The Doctor Said So,

Burdock Blood Bitters

Saved Her Life.

Read what Mrs. Wm. Castillon, Newport, Quebec, has to say about Burdock Blood Bitters:—"Last December I fell very sick after confinement. I was not able to walk for three months, and was given up to die by the doctor. My husband read of the many wonderful cures made by Burdock Blood Bitters, so procured me two bottles. After using it for about ten days, I was able to get around, and could mind my baby without help from anyone, and am now well, and able to do my own work. I told a lady friend of mine who was troubled in the same way, and she used it with equal success. I cannot too highly recommend your medicine, for I know just how good it is, and hope and wish that anyone suffering as I did will give it a trial."

A Shortage Of Guards.

The defence of the convicts who made an attempt to escape from the penitentiary and were recaptured is not specially fearful. The allegation of one, that he and his fellow prisoners were not treated humanely, can be accepted with great reserve. Few men who find themselves in prison, by compulsion, and subject to its discipline, have much regard for its rules and regulations. The fewer still who invite correction by black-hole treatment have less occasion to laud and magnify their experiences.

There was something specially significant, however, in the charge of counsel, that there was a temptation to escape from the prison because of the shortage of guards. This is a serious matter, and as it was ventilated by one who is friendly with the federal government it cannot be said that his remarks were prejudicial. The subject has been referred to before and in connection with other events. It is presumed to have had the consideration of the inspectors, but without result. Now is the penitentiary inadequately manned? If so why?

A prison is not a place where the life of the individual is to be destroyed by too much restraint. Archibald, the rescue officer, formerly of the Salvation Army and at present a special officer of the government, contends that men are only imprisoned because it is necessary that they think seriously of their misconduct, that they have the opportunity to reform, and that they get their liberty when they give evidence of a change of heart. The hundreds who are confined in the penitentiary must get the benefit of service in the open air, and they must have it under the supervision of guards sufficient in number and efficient in quality. The assumption that this is not the case publicly expressed, cannot be allowed to pass by the government. Enquiry will be forced by parliament if it cannot be had otherwise.

Appeal Turned Down.

There has been much comment upon the "sad case" which was reported to the General Assembly of the Presbyterian church during the last week. It was an appeal from Mrs. Susan Campbell, of Folly Village, Nova Scotia, to the church "for redress and assistance."

In 1904 her husband, Capt. Campbell, died, possessed of $30,000. Two-thirds of the estate was left to two nephews, $10,000 was left to the Presbyterian church and $3,000 to other religious institutions. He gave his wife an option of choosing between $3,000 cash, with a home at Folly Village, or $250 annually, with said home, but left her practically nothing besides. She decided to take the $250 annually. She alleged, that during the latter fifteen years of her wedded life her husband developed a most miserable nature. She has an only son in Denmark, suffering from tuberculosis, who needs her presence and aid, and that she has no relatives who can assist her.

It was up to the assembly to do something, and one reads of its action with surprise. A commissioner sympathized with the widow, but declared that duty compelled him to stand by the will of Capt. Campbell. Granted, he said, that the wife had not been fairly dealt with, would the result be different were the man called from the grave and consulted about it? Another speaker, also impressed and deeply touched with the recital of Mrs. Campbell's story, saw the difficulty of departing from the terms of the will. It might affect the intentions of others who had in mind bequests to the church. A motion, practically rejecting the appeal of Mrs. Campbell, was eventually carried.

The average person must see in this preceding a condition that does not exemplify the wisdom and discretion of the church. It is not obliged to carry out the proposal of an eccentric man, though it be financially benefited by the same. With circumstances to affect two individuals, one as impartial and as just as the church is supposed to be, the advice would favour a readjustment of the case and so that the distressed widow would receive the relief she deserves. The chances are that in her own way, by thrift and economy and service, she contributed to the accumulations which her husband so inconspicuously apportioned, and she had first claim upon his bounty, before nephews or church or charitable institutions.

Such being the fact, the church could have granted her aid she desired, and in doing this it would not have operated against the future beneficence of its members. On the contrary it is possible that the seeming weakness of its position, its indifference to the widow's distress, will do it an injury and check some people in Spirit of the Press.

Yes They Do.

The London Free Press speaks of the Barrett-Laurie government. And they expect serious and decent people to fight with them on these lines!

Perhaps They Did.

When the Anglican members of the federal government went to church on Sunday and prayed "for a happy issue out of all our afflictions," they must have thought of London and North Oxford.

Change Of Places.

Kuropatkin's arrangements for the final settlement of the war have been disregarded. He had planned to have the treaty signed in Tokio, but the business may be closed up in his successor's camp.

His Qualifications.

The Rev. Robert Laird, who has been chosen to collect $250,000 for Queen's, is described as "a man of the strong physique necessary to its accomplishment." Those who contemplate resistance had better learn jiu-jitsu.

The Great Deficit.

Sir William Mulock's refusal to make rural mail delivery a feature of the Canadian postal system is justified by the results of that system in the United States. It has caused a deficit of $15,000,000 in the United States post-office department for the last year.

HAY CROP PROMISING.

Abundant Yield of Clover Predicted Throughout Province.

Meadow lands throughout the province bid fair to yield enormous crops of hay this season. From all points come glowing reports regarding the condition of the meadows. More especially this is the case with the clover lands. So rank is the condition of the clover that it is said to militate against the crop of timothy. The past winter was singularly favorable to the young clover plants, the percentage of loss from winter killing being reduced to a minimum, and the result is seen in the uniform appearance of the fields.

