's plans. The admirals in command of divisions knew no more than the sub-lieutenants and had to rely on the signals of the flagship.

Admiral Nogi, on whose command, developed had seen Rojestvensky only once after the juncture of their squadrons and then only for fifteen minutes.

All the stories of extensive target practice in Manchu sea were false. During the entire voyage there was practically no training in gunnery worthy of the name, and the big gun practice was confined to three shots per vessel.

Ugly stories are told of the happenings at Madagascar.

Some of the crews certainly were untrained in gunnery, and exhausted by the eight months' voyage under trying moral and physical conditions.

The crews of the Russian ships were no match for the veteran Japanese, whose marksmanship was wonderful. They concentrated their fire on one ship until she was placed out of action and then on another, thus successfully sinking the Oshaya, Alexander III and Kniaz Suvarov.

Some ships developed deplorable structural defects. The Oshaya sank without having a single blow below the water line. The vessel below the water-tight compartments, which were changed several times during the voyage did not stand the strain they had been calculated to stand and burst forward, and the vessel over until she "turned turtle."

Lack of homogeneity among the ships made it impossible to manoeuvre in harmony. The Vladimir Monomakh, Admiral Gromov and Admiral Senyavin had her bell on the same account, becoming easy victims.

Finally the ammunition was exhausted after the first day's fight.

Even the very morning of the battle while the buzzing of the wireless instruments on the Russian ships showed that the Japanese scouts were communicating his dispositions to Admiral Togo, Admiral Rojestvensky continued his senseless manoeuvring until the Japanese actually appeared before the Russians were caught in an impossible formation and were attacked on three fronts.

Rojestvensky's position was cramped and his forces were badly placed and caused confusion while the Japanese were raining projectiles even from machine guns on the Russian ships. The latter were huddled together blanketing each other's fire. Only the leaders of the columns could bring their guns to bear and even those the untrained gunners fired wildly.

To render matters worse the mires and fog which were so common in the paths of the Russian divisions added to the confusion. The Borodino, Admiral Nakhimov and Navarin fell victims to these obstructions.

It is a bit startling narrative that Russia and the world should know. The sailors and officers were not altogether to blame. There were many heroes among the Russians. Capt. Bekh of the Oshaya committed suicide on her bridge as the ship sank rather than save himself. There were thousands of other heroes, whose names the world will never know.

SEARCHING FOR MILLIONS.

Fights Her Case Against Bank of England.

London, June 14.—A lady who is searching for a fortune of $6,500,000 has applied to the lord chief justice for an order that the governor of the Bank of England should allow her to inspect certain lists of stock transferred by the bank to the National Debt commissioners, to whose account stock is transferred when no dividends have been claimed for ten years.

The lady, Miss Sarah Eliza Collis, of Barwell, Suffolk, said that in 1790 $6,500,000 worth of stock was bought and invested in the names of John Grainger, John Collis, Edward Collis, Sr., and Edward Collis, Jr., for the benefit of the late named, Miss Collis' father, who was then aged two.

A further sum was invested between 1790 and 1810 for the benefit of the same person, but no particulars of it could be ascertained. All the persons referred to had died, and Miss Collis, as the sole surviving child of the last survivor, claimed the money.

The bank authorities had refused to allow the list to be inspected, but it had been ascertained that in 1820 the dividends were discontinued, and the names appeared in the list published then. Miss Collis and her mother before her held it as an article of faith that the money belonged to them.

The lord chief justice said that the court did not want to prevent a rule being issued, but the allegations were of the vaguest character, and if counsel took a rule on the present materials it would be at his peril.

"I know of great many people who go about the world imagining they have untold millions," added the lord chief justice. "I cannot think this matter would have been allowed to rest for fifty or sixty years without anything being done. Take your rule, but you need not be. Take your rule, but you need not be. Take your rule, but you need not be."

Three Swallows.

Sir John Power and Son's "Three Swallows" Irish Whiskey, famous for over a century. Of highest standard of purity. Distillers to His Majesty the King.

A mountain is stationary, and yet lots of us have a mountain pass.

To get More Strength from Your Food.

LOTS of People are starving with a full stomach.

You know, it's not how much we eat but how much we Digest that makes us Strong, or Brains, or Successful.

When the Bowels are filled with undigested food we may be a great deal worse off than if we were half starved for want of Food.

