NATURAL REMEDIES.

Some Gifts of Dame Nature.

Strange how often Nature provides an ppropriate remedy for a local or general isease. The inside bark of the willow rees, which grow in damp and rheumatic laces, gives Salacine, the great cure for cute rheumatism. Quinine, which is the ure for Ague, is made from Peruvian ark, which tree thrives in swampy, guish districts. Again, fruit flourishes hot climates where liver, kidney and kin diseases abound—and he who lives a hot climate and abstains from eating uit will die - generally from liver isease. Why? Because fruit acts on the owels and makes them move, acts on the ver and causes more bile to flow-which the natural purgative acts on the idneys and makes them excrete more rine, acts on the skin and increases the ction of the skin in throwing off imputies. Fruit purifies the blood by in easing the action of the bowels, skir id kidneys. One has to eat a lot of uit to get the full benefit. A physician Ottawa has discovered a method of embining the juices of apples, oranges, unes and figs and then forcing an addional atom of bitter from the orange els into the united juices and this akes a stronger fruit material-many nes stronger than ordinary fruit. The uit laxative extract is made into tablets d sold under the name of "Fruit-aes" or "Fruit Liver Tablets." These blets are a natural remedy for Constition, Biliousness, Sick Headache idney, Liver and Skin diseases and blood impurities. 50c. a box, 6 boxes
