VEST-POCKET OBITUARIES.

Journalists Who Can Express a Great Deal.

"A man in Maryland the other day ate fifteen dozen raw oysters for a wager. The silver trimming on his collar cost $12.25."

It is impossible to state the name of the humorist who originated the above manner of describing a fatal occurrence; but it seems to be quite generally followed by American newspaper paragraphers nowadays. It is a delicate way of putting it, and reads much better than when one says: "He died amid the most horrible and excruciating agonies." The whole story is told and the reader's sensibilities are not shocked.

This style of paragraphing affords an opportunity for exercising the ingenuity, variety, freshness, and cheerfulness, not to say vivacious, facetiousness can be mingled with the briefest notices of fatal casualties that otherwise may be neglected by the reader or very briefly glanced at. Here are a few selected examples:

"A young man in Louisville examined a keg of damaged gunpowder with a red-hot poker, to see if it was good. It is believed by his friends that he has gone to Europe, although a man has found some human bones and a piece of shirt-tail about twenty miles from Louisville."

"John Smith, in Nebraska, said he could handle a rattlesnake the same as a snake-charmer. The churlishness of the undertaker in demanding pay in advance delayed the funeral four days."

"Richard Strongarm, better known as the 'champion trunk smasher of Missouri,' found a box last week marked 'dynamite, handle with care.' 'Ha, ha!' said he, 'dynamite' in a scornful voice, as he seized it by the handle, braced one foot against the load, and yanked it on the platform. He never came back."

"A circus rider in Arizona tried to turn the reins of a horseback the other day. The manager sent back to New Orleans for another somewhat 'saucy man.'"

"A man warned his wife in Chicago not to light the fire with kerosene. She did not heed the warning. Her clothes fit his second wife remarkably well."

"A small boy was hanging around a circus in Brooklyn the other day, when he opened a tin of saltpetre marked 'box constrictor.' That small boy doesn't hang around any more circuses."

"In Massachusetts the other day a man thought he could cross the track in advance of a locomotive. The services at the grave were very impressive."

THINGS THEATRICAL.

Notes About Plays, Players and Playhouses.

George E. Stoddard has completed a new musical comedy called "The Moon Maiden."

Marie Doro will be in William Gillette's company next season. She is now playing with William Collier in London.

"The Rollicking Girl," with company of eighty fun-makers has reopened and continue their run at the New York Herald Square theatre.

Any Ricard has been engaged by Harrison Grey Fox for the leading woman's role in Edith Ellis Baker's new comedy, "Mary and John."

Joseph Sheehan will continue with Henry W. Savage's English Grand Opera company, "The Parisians," company.

The title of Maxine Elliott's play has been changed from "My Girl Joe" to "The Girl Who Sings." Miss Elliott is due to return from abroad in a few weeks to begin rehearsals.

Charles Frohman has announced that William Gillette will play in Paris after his London season, and from now on, each summer, will play the French star on the Paris boards.

Augustus Thomas returned from Paris Sunday on the Hamburg American liner Moltke, bringing with him his latest musical comedy, "Fantasia," finished for Lawrence, D'Orey and John Drew.

"Fantasia" is to play at the New York Lyric theatre, instead of going on tour, as the manager has announced. The time booked for "Fantasia" on the road will be filled by De Wolf Hopper in "Elysia."

Estelle Wentworth, who has been studying for the past season with Signor L. Marva, has just completed arrangements with the Shubert Bros. to play the Princess Donna role with De Wolf Hopper in his new piece.

Edith Barrymore will return from Europe the middle of August. She will open the season in September at Omaha and will tour westward in "Sunday," appearing later in "Alice Sit by the Fire" with her brothers, Lionel and Jack.

"The Tenderfoot" will open its season at the Great Northern theatre, Chicago, on Saturday, August 5th. The cast will be headed by Oscar L. Figman and Ruth White, who are quite well known to local theatregoers through their connection with "The Burgomaster."

Lulu Glaser arrived in New York Saturday from Europe. She spent her entire vacation in Paris and said she felt thoroughly rested and eager to begin rehearsing to-day for "Miss Dolly Dollars," the new musical comedy that will be seen for the first time at the New York Knickerbocker on September 4th.

One of the novelties which Lew Dockstader, who appears with his minstrel company at the Waldorf next Saturday matinee, has just introduced, is "The album of minstrelsy." This skit tells the history of minstrelsy from its inception to the present time, introducing the characters, songs and dances which have made this form of entertainment popular.

When You Feel Out of Sorts

Look for the Symptoms of Torpid Liver and Biliousness.

Biliousness is caused by the failure of the liver to filter the bile and other poisonous impurities from the blood. The result is a clogging and poisoning of the whole system. Indigestion, headache, languid, melancholy feelings, irritability of temper, constipation, alternating with looseness of the bowels, pains in the muscles and joints, a pale, sallow complexion are among the symptoms.

Fortunately there is prompt and certain cure for biliousness and torpid liver in Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. They cure by thoroughly cleansing the filtering and excretory systems and awakening the action of the liver to renewed energy and activity.

When you feel out of sorts and notice any of the symptoms of torpid liver and biliousness put Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills to the test, and you will then understand why this great medicine is considered indispensable in the great majority of homes.

TELEPHONE TALKS.

TO TELEPHONE USERS AND THE GENERAL PUBLIC.

THE BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY OF CANADA has been operating for twenty-four years. Its operations were at first confined to the Provinces of Quebec and Ontario, but later it also undertook business in the Northwest.

The amount expended by the Company during this time in building up its system is $10,558,686.79, over $3.00 per head of the population of the country served.

Considering that large sections of these Provinces are sparsely settled, that there are large areas where the Bell Company does not operate, but which are served by other Companies, the amount invested will compare favorably with any other country.

THE BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY OF CANADA has secured from investors this large sum of money upon the record of its management. While scores of other telephone organizations both in this country and the United States have either failed to pay dividends or gone to the wall, involving the loss of millions of capital, the stock of this Company has always been sold at par or upwards. The Company has survived the keenest competition in important centres,—all of which is a practical endorsement of the Company's management.

Is it not an advantage to telephone users and to the commercial interests of Canada, particularly during this period of national development, that so important a factor as the local and long distance telephone service should be in the hands of a strong company which commands the confidence of capitalists? Confidence and cash go hand in hand in the up-building of a telephone system, and both are an absolute necessity to continuous development. It is certain that the development of the next ten years will exceed that of the past twenty years. It is essential that the confidence of capitalists shall be maintained if the requirements of this growing country are to be met. This cannot be unless returns upon the investment are assured by reasonable rates, careful administration and an energetic and continuous policy.