A BONNET SHOP.

A Society Leader Goes Into Trade.

Countess Fabbricotti.

London, June 16.—Countess Fabbricotti the latest London society leader to go into "trade." The countess has just opened a bonnet shop on South Moulton street. The shop is a stone's throw away from the spot where Lady Rachel Byng and the Countess of Warwick have their shops. The latter have retired from business. The latter has retired from business. The latter has retired from business.

READY-TO-USE PAINT.

Its Merits and Value Are Well Set Forth.

Prepared or ready-to-use paint has become the generally used paint of today. Its status in this locality is well proved by its wide use in the last few years. "Its success," said a prominent paint dealer yesterday, "is due mainly to two causes: First, to the difficulties and disadvantages in buying paint materials and mixing them by hand; and second, to the raising of the standard of prepared paints by most manufacturers."

"The old crude hand-mixing of paint," he continued, "was bound to be displaced by the modern scientific processes. The man buying the raw materials is not in position to test the various ingredients to make sure he is securing the best quality. Then the materials cannot possibly be combined in so accurate proportions as the colors made so uniform and true when the quantities used are largely guessed at and then mixed with a stick. It is hand work against machinery; guessing compared with scientific exactness." Regarding the "out-back" job, this spring, he replied, "Never better. We shall see more painting this spring than in any previous year."

INCREASE THE INDEMNITY.

Length of Session Gives Rise to a Round Robin.

Ottawa, June 15.—There is a movement on foot to increase the sessional indemnity by $1,000 on account of the length of the session. A round robin is circulating among the members and is being largely signed. "It is understood, also, that a suggestion will be made that parliament should provide a salary for the leader of the opposition, a matter that has been widely discussed and received with almost unanimous approval on both sides of the house."

More Peculiar Customs.

A return in the inquiry instituted by the charity commissioners into the benefactions of London, discloses curious items. In accordance with an ancient bequest, twelve penny loaves are distributed weekly in the Church of St. Alban's after morning service. In the parish of St. Andrew twelve poor people receive a twopenny loaf and twopenny in money on the first Sunday of every month. Thirty-six fourpenny loaves and as many sixpence are distributed amongst thirty-six poor persons of the parish of St. Ann, Blackfriars, on Good Friday. At St. Andrew-by-the-Wardrobe, six three-penny loaves are given away every Sunday, one each to two old men and four widows. All the poor attending the sermon at the parish church of All Hallows on Good Friday receive a shilling apiece. The residue of the charity of a certain John Norton is still applied to "the providing of cakes and fourpence to each of the warden of a city parish, on condition that they apply five shillings yearly, either to make an entertainment amongst such persons of the parish at variance with each other in the week preceding Easter, to induce such persons to better neighborhood, and to begot brotherly love amongst them; or if none should be found in said parish, then to make an entertainment with the said five shillings at the tavern amongst the honest parishioners of the said parish on the day of our Lord's supper, commonly called Maundy Thursday, that they pray the more fervently for the souls of the said persons."

WOMEN'S NEGLECT

SUFFERING THE SURE PENALTY

Health Thus Lost is Restored by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

How many women do you know who are perfectly well and strong? We hear every day the same story over and over again. "I do not feel well; I am so tired all the time!"

More than likely you speak the same words yourself, and no doubt you feel tired to some derangement of the female organs which manifests itself in depression or any anything, backache, bearing-down pains, flatulency, nervousness, sleeplessness, leucorrhoea. These symptoms are but warnings that there is danger ahead, and unless you obtain a life of suffering or a serious operation is the inevitable result.

The never-failing remedy for all these symptoms is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It is the only medicine that cures, writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham: "For several years I have suffered with a female weakness which proved a serious one on my vitality, sapping my strength and causing severe headaches, bearing-down pains and a general worn-out feeling, until I had no desire to live. I tried many medicines, but did not get permanent relief until I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. In two months I was much better and stronger, and in four months I was well; no more disagreeable discharges, the Vegetable Compound, and I consider it without equal for the ill of women."

If you are ill, don't hesitate to get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once, and write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for special advice—it is free and always helpful.

MUST GET FAIR PLAY

Of Alleged Abuses by Immigration Officials.

Washington, June 15.—President Roosevelt is manifesting deep interest in the statements made to him by a delegation of members of the American Asiatic Association concerning the difficulties which hitherto have been experienced by Chinese merchants, students, travelers and literary men in gaining admission to this country.

The complaints of the Chinese government of the alleged humiliation to which members of these classes often are subjected upon their arrival in the United States, together with the threats of the commercial guilds of China to retaliate by boycotting American-made goods, have aroused the business men of this country to protest against what they have regarded as unnecessary discrimination in the enforcement of the exclusion law, to the end that the relations of this government with China may continue to be cordial.

Venerable Edifice.

Bruton church, Williamsburg, Va., which has been longer in continual use than any other Episcopal church building in America, is about to be restored. The parish was founded in 1224. The present building, designed by Governor Spotswood of Virginia, was begun about 1702 and finished in 1715; in 1840 the interior was transformed. The governor's canopy pediment, the corner pulpit and flagstone pavement were removed, the chancel was transferred from east to west and a partition wall built across the middle of the church, almost effacing its original appearance. To restore its former interior and to repair the foundation and the ancient tower, which is cracked, will cost at least $20,000.
