AIR BUBBLE KILLS GIRL.

Syringe of Anti-New York, June 23 .- Yetta Green, old, died fifteen minutes eiving an injection of diph theria antitoxin, administered by a health inspector. According to her father the child was perfectly well when antitoxin was given her. Dr. Darlington, health commissioner, admits that antitoxin caused the girl's death, but offers no explanaion except that an air bubble might have been in the syringe. It is the tory of the board of health. The issioner refuses to make public the name of the inspector, but says he was called to the Forsythe street house to attend a baby who had diphtheria and gave her older sister an injection as a preventive. "It is a sad and inexplicable case, said Dr. Walter Bensel, head of the department of medical inspection." An air bubble in the syringe would kill in a few seconds. Impure antitoxin would not cause death for several hours. The child lived fifteen minutes. We are entirely at sea as to an explanation.
