LANDED HIS FISH

Sturgeon Weighing 104 Pounds Fought With Captor.

Watertown, N.Y., July 13.-The most exciting fish story, that is well authenticated, heard so far this season, comes from Massena, where Orville A. Babcock, a famous fisherman of that section, had a battle royal the other load on. So fair a load that he lost night with a monster sturgeon. A few his balance at the Grand Trunk nights ago Orville, who was passing freight sheds wharf, where he chanced near the racks of one of the Massena to be wandering. Possibly he does not waters near the racks, Orville took a realize the narrow shave he had. Howrope and, after a half hour's trial, ever, he knew enough to grasp the sturgeon's tail tire the fish out, and finally, when it lay quiet against the racks, he got down, rested one knee on the girt of the gate-house wall, and, with his shoulder against the racks, reached down into the water to pull the sturgeon out. After hauling the fish well up out of the water, he found that he was unable to secure a hold lower down on the slimy monster, on account of having to cling to the girt with one hand. He got a firm grip with his teeth on the tail of the fish but the denizen of the deep gave a flop and tore loose, leaving a junk of tail between Orville's jaws. After an other twenty minutes' wrestle, the noose was slipped over the head of the fish, and Orville hauled him out He tipped the beam at 104 pounds,

A TALK ABOUT JAPAN.

Rev. Egerton Ryerson Thinks Canada Has Splendid Opportunity There.

Rev. Egerton Ryerson, M. A., an Anglican clergyman, who is home on furlough from Japan, where he has been engaged in mission work for several years, was the speaker at the lunchother day. In his opening remarks he of Dozen on Terrorized Ship made special reference to the great success achieved by the Japanese in the present war with Russia. He was very glad to think that the people of Great Britain and her Colonies are showing sympathy with Japan. In this Holm, from Ceiba, Honduras, reports | way, he said, we should not show our self-respect for Japan simply because of her great military achievements, but upon her achievements in peace and her desire to become more acquainted with Great Britain in adopting great

In referring to the products of the country, Mr. Ryerson said that bread is used there a great deal more than ever before. As a result, it has meant a great increase in the amount of the flour imported daily, the great bulk of which comes from the United States. In this respect he thought that Canada was somewhat backward in getting her flour introduced there. But the recent exhibition held in Japan, at which Canada had a splendid display, had done much to increase the popularity of Canadian flour. In speaking of the native costumes of the people there, he said that it is being gradually discarded in some parts of the country, in fact, the business men have adopted our clothes beterday afternoon and although rain rush of modern mercantile life. Someinterfered with the completion of the time ago, an attempt was made in Toprogramme, several splendidly con- kio to adopt the western dress among the women. In many other ways Japan is making great strides. For instance her army is based upon the ter the style of France, and the postal system like than of the United States.

The postal system in Japan, he declared was the finest in the world. The free postal delivery is the chief feature of the system. It is well established in all parts of the country, and the letters in the rural districts are delivered the same day as in the cities. They are for the most part distributed by boys in the towns, who are obliged to keep on a fair trot while delivering the letters,

The railway system is based upon that of England, but to some extent it is better than the English system. In Tokio the railway coaches and electric cars are superior to anything he had ever traveled in. Japan has adopted the ideas of the western civilization generally, and she is gradually changing activity in her methods of thought. The educational system is much like that of the United States, and the schools are equipped with all the latest appliances. The curriculum for the schools reaches a very good standard. In fact, the rising generation will be largely imbued with the ideas of the western civilization. The power of heredity is not so very great after all, and the children who have been brought up in our own ways of living will not be very different from the English race. There are about one thousand newspapers and periodicals in different parts of Japan. The papers are up to date, and as an Mustration the speaker said that an account of the big Toronto fire appeared in the papers in Japan the day after it occurred. Mr. Ryerson also spoke on the Christian civilization of the country, which is doing much to influence the people

Mining Division Established.

By an order-in-council passed recently a new mining division, known as the "Temiskaming Mining Division," has been established. It will contain the territory in which silver and cobalt ores are being mined, and also a large tract to the north. The head office of the division will be at Haileybury, and it will be presided over by G. T. Smith, who has just been appointed inspector, at a salary of $1,400 a year.

The regulations governing mining in the district will be very similar to those in force in the Michipicoten Mining Division. There will be some changes, owing to the subdivision of part of the territory into farming sections, Prespectors will, therefore, have to obtain a license costing $10 before they can commence operations. The territory comprised in the district is bounded on the east by Lake Temiskaming, and the Ontario and Quebec boundary as far as Lake Abitibl. The northern limit runs from Abitibi River to the Nipissing and Al-Great Northern bend of the Montreal River, whence it follows the stream to the southern limit of the Township of Coleman. From this point the southern boundary runs eastward to the boundary of the Lumsden and Booth timber limit, and thence to the third and fourth concessions of the Town-

The Dominion Government has long maintained schools for the children of the forest and taught them the arts of farming and other industries. In the older Provinces of Canada the Indians have grown up with the white men and have increased in population, Race suicide is not threatening them, and they are not a menace to law and the red men and the whites. In the new northwestern Provinces the Indians were not wanted by the original white settlers, but there has been room for both races, and the Indians have increased numerically along with the whites and are everywhere holding their own. The present Indian population is extimated at 108,000 by the Canadian superintendent of Indian Affairs, an increase of 9,000 since 1897 as reported by the Indian Department