Because, food that stays too long in the Bowels decays there, just as if it stayed too long in the open air.

And, you know that a poisonous Gas rises from Decayed food, even in the open air.

That Gas would start a pestilence in a whole neighborhood if the Health Authorities did not compel removal of its Cause.

Well, when Food decays in the Bowels, through delayed and overdue action, what happens?

This is what happens: The millions of little Suction Pumps that line the Bowels and Intestines then draw Poison from the decayed Food, instead of the Nourishment they were intended to draw.

This Poison gets into the blood and, in time, spreads all over the body, unless the Cause of Constipation is promptly removed.

That Cause of Constipation is Weak, or Lazy, Bowel Muscles.

You know, there are about thirty feet of Intestines—Bowels—in every human body.

These Intestines are lined with a muscular tissue that tightens when Food touches it.

This tightening, after Food-irritation, is what drives Food on, through its thirty-foot journey, to Digestion, Nutrition, and Elimination.

When these Bowel-Muscles grow flabby, weak, or lazy from want of Exercise, the Food does not tighten them enough to act.

That's Constipation! Castor Oil, or "Physic," will help to slide out one load of trouble, but they can't help the Cause.

In fact, they weaken the Bowel-Muscles more than ever by slackening them, and by doing work for them which they should do for themselves.

When your Arm-Muscles grow flabby they need exercise, to strengthen them—not a sling to support them.

When your Bowel-Muscles grow flabby they need Exercise to strengthen them—not "Physic" to pamper them.

There's only one kind of Artificial Exercise for the Bowel-Muscles. Its name is "CASCARETS," and its price is Ten Cents a box.

Cascarets act like Exercise on the Muscles of the Bowels, and make them stronger every time they force these Muscles to act naturally.

The stronger these Muscles propel the food, the stronger does the friction of the food act on the flow of Digestive Juices.

The more of these Juices that act on Food, the more Nourishment does that Food turn into, and the richer nourishment do the little Suction Pumps of the Intestines draw out of it.

This richer nourishment, in turn, gives back more strength to the Bowel-Muscles, so that they need a smaller dose of Cascarets from time to time than the doses preceding it.

This reduction of dose continues till the worst case of Constipation is comfortably, naturally, and nutritiously cured.

But, one big dose won't take the place of ten small doses of Cascarets.

Because, it stimulates only one Cascarat at a time to stimulate all the Bowel-Muscles enough, without purging, discomfort or loss of nutrition.

Six Cascarets, at a time, would act like the Whirlwind Cathartic you are used to, but six would do less good than one Cascarat at a time.

Because, Six would drive the food through so fast you would get little nutrition from it, and would waste Digestive Juices needed for the next four meals.

If you want a "purgative" with all the "gripes," burnings, inside irritation, weak feeling, and stomach upset, of common Cathartics, don't use enough Cascarets at a dose to produce that.

But, if you want the same natural action that a six-mile walk in the country would give you, (without the weariness) take one Cascarat at a time, with intervals between, till you reach the exact condition you desire.

Then, carry the little ten cent "Vest Pocket" box constantly with you, and take a Cascarat whenever you suspect you need it.

One Cascarat at a time will promptly cleanse a foul Breath, or Coated Tongue, thus proving clearly its ready, steady, sure, but mild and effective action.

A coming Headache can be ward off, in short order, by a single Cascarat, and the cause removed.

Heartburn, Gas-belching, Acid-risings in the throat, and Colicky feeling are sure signs of Bowel trouble from food retention, and should be dealt with promptly.

One Cascarat will stop the coming trouble, move on the Bowel lead, and free the Digestive Juices, if that one Cascarat is taken from the Vest Pocket box as soon as the first signs are noticed.

Don't fail to carry the Vest Pocket Cascarat Box with you constantly. Form the habit!

Because, you know you won't walk to a Drug Store, nor back to your room, every time your Bowels ought to have a Cascarat.

Therefore, "Wear" them with you, like your watch, or your lead-pencil, and note the splendid effect on your Health and Spirits.

All Druggists sell them—over ten million boxes a year, for six years past.

You can try Cascarets FREE before you buy. Write for Free Sample and booklet, "The Curse of Constipation," best ever printed on the subject. Address Sterling Remedy Company, 374 St. Paul Street, Montreal.
