Concerning The Street Railway. Kingston, July 3 .- (To the Editor) : It would be well for some chronic kickers and fault-finders to get it into their heads, that the city council is not dealing with the old street railway company. The Folgers controlled the workings of that deceased pany, and now are wholly out. It is an entirely new element the city is now dealing with. "Justicia" asks pounded is to be compared with it for about the railway profits for 1903-04 which were reported to the government as amounting to about $7,000. The figures are correct, but that was for only one year. Take the profits with it for all the purposes of the for the past eight years, and, all told, toilet, bath, and nursery. Thus it they amounted to somewhere, about they amounted to somewhere about 89,000, If "Justicia" had read the statement made by Mr. Nickle from the city hall platform in March, he would not now be raising such a dead question. The old company is no more and it is folly to resurrect the things they did or talk about what they owe the city. What has now to be done is to get the road in operation, and the people who are trying to do that will have to expend much money .- CITI-

Whereupon, Dr. Hunt stated, without any conscious impulse of his own, he traced the word "fakir" on the patient's chest, just as though he were drawing a picture with a planchette board. He was astonished and horrified when he saw what he had done, but he made no report of the circumstances to the hospital authorities.
