FROZEN DAINTIES

Warm weather intensifies the craving for frozen things, and the Ice Cream freezer becomes the hard-worked friend of the family.

This year we have the Peerless Iceland

From 1 pint to 20 quarts. One motion and only takes three minutes to freeze.

Warm weather is thirsty weather, and suggests ice cold drinks, and if you are an expert mixer who will use a Lemon Squeezer, an Ice Pick, and probably a Cork Screw, and the best can only be had at

What Kind of Underwear Do You Like Best?

Tastes differ even in the class of Underwear a man wears. Some men like Balbriggan; it's thin, cool and comfortable. Others must have wool, "Natural Wool," next to the skin, both in summer and winter. While to others there is nothing to equal the coolness of Aertex Cellular Mesh, and others like the elasticity of Ellis Spring Needle Underwear.

Men's French Balbriggan Underwear, satin facings, pearl buttons, $4 to $4.50.

Men's Fine Natural Wool Underwear, summer weight, pearl buttons, overlaid seam, best make and finish, $4 to $4.50, weights, 75c, $1.

Men's Aertex Cellular Mesh Underwear, soft and comfortable and economy, easily washed and unshrinkable, $1.25, $1.50, $1.75. Ask for Booklet, The Ellis Spring Needle Ribbed Underwear, unshrinkable and especially elastic, $4 to $4.50. Separate garments, 75c. Combination Suits, $1.50.

Was Heard With Pleasure.

The Salvation Army barracks, yesterday evening, was the scene of a large public gathering occasioned by the visit to the local branch of Mrs. Patton, who some years ago as Capt. Hughes, was the second officer to have command of the local division. The band was in attendance and Mrs. Patton spoke of her conversion and past experiences as well as giving some reminiscences of army life during her charge at Kingston. The visitor also sang during the evening.

Local Moving Pictures.

CHARLES J. BONAPARTE, OF MARYLAND. Who succeeds Paul Morton as secretary of the navy.

MAKING GOOD CHEESE.

First Essential is in Care of Cows and Milk.

Much of the dirt which may be seen on the cheese-cloth strainer and which dissolves and passes through—dandruff hairs, specks of dried manure, bacteria and the like that get into milk—falls in from above during the process of milking, writes a Vermont farmer in American Culture.

Now, straining of the milk through cheese-cloth, only removes a part. The situation can be bettered to a marked degree, keeping quality of milk enhanced and the like. Those who take the milk will make good butter be increased by attention to a few details that are neither costly in time or effort, nor difficult to install. Wipe udder and abdomen with a damp cloth immediately before milking.

Provide milkers with clean clothes. Fill seams of dairy utensils with solder and use some form of the sanitary or dirt excluding milking pail. There are several forms of the latter. One is a pail covered with a "four" funnel covered with wire gauze, into which fits a loose ring whereby may be fastened in a few layers of cheese-cloth. Another is a closed pail with a wire mesh and absorbent cotton. And still another is a pail with a shoulder and lid otherwise open. According as this is held the amount of dirt entering the pail may be cut down from sixty to ninety per cent.

If now, after the organisms have been excluded, their growth and multiplication are checked by low temperatures, one may feel fairly certain that the milk will have a lease of life almost as great as that of a ton of coal during a cold wave.

An Indian Custom.

The Cree and Nascopie Indians of Ungava and Hudson's Bay have a peculiar custom in regard to their dead. As soon as the soul has passed away, the relations beg from the Hudson's Bay company an empty box, the size being to account. Frequently an infant of a few hours old is laid to rest in a box five feet by four feet. The nearest relative will dress the body, if a man, in all his outdoor garments, and place him in the box, lay beside him his loaded gun, powder horn, tobacco, fint stone, snow shoes, and axe. The cover is then laid on but not nailed down. The relatives will generally ask the Great Spirit to pardon the sins of the departed one. It falls to the lot of the women of the family to carry the coffin, generally placing some stones upon the lid, leave the dead to rest. Ten days later some of the mourners will return and remove the guns and other valuable articles, believing that the departed has then no further use for them. They then bury the body of the dead would never reach the Happy Hunting Ground without their snow shoes, gun and pipe. The women are provided for in the same manner.

WANT TO BE SOLD.

St. Thomas, D.W.I., June 22.—Reports are current here that Denmark is about to sell these islands to the United States for $7,000,000, and that the next Congress will probably authorize the purchase. The people of the islands are anxious for the deal. The islands cost Denmark $70,000 per year more than is realized from them, and under Danish rule, commerce is a bad way.

Home From Texas.

Colebrook, June 21.—Edward Eckhardt, wife and family, Texas, are expected here this week. Their arrival here will be a little later than expected owing to a stop-off in Toronto to visit friends. Mr. Eckhardt is in very poor health. Miss P. Ward and Miss George Warman have returned from a short visit in Centreville. The Misses Walker are now occupying the residence of E. D. Shaugran, having lately vacated the house owned by Mr. Eckhardt. The Nathan Wartelsky has returned from Montreal after a somewhat lengthy visit there. Miss Edna Conolly, Napanee, is visiting Miss Helen Wartman for a few days. Mrs. Norman Boyce and Mrs. Gray are visiting friends in Annapolis. Miss Gertrude Jackson has left to spend the summer at Alexandria Bay. John Cowdy and family attended the Sharpe-Bell wedding at Morven last week. A new furnace is being put in the Methodist church here and repairs have been commenced on the belfry. Gideon Peters, who has been a long sufferer from cancer of the throat, passed to his eternal rest this evening. His funeral will take place in the Methodist church here Saturday afternoon.

Millions Of Love Letters.

Miss Agnes Weston, who has frequently been spoken of as the "Mother of the Love Letters," so another has her interest been in those engaged in the senior service, has in contemplation to visit Japan, for the purpose of establishing friendly relations there. Miss Weston's "love letters" from sailors average over 744,000 per month.

TO TEST THE LAW

A NEW LAW MAY BE HELPFUL NOW.

Fish Companies in the West Are Having Warm Time Over the Employment of Men—Case Now in Federal Courts.

Detroit, Mich., June 23.—The loans and trust law, just signed by Governor Warner, will be quickly tested by the Booth Fish company, of Chicago, known as the "Fish Trust," which has practical control of the business all over Michigan and Canada. Booth & Co. made contracts with various men in Michigan not to engage in the fish business for ten years. One was with a Detroit man who signed with the Wolverine Fish company, a rival of the Booths. The Booths got out an injunction restraining the man from working for the Wolverine. The latter claimed the Booth contract was in contravention of the Michigan trust law. The Michigan supreme court upheld this view, the United States court of appeals knocked out the decision. With the new state law to back them the Wolverines will now move in the federal courts to dissolve the injunction, depriving them of the services of Detroiters.
